T-H Invoked In Dock Strike

POW Riot Halted By Indian Guards

Wealthy Parents Of Kidnaped Boy Watch And Wait

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—Spokesmen for the wealthy parents of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease insisted tonight they still are waiting for a break in the three-day old kidnaping case.

The strange quietness which began yesterday at the big home continued today after a slight flurry of activity last night which gave rise to the possibility the kidnapers might be nearing a ransom move.

Father Ready To Pay

The multi-millionaire father, Robert C. Greenlease, has said he was ready to put up cash needed to bring about his son's release. He has arranged for immediate currency to meet a ransom demand, day or night.

At the Greenlease home today tension appeared to be mounting.

"It can't go on like this forever," a family spokesman said. "Something has got to happen."

Meanwhile, Kansas City police maintained a hands-off attitude except to look into tips cautiously. Police Chief Bernard Brannon reiterated the safe return of the boy was the prime consideration.

Physician Attends Parents

Both Greenlease, 71, and his wife, in her mid-40s, were attended by a physician. Friends reported the strain was telling on Greenlease who amassed a fortune as an automobile dealer here. But Ledterman said the parents managed to get some sleep last night.

The boy was abducted three days ago from the French Institute of the Notre Dame de Sion School by a red-haired woman who passed herself off to a nun as an aunt of the boy's.

Gun Sales Boom As Slayer Hunted

DALLAS, Oct. 1 (AP)—Dallas husbands bought guns, two started a neighborhood posse and police threw everything they had today into the search for a rapist slayer who killed a young mother last night.

But no clues turned up.

Just a few hours after the fatal attack, an elderly woman was thrown to the ground by a white man who was arrested as he struggled with his victim.

Another young mother was attacked at 10 a.m. today at Rylie, a little town just outside Dallas. She said it was a white man, and she fought him off.

With almost her last breath, Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, gasped last night that a Negro attacked her. She was left dying, her throat slashed, under a creek bridge near Dallas' municipal airport, Love Field. She had been waiting for a bus.

Women have reported seeing a nude Negro prowler in Dallas for weeks. One woman was injured critically in an attack Aug. 31.

Bathyscafe Damaged

ISLAND OF PONZA, Italy, Oct. 1 (AP)—Prof. Auguste Piccard's bathyscafe was reported today to have been damaged in its nearly two-mile deep dive yesterday and probably will not be used again this year.

Anti-Red Prisoner Slain In Reported Breakout Attempt

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Oct. 2 (AP)—Five hundred North Korean anti-Communist prisoners, rioting at the sight of Red Polish and Czech medical inspectors inside their stockades, were quelled by gunfire yesterday in what the Indian guards called a "mass breakout" attempt.

One North Korean was killed and at least five wounded in the first shooting incident since some 23,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners who renounced communism were turned over to neutral custody last month.

Indian Guards Injured

A sixth North Korean was reported wounded later, so seriously he may die.

Some Indian guards were injured by prisoners attacking them with stones, sticks and tent poles, an Indian statement said. It did not give the number.

Before the 60-minute demonstration ended, guards hustled away five medical inspectors including two doctors from Iron Curtain countries. They were escorted to a "safe area away from the compound," an official release said.

The reports of the shooting caused some surprise among diplomats at the United Nations in New York. They had been assured only Monday by India's delegate, V. K. Kirshna Menon, that the Indian guards were unarmed.

Explanation Delayed

The flareup of violence graphically emphasized the latest breakdown in truce machinery calling for "explanations" to prisoners balking at return to their homelands.

Originally set to begin last Saturday, the explanations were postponed until Thursday and then delayed again for an indefinite period. Many prisoners objected to forced attendance at the interviews.

The U. N. Command and the Communists have refused to go ahead with the interviews until each side relocates and builds better "explanation centers" for "persuaders" to talk to the prisoners.

9th Cobra Bagged In Springfield, Mo.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 1 (AP)—Springfield marked up hooded cobra No. 9 today.

The 4 foot 1 inch snake was killed after being cornered by three dogs in the same part of the city where the other eight cobras have been caught in the past two months.

Dan Funghouser, attracted by the barking of the dogs, killed the snake with the help of police.

It was found two blocks from the pet store of Red Mowrer. Mowrer, who does a wholesale business in snakes, has said repeatedly that none of the cobras escaped from his premises.

Reuter's Body Taken To W. Berlin City Hall

BERLIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—The body of Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter was carried through silent streets tonight, by the glow of thousands of torches, from his modest home to the West Berlin City Hall.

The Socialist anti-Communist leader, who died Tuesday night of a heart attack, will lie in state at the City Hall tomorrow.

Reuter's familiar black beret and the red and white flag of the city of Berlin draped his coffin for the torchlight procession.

ATTACK VICTIM—Mrs. H. C. Parker (above), 29, was found fatally wounded in the north section of Dallas, Tex., late Wednesday night. She suffered cuts about the face and body, in addition to a deep slash across the throat. Dallas citizens have been jittery for weeks from almost nightly reports of a prowler who attacks women. Ike's Regime No Labor Champion, Mine Union Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—John L. Lewis' union newspaper said today organized labor might as well realize the only way it will get the Taft-Hartley law changed is to elect a sympathetic Congress in 1954.

"It is just not in the cards for this Republican administration to adopt the role of a champion of organized labor," said an editorial in the United Mine Workers Journal.

It was the first word on the subject from the UMW, headed by Lewis, since the controversy arose between President Eisenhower and former Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin over amending the T-H law.

Ike Denied Durkin Charge

Durkin, an AFL union leader and Democrat, quit the Cabinet three weeks ago charging Eisenhower broke a pledge to recommend that Congress approve 19 amendments to the law. Following up previous White House denials, Eisenhower said yesterday he never broke his word to anyone.

The editorial in Lewis' union newspaper said Eisenhower and Durkin weren't "arguing about anything too important" anyway because the 19 changes were unsatisfactory from labor's viewpoint. The editorial noted that the proposed amendments would have done nothing to wipe out the T-H law's "vicious injunction weapon against labor."

Asserting that regardless of what Eisenhower recommends it is Congress that must adopt any T-H changes, the editorial said:

Ike's Goal "Impossible"

"Labor's program for getting rid of T-H oppression must begin at the voting booths in next year's congressional elections...the administration, it is clear now if it was not before, is not going to recommend anything worthwhile or that which it does not believe it can count on being passed without too much effort....

The Journal said Eisenhower has wanted "some kind of compromise on T-H that would pacify labor but not inflame big business—in our judgment, an impossible goal to achieve under present circumstances."

Dulles Signs Mutual Defense Pact With ROK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, signing a mutual defense treaty with South Korea, said today that the essential requirement for world peace and security "is the maintenance of our strength."

He described the pact, which was made at the insistance of President Syngman Rhee, as another link "in the collective security of the free nations of the Pacific."

Dulles and Korean Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun signed the document which Dulles and Rhee had negotiated in conferences at Seoul in August. It was part of Rhee's price for accepting the truce in Korea.

No-Aggression Pact Interests Ike, Adlai Says

Stevenson Reports To Eisenhower On Recent World Tour

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson reported today that President Eisenhower is "very much interested" in the idea of a non-aggression pact with Russia as a means of relieving tension in Europe.

The 1952 Democratic Presidential candidate had lunch at the White House and said afterward that Eisenhower was giving close study to the possibilities of an east-west non-aggression agreement, along with other methods of abating the cold war.

Adlai Reports On Tour

Stevenson proposed a non-aggression pact in his recent Chicago speech and brought the subject up again when he called on the President to report on the world tour he took earlier this year. Secretary of State Dulles also was present.

"If Russia was unwilling to accept the proposal," Stevenson said, "it would be rather apparent that her peaceful professions aren't as sincere as they might seem."

It would put the Russians on the spot with respect to their intentions, he added. He then went on to say he thought Eisenhower feels somewhat the same way about it.

Attend Stag Luncheon

Stevenson spent half an hour with the President and Dulles, then sat down to a stag luncheon in his honor attended by the President and 16 other high government officials. After eating with "great restraint" what he called a very fine lunch, Stevenson conferred with the President in the latter's office for another 15 minutes.

He said Eisenhower, whom he found "very alert to the problems confronting our country around the world," asked a number of questions regarding individual areas Stevenson visited.

CD Bosses Given Pep Talk By Ike

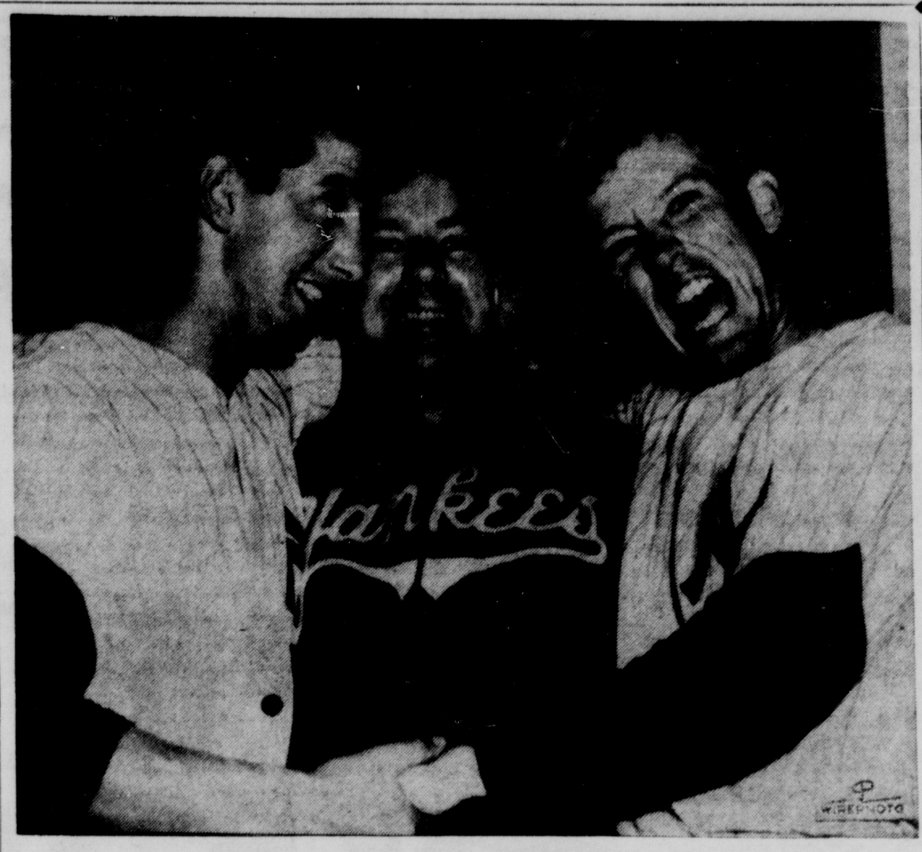
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower told state civil defense directors today not to get discouraged. He said, "it is awfully hard to awaken people to a sense of responsibility without trying to create hysteria."

The directors came to the White House from their annual conference, at which they heard Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. of Philadelphia say it is up to the President to rouse the people out of their apathy toward civil defense.

Clark said it is time to quit playing with tin soldiers and sand forts and get on with a "vital function which may well mean life or death to our Western civilization."

Ford To Address U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 1 (AP)—Henry Ford II will make his first U. N. speech here tomorrow as a U. S. delegate, pledging substantial American aid to the U. N. technical assistance program, a U. S. delegation spokesman said here tonight.



Yanks Whoop It Up After 4-2 Victory

Heroes of yesterday's New York Yankee win over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series whoop it up in the dressing room. Left to right are Billy Martin, whose homer tied the score in the seventh inning; Eddie Lopat, winning pitcher, and Mickey Mantle, who cracked a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give the Yankees their second straight series victory, 4-2. Gen. Nichols Will Succeed Boyer As AEC Manager

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss today announced the resignation of Marion W. Boyer as general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission, effective Nov. 1.

Boyer will be succeeded by Maj. Gen. Kenneth D. Nichols, 45, a longtime expert on atomic weapons and former chief of the armed forces special weapons project.

Boyer, who took the post for a three-year term on Nov. 1, 1950, is returning to private business. He is a vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Strauss praised Boyer, in a statement, for his "distinguished and devoted public service" with the commission and said he had been urged to continue on the job.

Nichols, now on duty in Washington as the Army's chief of development and research, will retire from military service on taking over the AEC post.

Delay May Force New Korea Debate In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 1 (AP)—The U. N. Assembly will be forced to debate the Korean issue again if the Oct. 28 deadline passes without a meeting of the Korean peace conference, several key delegates said today.

They said it would be automatic for the Assembly to discuss Korea in such a case. There is doubt here that the peace parleys will begin Oct. 28. One informed source even suggested it might be next April before all obstacles are removed and the conference starts.

Navy Will Launch A-Sub January 21

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Navy will launch its first atomic submarine next Jan. 21 with Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower as sponsor.

The launching date was disclosed today when Mrs. Eisenhower accepted an invitation to christen the revolutionary new vessel now building at Groton, Conn. t is to be named the Nautilus.

The Nautilus will be the largest submarine ever built by this country as well as the first vessel of any kind to be driven by nuclear power.

Navy expectations are that it will be far faster and have far longer range than any other submarine.

Former Egyptian Premier To Hang

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 1 (AP)—Ex-Premier Ibrahim Abdel Hadi, who rose to power and riches under King Farouk I, was sentenced today to die on the gallows for "high treason and conspiracy with a foreign power against the security of the state."

A special three-man court, set up by President Gen. Mohamed Naguib's revolutionary government in mid-September, pronounced the sentence on the pale, 57-year-old former Saadist party leader after a three-day trial, held partly in secret.

Then, in a two-hour session held wholly in secret, the court condemned Ahmad Mohamed Awad, an Egyptian electrician formerly employed by the British garrison in the Suez Canal zone, to death by hanging on similar charges of treason and conspiracy.

Though the details were not disclosed, high officials declared last month that there was a plot, inspired from abroad, to overthrow the government and restore Farouk to the throne he lost July 26, 1952.

The foreign power has never been publicly identified. Unofficial speculation has centered variously on Britain, Russia and "an eastern Mediterranean country related with NATO." The British Foreign Office said last week Egypt had assured it that Britain was not involved.

India State Set Up On Language Lines

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Indian republic's first state to be carved out on language lines, Telugu-speaking Andhra, came into being today. The Communists backed the drive for its creation.

Prime Minister Nehru, who resisted until Gandhian leader Potto Sriramulu fasted to death for the state cause last December, presided at the inaugural ceremony in Kurnool, the capital, 800 miles south of New Delhi.

In the roll that includes disputed Kashmir, Andhra is India's 28th state. Carved from many-tongued Madras, it lies in a rich rice belt on the west shore of the Bay of Bengal. There are 20,507,801 Telugus within its 67,284 square miles.

President's Tax Statement Draws Blast From ADA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Democratic protests welled up today against any move by the Eisenhower administration to impose a manufacturers tax in its search for new revenue.

The Americans for Democratic Action said President Eisenhower's statement on taxes at his mid-week news conference "further confuses public understanding of the administration's current thinking on tax policy."

Several Democratic senators and congressmen similarly opened fire against a national sales tax at the manufacturers' level, denouncing it as "dangerous" and "most reprehensible."

ADA, which describes itself as an anti-Communist organization dedicated to the principles of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said in a statement:

"Collecting a sales tax at the manufacturer's level and calling it an excise tax would hide the tax from the consumer and require him to pay the tax, plus the middleman's and retailer's profit markup on the amount of the tax.

"A manufacturer's excise tax is not a tax on the manufacturer, but is a tax on the consumer and is paid by the consumer.

"If the administration is to abandon ability to pay as a tax principle, it should show the courage of its convictions and call a sales tax a sales tax.'

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday that—contrary to widespread speculation—the administration has rejected the idea of a retail sales tax.

However, the President declined to rule out the possibility of a sales tax imposed at the factory source of production.

Adlai To Attend Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson arrived here today for a weekend visit and said he will see tomorrow's World Series game.

President Acts As East Coast Ports Tied Up

White House Inquiry Board Is Given Until Monday To Report

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—The great port of New York lay paralyzed today as President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley law against a multi-million dollar East Coast waterfront strike.

At best, however, the strike of 60,000 longshoremen was expected to run into next week—at an estimated cost to the shipping industry of 1½ million dollars a day. Ports were idle from Maine to Virginia.

The White House set up a board of inquiry, giving it until Monday to report back. Then the way would be clear for a strike-ending court injunction.

The rackets-ridden ILA—kicked out of the AFL only last week—launched the strike at midnight Wednesday to back up wage demands on deep water shippers. The union's very future was at stake.

Would Obey Injunction

Its leaders promised to return to work if and when there's an injunction.

"Until that time the strike will continue," said Patrick J. Connolly, ranking ILA official since President Joseph P. Ryan was hospitalized a few days ago with an illness.

Connolly said the Federal Mediation Service called from Washington in the afternoon to sound out the chances of the ILA returning to work at once without waiting for an injunction.

"I told him we would not return to work until an injunction is issued," the strike leader informed newsmen.

It was the first time in his eight months in office that President Eisenhower had made use of the Taft-Hartley law, to ward off a peril to national health and safety. President Truman invoked the law 10 times—once against the ILA in 1948.

Liners Dock By Themselves

By land and by sea, ILA pickets roamed the desolate 350 miles of New York piers, where bustling activity had given way to eerie quiet and sun-splashed loneliness.

Only military ships were being worked.

Tugboat crews were respecting ILA picket lines. As a result, the big luxury liners, Liberte and Constitution, docked by themselves—a tricky maneuver even in perfect autumn weather. Their motor launches helped guide them to their piers.

12 Passengers Survive Air Force C47 Crash

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz., Oct. (AP)—An Air Force C47 crashed and burned one mile southeast of this base today. Nine servicemen and the crew of three were rescued.

Crash crews from the field cut into the fuselage to free the men and put out the fire. The three crewmen were injured, none seriously.

The cause of the crash has not been determined.

Daughter For Esther

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 1 (AP)—Actress Esther Williams, who is Mrs. Ben Gage in private life, today gave birth to a 7 pound 15 ounce baby girl in the Santa Monica hospital. The baby has been named Susan. Mr. and Mrs. Gage also have two sons, aged 3 and 4.

Worker More Apt To Punch Clock Late When Skies Fair

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The duller the weather, the more likely you are to be on time for work, a Pennsylvania State College psychologist reported today.

Conversely, when skies are bright, the average worker is more apt to punch the time clock late, says Dr. Roland E. Mueser.

Reporting on a survey of the punctuality habits of 101 men and 32 women working at a Penn State research lab—a study tied in with weather observations—Dr. Mueser declared in the Journal of Applied Psychology:

"The data studied here covering 8,000 arrival times over a three-month period (late February to mid-May) indicates that as a group, employes arrive at work in a pattern apparently inversely dependent on the brightness of the morning light."

"Such a trend appears equally true for both sexes, with the exception of about 6 per cent, all males, who come to work far ahead of the official starting time.

"Since their arrival time in itself sets these 6 per cent as rather an individualistic group, it is not surprising to find that their reaction to the light intensity is the converse of the rest of the workers.

"In general, these reactions by employes would seem to reflect their attitude about their jobs.

"Thus it is easy to imagine that when it was sunny and beautiful outside, the chore of earning a livelihod was put of. Perhaps a few fathers played a little longer with the children or paused to sniff a crocus on their way to the car.

"On the other hand, on a dark dismal morning, more often than not, the tired secretary and sleepy engineer drank their cofee more quickly and set off to work promptly and without fanfare."

Autos, Buildings Hit

Bullets From Jet Plane's Gun Terrorize Western Pa. Town

FARRELL, Pa., Oct. 1 (AP) — A U. S. Air Force F84 jet plane terrorized this western Pennsylvania town today with an accidental burst from a machine gun that sent bullets crashing into buildings and autos and whining past pedestrians.

Police Chief John J. Stosito said there was considerable property damage but no casualties.

He said the plane was based at the Vienna Air Force Base near Warren, Ohio, and had been on a routine flight.

"Something happened to one of its machine guns," Stosito told a newsman after a conference with Maj. A. F. Martin Jr. of the Vienna base.

An officer at the base said controls for the firing mechanism apparently tripped accidentally.

Residents said the plane passed over the community once then circled a few times.

The 50 caliber slugs struck 12 automobiles, setting two afire, and 29 business places and homes.

D. A. Stoyer, a Transfer, Pa., carpenter working in a store, said a slug ripped through the building within five feet of where he was standing.

"I didn't know what it was," Stoyer said. "I was pretty frightened by it."

Mrs. Joseph Frank was ironing as a bullet tore through the wall of her home and landed at her feet. She collapsed and was placed under a doctor's care.

Twelve persons standing in front of the gate of the Sharon Steel Corp. plant narrowly were missed by slugs that tore into an auto, setting it afire.

The steel company's employment office also was sprayed by bullets that narrowly missed office workers and punctured a filing cabinet.

New Market Bank Officers Accused Of $113,500 Theft

NEW MARKET, Va., Oct. 1 (AP)—Charges of cleaning out a bank vault and fleeing to Canada with $113,500 were filed by the FBI today against two respected New Market bank officers—one a former mayor of the town.

The FBI said one of the men had admitted executing a preconceived plan last Saturday of cleaning out the Citizens' National Bank vault of $35,500 in cash and $79,000 in negotiable instruments.

FBI Special Agent N. R. Johnson identified the bank officials as Theodore Roosevelt Beahm Sr., 56, vice president and cashier, and Don R. Simpson, 55, a director.

Beahm had been with the bank since 1934 and formerly was mayor.

The FBI also placed charges against Simpson's nephew, Charles T. Simpson, 30. The younger Simpson is accused of aiding and abetting the plan. The FBI said he chauffeured the other two to Canada.

Johnson said Beahm flew back Monday from Canada with a story he had been held up, kidnaped at gunpoint and forced to go to Canada. The FBI said, however, that Beahm repudiated the story on further questioning and admitted in a statement that he and Simpson carried out a well-devised plan to "clean out the vault" and leave.

The two Simpsons are being sought in Canada, the FBI said.

Beahm went to the FBI when he returned Monday and said he had been held up at the bank by the elder Simpson and an unknown man and ordered to turn over money, checks and notes, agents said.

He also said that after the unknown man departed, Simpson forced him to go to his home in New Market and later forced him to go to Canada with him and his nephew, the FBI added.

Ike's Goal "Impossible"

"Labor's program for getting rid of T-H oppression must begin at the voting booths in next year's congressional elections...the administration, it is clear now if it was not before, is not going to recommend anything worthwhile or that which it does not believe it can count on being passed without too much effort....

The Journal said Eisenhower has wanted "some kind of compromise on T-H that would pacify labor but not inflame big business—in our judgment, an impossible goal to achieve under present circumstances."

Gen. Nichols Will Succeed Boyer As AEC Manager

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss today announced the resignation of Marion W. Boyer as general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission, effective Nov. 1.

Boyer will be succeeded by Maj. Gen. Kenneth D. Nichols, 45, a longtime expert on atomic weapons and former chief of the armed forces special weapons project.

Boyer, who took the post for a three-year term on Nov. 1, 1950, is returning to private business. He is a vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Strauss praised Boyer, in a statement, for his "distinguished and devoted public service" with the commission and said he had been urged to continue on the job.

Nichols, now on duty in Washington as the Army's chief of development and research, will retire from military service on taking over the AEC post.

Navy Will Launch A-Sub January 21

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Navy will launch its first atomic submarine next Jan. 21 with Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower as sponsor.

The launching date was disclosed today when Mrs. Eisenhower accepted an invitation to christen the revolutionary new vessel now building at Groton, Conn. t is to be named the Nautilus.

The Nautilus will be the largest submarine ever built by this country as well as the first vessel of any kind to be driven by nuclear power.

Navy expectations are that it will be far faster and have far longer range than any other submarine.

President's Tax Statement Draws Blast From ADA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Democratic protests welled up today against any move by the Eisenhower administration to impose a manufacturers tax in its search for new revenue.

The Americans for Democratic Action said President Eisenhower's statement on taxes at his mid-week news conference "further confuses public understanding of the administration's current thinking on tax policy."

Several Democratic senators and congressmen similarly opened fire against a national sales tax at the manufacturers' level, denouncing it as "dangerous" and "most reprehensible."

ADA, which describes itself as an anti-Communist organization dedicated to the principles of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said in a statement:

"Collecting a sales tax at the manufacturer's level and calling it an excise tax would hide the tax from the consumer and require him to pay the tax, plus the middleman's and retailer's profit markup on the amount of the tax.

"A manufacturer's excise tax is not a tax on the manufacturer, but is a tax on the consumer and is paid by the consumer.

"If the administration is to abandon ability to pay as a tax principle, it should show the courage of its convictions and call a sales tax a sales tax.'

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday that—contrary to widespread speculation—the administration has rejected the idea of a retail sales tax.

However, the President declined to rule out the possibility of a sales tax imposed at the factory source of production.

Gun Sales Boom As Slayer Hunted

DALLAS, Oct. 1 (AP)—Dallas husbands bought guns, two started a neighborhood posse and police threw everything they had today into the search for a rapist slayer who killed a young mother last night.

But no clues turned up.

Just a few hours after the fatal attack, an elderly woman was thrown to the ground by a white man who was arrested as he struggled with his victim.

Another young mother was attacked at 10 a.m. today at Rylie, a little town just outside Dallas. She said it was a white man, and she fought him off.

With almost her last breath, Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29, gasped last night that a Negro attacked her. She was left dying, her throat slashed, under a creek bridge near Dallas' municipal airport, Love Field. She had been waiting for a bus.

Women have reported seeing a nude Negro prowler in Dallas for weeks. One woman was injured critically in an attack Aug. 31.

9th Cobra Bagged In Springfield, Mo.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 1 (AP)—Springfield marked up hooded cobra No. 9 today.

The 4 foot 1 inch snake was killed after being cornered by three dogs in the same part of the city where the other eight cobras have been caught in the past two months.

Dan Funghouser, attracted by the barking of the dogs, killed the snake with the help of police.

It was found two blocks from the pet store of Red Mowrer. Mowrer, who does a wholesale business in snakes, has said repeatedly that none of the cobras escaped from his premises.

Reuter's Body Taken To W. Berlin City Hall

BERLIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—The body of Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter was carried through silent streets tonight, by the glow of thousands of torches, from his modest home to the West Berlin City Hall.

The Socialist anti-Communist leader, who died Tuesday night of a heart attack, will lie in state at the City Hall tomorrow.

Dulles Signs Mutual Defense Pact With ROK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, signing a mutual defense treaty with South Korea, said today that the essential requirement for world peace and security "is the maintenance of our strength."

He described the pact, which was made at the insistance of President Syngman Rhee, as another link "in the collective security of the free nations of the Pacific."

Dulles and Korean Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun signed the document which Dulles and Rhee had negotiated in conferences at Seoul in August. It was part of Rhee's price for accepting the truce in Korea.

Delay May Force New Korea Debate In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 1 (AP)—The U. N. Assembly will be forced to debate the Korean issue again if the Oct. 28 deadline passes without a meeting of the Korean peace conference, several key delegates said today.

They said it would be automatic for the Assembly to discuss Korea in such a case. There is doubt here that the peace parleys will begin Oct. 28. One informed source even suggested it might be next April before all obstacles are removed and the conference starts.

Former Egyptian Premier To Hang

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 1 (AP)—Ex-Premier Ibrahim Abdel Hadi, who rose to power and riches under King Farouk I, was sentenced today to die on the gallows for "high treason and conspiracy with a foreign power against the security of the state."

A special three-man court, set up by President Gen. Mohamed Naguib's revolutionary government in mid-September, pronounced the sentence on the pale, 57-year-old former Saadist party leader after a three-day trial, held partly in secret.

Then, in a two-hour session held wholly in secret, the court condemned Ahmad Mohamed Awad, an Egyptian electrician formerly employed by the British garrison in the Suez Canal zone, to death by hanging on similar charges of treason and conspiracy.

Though the details were not disclosed, high officials declared last month that there was a plot, inspired from abroad, to overthrow the government and restore Farouk to the throne he lost July 26, 1952.

The foreign power has never been publicly identified. Unofficial speculation has centered variously on Britain, Russia and "an eastern Mediterranean country related with NATO." The British Foreign Office said last week Egypt had assured it that Britain was not involved.

12 Passengers Survive Air Force C47 Crash

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz., Oct. (AP)—An Air Force C47 crashed and burned one mile southeast of this base today. Nine servicemen and the crew of three were rescued.

Crash crews from the field cut into the fuselage to free the men and put out the fire. The three crewmen were injured, none seriously.

The cause of the crash has not been determined.

Daughter For Esther

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 1 (AP)—Actress Esther Williams, who is Mrs. Ben Gage in private life, today gave birth to a 7 pound 15 ounce baby girl in the Santa Monica hospital. The baby has been named Susan. Mr. and Mrs. Gage also have two sons, aged 3 and 4.

Worker More Apt To Punch Clock Late When Skies Fair

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The duller the weather, the more likely you are to be on time for work, a Pennsylvania State College psychologist reported today.

Conversely, when skies are bright, the average worker is more apt to punch the time clock late, says Dr. Roland E. Mueser.

Reporting on a survey of the punctuality habits of 101 men and 32 women working at a Penn State research lab—a study tied in with weather observations—Dr. Mueser declared in the Journal of Applied Psychology:

"The data studied here covering 8,000 arrival times over a three-month period (late February to mid-May) indicates that as a group, employes arrive at work in a pattern apparently inversely dependent on the brightness of the morning light."

"Such a trend appears equally true for both sexes, with the exception of about 6 per cent, all males, who come to work far ahead of the official starting time.

"Since their arrival time in itself sets these 6 per cent as rather an individualistic group, it is not surprising to find that their reaction to the light intensity is the converse of the rest of the workers.

"In general, these reactions by employes would seem to reflect their attitude about their jobs.

"Thus it is easy to imagine that when it was sunny and beautiful outside, the chore of earning a livelihood was put of. Perhaps a few fathers played a little longer with the children or paused to sniff a crocus on their way to the car.

"On the other hand, on a dark dismal morning, more often than not, the tired secretary and sleepy engineer drank their cofee more quickly and set off to work promptly and without fanfare."

Autos, Buildings Hit

Bullets From Jet Plane's Gun Terrorize Western Pa. Town

FARRELL, Pa., Oct. 1 (AP) — A U. S. Air Force F84 jet plane terrorized this western Pennsylvania town today with an accidental burst from a machine gun that sent bullets crashing into buildings and autos and whining past pedestrians.

Police Chief John J. Stosito said there was considerable property damage but no casualties.

He said the plane was based at the Vienna Air Force Base near Warren, Ohio, and had been on a routine flight.

"Something happened to one of its machine guns," Stosito told a newsman after a conference with Maj. A. F. Martin Jr. of the Vienna base.

An officer at the base said controls for the firing mechanism apparently tripped accidentally.

Residents said the plane passed over the community once then circled a few times.

The 50 caliber slugs struck 12 automobiles, setting two afire, and 29 business places and homes.

D. A. Stoyer, a Transfer, Pa., carpenter working in a store, said a slug ripped through the building within five feet of where he was standing.

"I didn't know what it was," Stoyer said. "I was pretty frightened by it."

Mrs. Joseph Frank was ironing as a bullet tore through the wall of her home and landed at her feet. She collapsed and was placed under a doctor's care.

Twelve persons standing in front of the gate of the Sharon Steel Corp. plant narrowly were missed by slugs that tore into an auto, setting it afire.

The steel company's employment office also was sprayed by bullets that narrowly missed office workers and punctured a filing cabinet.

India State Set Up On Language Lines

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Indian republic's first state to be carved out on language lines, Telugu-speaking Andhra, came into being today. The Communists backed the drive for its creation.

Prime Minister Nehru, who resisted until Gandhian leader Potto Sriramulu fasted to death for the state cause last December, presided at the inaugural ceremony in Kurnool, the capital, 800 miles south of New Delhi.

In the roll that includes disputed Kashmir, Andhra is India's 28th state. Carved from many-tongued Madras, it lies in a rich rice belt on the west shore of the Bay of Bengal. There are 20,507,801 Telugus within its 67,284 square miles.

New Market Bank Officers Accused Of $113,500 Theft

NEW MARKET, Va., Oct. 1 (AP)—Charges of cleaning out a bank vault and fleeing to Canada with $113,500 were filed by the FBI today against two respected New Market bank officers—one a former mayor of the town.

The FBI said one of the men had admitted executing a preconceived plan last Saturday of cleaning out the Citizens' National Bank vault of $35,500 in cash and $79,000 in negotiable instruments.

FBI Special Agent N. R. Johnson identified the bank officials as Theodore Roosevelt Beahm Sr., 56, vice president and cashier, and Don R. Simpson, 55, a director.

Beahm had been with the bank since 1934 and formerly was mayor.

The FBI also placed charges against Simpson's nephew, Charles T. Simpson, 30. The younger Simpson is accused of aiding and abetting the plan. The FBI said he chauffeured the other two to Canada.

Johnson said Beahm flew back Monday from Canada with a story he had been held up, kidnaped at gunpoint and forced to go to Canada. The FBI said, however, that Beahm repudiated the story on further questioning and admitted in a statement that he and Simpson carried out a well-devised plan to "clean out the vault" and leave.

The two Simpsons are being sought in Canada, the FBI said.

Beahm went to the FBI when he returned Monday and said he had been held up at the bank by the elder Simpson and an unknown man and ordered to turn over money, checks and notes, agents said.

He also said that after the unknown man departed, Simpson forced him to go to his home in New Market and later forced him to go to Canada with him and his nephew, the FBI added.

Pella Hints Trieste Settlement Is Italy's Price For Ratification Of European Pact

ROME, Oct. 1 (AP)—Premier Giuseppe Pella indicated today that the Italian Parliament may not be in a position to ratify the proposed six-nation European Defense Community treaty unless the dispute with Yugoslavia over Trieste is "justly settled."

He said in an interview that some sections of the Italian Parliament closely connect the two questions.

Trieste is a region of 315 square miles at the head of the Adriatic that was established as a free territory under Italy's World War II peace treaty. The European Defense Community is a plan to create an army of troops from Italy, France, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg under a joint general staff.

Pella did not say, in so many words, that Italian ratification of the EDC treaty hinges on a prior solution of the Trieste controversy.

His opinion on this was asked in a direct question. He replied:

"Why do you put your question in a pessimistic and negative form? I would prefer to emphasize that ratification of EDC will be infinitely easier if we find a solution to the problem of Trieste."

A parliamentary debate is in progress on foreign policy. The Premier left the debate to discuss some phases of the question in the interview.

"We had our first look at the question of EDC just yesterday," he said. "There are some sections of Parliament that tie it in closely with the question of Trieste. They say that if the one is not solved, nothing can be done about the other.

"Some connect Trieste with our entire foreign policy."

The territory, centered around the strategic port of Trieste, has been an object of dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia ever since World War I. It is now divided into zones under the stewardship of the United States, Britain and Yugoslavia.

Textile Union Urges Minimum Pay Boost

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP) — The CIO Textile Workers Union today renewed its demands for a higher wage for woolen and worsted workers.

The union petitioned the federal department of labor in 1951 for an increase in the present $1.00 an hour minimum. The union said a new figure of $1.20 an hour was set by the late Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin.

Former Secretary Martin P. Durkin set aside this action and new hearings were held last April.

TWU Secretary-Treasurer John Chupka, in a letter to the labor department, said it was "scandalous" that there is as yet no increase in the present minimum wage.

Policemen Must Be Yankee Fans

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (AP)—Martin Vaux, 78, passed out cold while watching the first inning of the World Series on TV yesterday.

Two policemen who took Vaux to a receiving hospital noted in their official report:

"Victim was watching World Series game on television in a drugstore....The Yankees had the bases loaded and Martin was at bat. Erskine came in with a fast ball and Martin drove a line drive into left-center field, scoring Bauer from third, Mantle scored from second and Woodling from first.

"As Martin slid into third on a close play and was safe, the victim, an ardent Yankee fan, fell backward in a faint."

Vaux recovered.

Stevenson Declared Delinquent In Taxes

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 1 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, today joined a long list of neighbors with tax troubles.

Along with several hundred other Lake County property owners, he was declared delinquent by Hugo L. Schneider Jr., county treasurer.

A list issued by Schneider showed Stevenson owed $998.18 in 1952 taxes on his 70-acre estate near Libertyville.

Stevenson and the others will be penalized 1 per cent of the total per month, effective Sept. 1, until the taxes are paid, Schneider said. The property will be sold at auction if they are not taken care of in reasonable time, he added.

AMA Head Hopes For Polio Vaccine In About 15 Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Dr. Edward J. McCormick of Toledo, president of the American Medical Association, said today he believed a vaccine, or something like it, to prevent or cure cancer might be developed in about 15 years—but he said he based this belief to some extent only on "hope."

He also said "I think it won't be too long before a preventive for polio is developed."

With respect to cancer prevention or cure, the physician said his beliefs "are based on a hope and the fact that I know some reputable people who are working on the problem."

He said these researchers, whom he did not name, were trying to produce "some agent to prevent or cure cancer—something of the general nature of a vaccine." But he qualified that statement, too, by saying that no one could say whether they'd be successful.

Dr. McCormick made the statements about cancer when reporters asked him to amplify an assertion he had made earlier to a congressional committee holding hearings on the present status of research on cancer, polio, heart disease and other major ills.

Dr. McCormick told the committee:

"In the next 15 years our entire conception of (treating) cancer may change."

More Copies Of Revised Bible Sold In Its First Year Than Any Book Ever Published

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP) — The latest revision of the world's greatest book has sold more copies in its first year than any book ever published.

This was disclosed when the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. announced that 2½ million copies of the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible have been sold since the first printing Sept. 30, 1952.

As far as can be learned, the book which comes nearest to first year sales of the new Bible is "Gone With the Wind." The late Margaret Mitchell's romance of the South, published in 1936, sold 1,375,000 copies in its first year.

Although many persons insist that sex and violence are topics which create best-sellers, the all-time hard cover best-seller—aside from the Bible—published in this country was Charles Sheldon's "In His Steps," a book with an inspiration religious theme.

In a half-century, "In His Steps" is estimated to have sold at least eight million copies. Ironically, Sheldon, a clergyman, never copyrighted his book and never realized any great financial return from it.

The phenomenal sales of the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible have been accompanied by paeans of praise—and bitter criticism.

Ministers of fundamentalist churches in Rocky Mount, N. C., Akron, Ohio; Shelbyville, Tenn., have burned parts of the new Bible. When an evangelist in Crestview, Fla., threatened to follow suit, the City Council hastily outlawed Bible burning.

In Michigan a state senator tried unsuccessfully to pass a legislative resolution condemning sale of the new version.

The biggest complaint by fundamentalists is that the new version uses the words "young woman" instead of "virgin" in the Isaiah 7:14 prophesy of the birth of the Messiah.

This, say the translators, is because the original Hebrew manuscript uses the word "alma," meaning "young woman," instead of "bethula," meaning "virgin." It does not impair the basis of the virgin birth doctrine, which is borne out in other passages, they say.

A comparison of a few lines from beautiful 42nd Psalm shows the general difference between the two standard versions:

King James: "As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God. My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God . . .

Revised: "As the hart longs for flowing streams, so longs my soul for thee, O God. My soul thirsts for God, for the living God . . ."

There has been much more praise than condemnation of the 15 years of work by 32 scholars authorized by 40 Protestant denominations. Today the revision has been approved by most major church bodies, including many which did not participate in the project.

Hundreds of letters have poured in to the 30-denomination National Council, which holds the copyright on the new version, and to Thomas Nelson & Sons, the publishers. Spokesmen say the vast majority praise the work. The letters are from persons in virtually every walk of life.

A five-year program for greater use and more intelligent understanding of the Bible was launched today by the National Council's Division of Christian Education. Directors will be appointed to carry out the work in all regions of the country.

Columbus discovered the Virgin islands and gave them their name because he was puzzled by their number and decided to call them after the "eleven thousand virgins of St. Ursula."

More Copies Of Revised Bible Sold In Its First Year Than Any Book Ever Published

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP) — The latest revision of the world's greatest book has sold more copies in its first year than any book ever published.

This was disclosed when the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. announced that 2½ million copies of the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible have been sold since the first printing Sept. 30, 1952.

As far as can be learned, the book which comes nearest to first year sales of the new Bible is "Gone With the Wind." The late Margaret Mitchell's romance of the South, published in 1936, sold 1,375,000 copies in its first year.

Although many persons insist that sex and violence are topics which create best-sellers, the all-time hard cover best-seller—aside from the Bible—published in this country was Charles Sheldon's "In His Steps," a book with an inspiration religious theme.

In a half-century, "In His Steps" is estimated to have sold at least eight million copies. Ironically, Sheldon, a clergyman, never copyrighted his book and never realized any great financial return from it.

The phenomenal sales of the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible have been accompanied by paeans of praise—and bitter criticism.

Ministers of fundamentalist churches in Rocky Mount, N. C., Akron, Ohio; Shelbyville, Tenn., have burned parts of the new Bible. When an evangelist in Crestview, Fla., threatened to follow suit, the City Council hastily outlawed Bible burning.

In Michigan a state senator tried unsuccessfully to pass a legislative resolution condemning sale of the new version.

The biggest complaint by fundamentalists is that the new version uses the words "young woman" instead of "virgin" in the Isaiah 7:14 prophesy of the birth of the Messiah.

This, say the translators, is because the original Hebrew manuscript uses the word "alma," meaning "young woman," instead of "bethula," meaning "virgin." It does not impair the basis of the virgin birth doctrine, which is borne out in other passages, they say.

A comparison of a few lines from beautiful 42nd Psalm shows the general difference between the two standard versions:

King James: "As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God. My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God . . .

Revised: "As the hart longs for flowing streams, so longs my soul for thee, O God. My soul thirsts for God, for the living God . . ."

There has been much more praise than condemnation of the 15 years of work by 32 scholars authorized by 40 Protestant denominations. Today the revision has been approved by most major church bodies, including many which did not participate in the project.

Hundreds of letters have poured in to the 30-denomination National Council, which holds the copyright on the new version, and to Thomas Nelson & Sons, the publishers. Spokesmen say the vast majority praise the work. The letters are from persons in virtually every walk of life.

A five-year program for greater use and more intelligent understanding of the Bible was launched today by the National Council's Division of Christian Education. Directors will be appointed to carry out the work in all regions of the country.

Columbus discovered the Virgin islands and gave them their name because he was puzzled by their number and decided to call them after the "eleven thousand virgins of St. Ursula."

Reading Is Fun

A decline of 36 per cent in its book circulation since 1932 is reported by the Newark, N. J., Public Library, a figure whch it describes as lower than the decline at most other public libraries. It blames television and other distractions, prosperity, purchases from book clubs and pocket editions and a shortage of first-rate recent fiction.

But this library has no fear that television will make the printed page obsolete. "Books are here to stay," it concludes confidently. But there can be no doubt that more need to be introduced to the pleasures which are available on the shelves of every public library. Too many regard the classics of fiction dubiously, afraid that they are "high brow" and beyond the comprehension or interest of the average reader. There could be no greater mistake.

The great novels are timeless. They present a host of fascinating characters who come to life so vividly that readers remember them for the rest of their lives. There is no better way to acquire knowledge of human beings. Captain Ahab, seeking his white whale in Melville's "Moby Dick," and Javert, implacably pursuing Jean Valjean in Hugo's "Les Miserables" are unforgettable. Youth makes its eternal appeal in Tarkington's "Penrod" and Twain's "Huckleberry Finn."

To the family chronicle, in which fictional characters become as absorbing as one's friends, John Galsworthy's triple trilogy recounting the fortunes of three generations of Forsytes, and Arnold Bennett's "Clayhanger" trilogy, will furnish an introduction.

In classical fiction can be found the self-righteous, the rogue, the scoundrel, the tragic failure, the foolish, the wise, the cowardly, the good. There are Hardy's "Mayor of Casterbridge," du Maurier's Peter Ibbetson, Ben Hecht's Erik Dorn, Howell's Silas Lapham, Conrad's Lord Jim, France's Sylvestre Bonnard. There are immortal women like Defoe's Moll Flanders and Flaubert's Madam Bovary. The list goes on and on.

These characters are part of our cultural heritage and making their acquaintance is essential to a complete education. Reading them isn't a hard, dull task. It is a rewarding and happy experience, for which life offers no substitute.

The Scared Bears

One of the peculiarities of the current American economic scene is that the bulls and the bears are both noisy If the bears seem a little louder, the bulls have the preponderance of facts with them. Both are becoming a little strident because evils endured for 20 years become increasingly hard to endure.

Another odd aspect of the picture is that while business activities are near record highs, the stock market seems jittery. It was formerly said that the stock market appraises the future, but so do investments in new plants and equipment, which are expected to break all records in the current quarter. Which indicator is right?

National income goes from high to high. Consumer savings are at a near-record level. Employment and consumer income are higher than ever. By the end of fiscal 1954, government expenditures are expected to be off by about $5,000,000,000, or less than two per cent of the expected national income for the period. But even this bearish effect is to be offset by tax cuts.

As Chairman Ben Fairless of U. S. Steel said, in lashing out at business men of faint heart, this year's total steel production is estimated at 7,000,000 tons above record 1951, and over-all consumer purchasing power was never higher.

This, as Fairless said, is the greatest and most challenging opportunity American business has had for many a long year. There is more free enterprise in the economy and a friendlier atmosphere in Washington. It is time for bold optimism and bold action.

Controlled Grass

Even those who, on occasion, have had an acute case of lawnmoweritis were hardly jolted at all by the announcement that a chemical called MH40 is being used by the Ohio State Highway Department as an economy move.

What the stuff does is stunt the grass. Grass sprayed with the chemical in April will not require cutting all summer, it is contended. It just sits there, apparently not getting scraggly or patchy. Highway departments in several other states, including Connecticut, which has miles of landscaped parkways, are already using it.

Like everything new, this particular product has limitations. Apparently it cannot be used on some varieties of grass. Presumably, too, some sort of balance must be struck. Just how long a good stand of grass could stand up under the alternate urging of fertilizer and the smothering effect of the chemical isn't clear

It might be a good guess that perhaps 50 per cent of lawn owners—and thereby potential sufferers of lawnmoweritis—get a kick out of pruning the green carpet periodically If so, there is revolution a-borning.

Desertions From Reds

Not within memory of man has there been an exodus of unwilling subjects from one world power to another as is presently taking place from the Red dominated East to the West. Not if obstacles placed in the path of would-be escapees are taken into consideration, at any rate.

Two Poles entrusted with high governmental missions by the Reds have deserted to the free world, one at the United Natons, another in Korea. A half dozen Soviet fliers have flown their craft to freedom, the most recent in Korea. East Germans by the hundreds of thousands and many Czechs have crossed the border to freedom.

Such decisions are not easy for a subject people to make, and the odds are against such attempted escapes succeeding. Families left behind are subject to persecution and may never be seen again. That so many take the chance shows that there is serious difficulty within the Communist orbit.

Editorialgraphs

The seriousness of that $50,000,000 fire which destroyed an automatic transmission plant in Detroit is apparent in the announcement that some new cars will be equipped with old-fashioned clutches while it is being rebuilt. Clankety-clank—1954, here we come.

New York man sent his trousers to the cleaners with $1,390 in the pockets. It is such occurrences that the government is trying to prevent by ordering tax men to ring everyone's doorbell.

How To Keep Well

Compound F In Bursitis

From time to time glowing reports appear on the use of Compound F in the treatment of bursitis. Pain and stiffness in a shoulder of one workman, for example, become so severe he is unable to work. "Bursitis," says the physician as he prepares a needle and syringe for an injection; 24 hours later pain disappears and the man is able to move his arm in any direction. Such results speak for themselves. More than one hypodermic may be required, but in the majority of instances striking improvement ensues within 24 hours after the solution is administered. Furthermore, it is possible to do the procedure in the office.

Bursae are tiny, thin walled sacs that serve as a cushion or help to buffer the gliding action of a tendon as it rounds the corner near a joint. The deltoid bursa protects the shoulder joint and is easily irritated through injury. As a result, the membranes swell and fluid and calcium accumulate within the sac. The shoulder becomes painful, especially on attempting to raise or swing the arm. In the past, the victim of shoulder bursitis was incapacitated for several weeks. X-ray and physical therapy helped most, but the outcome was not as striking as with Compound F.

The product also helps bursitis elsewhere in the body. Tennis elbow and housemaid's knee are examples. A middle aged hotel maid developed a painful swelling of the right knee which got so bad she was unable to work because her job required kneeling to clean the floors. She saw her physician 10 days after the disorder started. The skin over the swollen kneecap was cleansed with soap and water and anesthetized with procaine. Another needle was inserted to withdraw the fluid, following which Compound F was injected. She was told to come back in a week, but to stay off her knees during that time. On her return visit she stated that pain and tenderness had disappeared 24 hours after the injection and she was feeling fine. She went back to work and in no time was spending several hours daily on her knees. Within six weeks the condition recurred and a second treatment was given, followed by lasting results.

Compound F is a close relative of cortisone and is one of the 28 pure compounds isolated from the adrenal glands. Unlike cortisone, the substance is injected into the bursa and since the dose is so small, general reactions to the drug are not common. It also is introduced into inflamed joints as an arthritic remedy.

ACTH, the hormone that comes from the master gland (pituitary), is capable of stimulating the adrenal glands. Tests have shown that when this occurs, large amounts of Compound F are isolated in the extract in contrast to cortisone, which is present only in traces. This has led many authorities to relieve that Compound F, rather than cortisone, is responsible for most of the good effects of ACTH.

DISHPAN HANDS

Mrs. L. writes: My hands are an ugly red summer and winter. Can you tell me why?

REPLY

A circulatory disturbance such as acrocyanosis may be responsible. Another possibility is dishpan hands resulting from allergy to soap or detergent.

HYSTERECTOMY

Mrs. D. writes: What is the main reason why the uterus is removed?

REPLY

Abnormal bleeding is the chief cause but there are others. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on hysterectomy.

PERSEVERE

B. T. writes: Can fungous infection of the ear really be cured? I've spent a lot of money on treatment but still have the disease?

REPLY

Cure of this disorder is difficult but most cases respond if an attempt is made to isolate the causative fungus so that the proper medication can be selected. Persistence is needed and the physician's instructions must be followed to the letter.

MARGARINE AND BUTTER

V. C. writes: Some one told me that margarine is more nutritious than butter. Is this true?

REPLY

No. Both products contain approximately the same number of calories, protein, fat, and carbohydrate.

EARLY REPAIR OF CLEFT

Mrs. M. D. writes: What is the outcome for a baby born with a cleft palate? Would it interfere with speech in any way?

REPLY

Nowadays cleft palate is repaired surgically in early infancy and as a result speech is less likely to be affected. When the operation is postponed, however, speech training usually is necessary.

Joint Chiefs Fall Back On Old "Balanced Force" Concept; Army And Navy Overrule Gen. Twining's Plea For Air Power

WASHINGTON—The Joint Chiefs of Staff held a highly significant secret meeting last week to determine the basic question of military preparedness against the hydrogen bomb. Result: They came up with the same old time-honored solution—the "balanced force."

In nonmilitary language this means that the Army, Navy and Air Force will balance their strength. They will carve up military appropriations between them more or less even-stephen. Regardless of whether Russia is stronger in the air or on the land, the American Army, Navy and Air Force will continue to be such competitors between themselves with each wanting to be just as strong as the other.

This vital, basic question was brought up in last week's meeting by Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff.

Twining argued that the Joint Chiefs couldn't start allocating men and materials to the three services until they had decided on the overall "concept" or strategy.

They must face the fact that Russia has the hydrogen bomb, General Twining pleaded, and this must drastically change the old concept of 1954 military needs.

Air Force Loses

Twining, however, was snowed under with protests from the Army and Navy. Gen. Matt Ridgway, efficient, eloquent Army chief, argued: "We can't give up traditional but tested old weapons for untested new weapons." Adm. Arthur Radford, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs, joined him. It's always remotely possible that atomic weapons may be outlawed, Radford argued, just as mustard gas was outlawed after World War I. This would eliminate the whole atomic arsenal in one stroke, said Radford, and leave the U. S. shorthanded if conventional weapons are abandoned.

In the end, Twining was overruled, and the Joint Chiefs fell back on the usual solution—namely, to split the military budget three ways, giving the Army, Navy and Air Force an equal share of the men and materials.

British Junk System

The British Joint Chiefs of Staff have taken the lead in junking the old "balanced force" concept of an equal-strength Army, Navy, Air Force. Instead, they have put more of their military dollars into air power and atomic weapons.

"It would bankrupt us to keep all three of our services built up to the same size," one British general told American friends the other day. "The Russians have no navy to speak of except submarines. Therefore, why should we spend a fortune on building up our navy—except for submarines.

"We can use the money on air defenses, the bomber fleet and an atomic arsenal."

Maginot Line Strategy

British point out that the French generals got caught napping in World War II when they placed too much defense hope on the Maginot Line. The Germans promptly developed a new concept of war—the blitzkrieg—and sent panzer divisions with fast-moving troops right around the Maginot Line, conquering France in a few days.

The British Joint Chiefs point out that they don't want to get caught relying on the tactics of the last war to meet the threat of the hydrogen bomb.

They also point out that just as England dominated the seas in the 18th Century, so the nation that dominates the air today will dominate the world. Yet Secretary of Defense Wilson took out most of the U. S. defense cuts on the Air Force, then tried to sell the public the fantastic myth that the Air Force would be stronger than ever with $5,000,000,000 less.

Cavalry Still Good

Inside fact is that Wilson got his advice from Army generals and Navy admirals. What he didn't realize is that these two branches of the service have always stuck to their traditional weapons, and frequently it has taken Congress to change them.

In 1928 it was Congressman Ross Collins of Mississippi, a member of the Military Appropriations Committee, who insisted that the Army begin using modern tanks. He actually inserted an appropriation in the military budget by which the Army had to build tanks even though many generals were opposed, still clung to the infantry.

As late as this year one cavalry general still claimed the Korean War proved what a horrible mistake it had been to abandon the cavalry.

In 1914 Gen. Arthur Murray of the Coast Artillery wanted the Army to take over the submarine instead of the Navy because the defense of the U. S. coastline was the job of the Coast Artillery.

Again in 1936 it was Congressman Collins who put an appropriation in the military budget requiring the Air Corps to build flying fortresses, the forerunner of the long-range bomber. As late as 1940, just before Pearl Harbor, the Army's general staff wanted only six of these bombers.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Free Newspapers

It has become customary to give over a week for special purposes, such as a week for apples or for the Community Chest or for the county fair. This week has been designated "Newspaper Week," which, I presume, was invented to stimulate a greater interest in the press.

The American people probably devote themselves to newspaper reading more than any other people on earth, and neither radio nor television has markedly interfered with the habit. Also, the American newspaper is unlike the press in any other country: it not only carries news and comment, which is customary, but it has become a vehicle for entertainment, in the form of comic strips, crossword puzzles, etc.; and a vehicle for instruction in such devices as how to sew, cook, care for one's health, and even advice to those who are in love and those who have made a failure of their marriages.

Again, in no other country does the newspaper depend so much for graphic reporting upon pictures, charts and maps. The newspaper photographer has become ubiquitous, taking millions of photographs each year, not all of which, fortunately, are printed or there would be room for little else.

Even the advertisements are regarded as news and often are read first and most ardently. Women, who constitute the bulk of consumer purchasers, have never found a substitute for the newspaper as a guide to shopping, nor could the department or chain stores have developed to their present dimensions as distributors of so varied and changing lines of commodities if the newspapers were not available to advertise their wares. Advertising is therefore and in that sense news.

The omnibus character of the American newspaper often diverts attention from its two main features, which are the provision of accurate news and the presentation of a variety of views on the subjects of the day. In a free society, the people are entitled to information, unfettered by censorship, and unpolluted at the source either by government direction or corruption by self-interested propaganda.

For two decades, the tendency on the part of government to direct the nature and trend of the news has continuously increased until it has become something of a problem. Every department of government issues mimeographed sheets which are supposed to provide "official" information. Some of this "official" data also comes in beautifully printed brochures.

Little of it is news. Most of it is propaganda designed to color the news and requires the most careful scrutiny and analysis. In time of war, some felt that it was an act of patriotism to support the government in its own appraisal of what it did; good reporting should provide the facts irrespective of whom it pleases or displeases, whom it benefits or hurts.

In the matter of views, our newspapers have, on the whole, been more free than in the collection of news. Views, thought, opinion depend upon argument, debate, controversy for the truth. Thinking in a vacuum rarely produces a constructive idea. American newspapers tend to open their columns to a variety of opinions. The more controversial a newspaper is, the better it serves the public. There are a few American newspapers that insist upon presenting only the views of its owners and editors; such are, in effect, propaganda organs for a particular position. Most American newspapers recognize that the editorial column expresses the newspaper's own attitude, but that in a free society such as ours, the people have a right to access to differing views and opinions.

It is for this reason, for instance, that many newspapers publish the writings of columnists whom they do not particularly like or whose views they actually dislike. In no other country is this possible; yet it is an outstanding public service. For each columnist represents a viewpoint of a segment of the population and, taken together, their writings often present the spectrum of thought of the whole people. Out of this variety of differences come the decisions which are finally made at the polls and in the halls of Congress.

Despite a tendency throughout the world to reduce the press to an organ of government or of a political party, the American newspaper remains free, including every facet of thought and ideal and expression. As long as this remains true, ours will continue to be a free society.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Politics has often played a part in choosing members of the judiciary—including selections to the Supreme Court of the United States. But that doesn't make it a commendable practice.

The designation of Governor Warren of California to be chief justice of the United States will be acclaimed by the politicians as a smart appointment but will be disapproved by those members of the bench and by practicing lawyers who still cling to the old-fashioned idea that, when it comes to selecting justices for the Supreme Court of the United States, the choice should be made from the ablest jurists in the nation.

It is not a disparagement of Governor Warren's potentiality or of his splendid record in public life, including his service as attorney general of his state, to say that there are at least a dozen men in America better qualified than he is to be chief justice. Nor is it a reflection on President Eisenhower's sincerity of purpose to say that the reasons he gave for picking Governor Warren seem to be in keeping with a concept that has again and again been denounced — namely, that justices should be appointed with the idea of expecting a certain political or judicial philosophy to be expounded by them on the bench.

Holmes Surprised Roosevelt

The late President Theodore Roosevelt, who appointed Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes to the Supreme Court, expected him to rule one way on a basic issue and made the appointment with that idea in mind, but Justice Holmes ruled the opposite way, much to the consternation of the White House.

President Eisenhower says he chose Governor Warren because of his middle-of-the-road philosophy. What has that to do with the interpretation of the statutes or the settlement of controversies between citizens, especially when fundamental questions of constitutionality are involved? Plainly the law is to be construed on the basis of the facts and the precedents and the principles of fairness. There is no middle of the road as between right and wrong in determining a judicial question. Congress may pass good or bad laws, yet whether they are constitutional has to be decided not on the basis of any particular philosophy of government but on their actual conformity to the powers set forth in the constitution.

In the present Supreme Court are six justices who never served before on the bench. Glenn R. Winters, editor of the Journal of the American Judicature Society, in a news release issued before it was known who would be appointed chief justice, said:

"Today the total prior judicial experience of the members of the Supreme Court consists of Mr. Justice Black's 18 months as a police judge and Mr. Justice Minton's eight years on the federal appellate bench."

Mr. Winters says it is possible to overemphasize the need for prior judicial experience, "but it seems more than clear that is has actually been badly underemphasized. There are great and distinguished judges today on both state and federal courts eminently qualified for the judicial and administrative responsibilities of the chief justiceship."

Politics Major Factor

There is no doubt that Governor Warren's political prominence was a major factor in bringing him to the high court now. He has had no prior judicial experience. Had he been a practicing lawyer in California, he never would have been considered. The very applause that has come from the AFL, the CIO and New Dealers generally concerning the appointment of Governor Warren shows that its political and pro-labor aspects have been given more consideration than any special qualifications for the post which other jurists in America have today. Perhaps the appointment was expected to be a sop to labor unions because Governor Warren is regarded by many employers in California as pro-labor.

President Eisenhower's attention to the political phases of the Warren appointment will produce an undertone of dissatisfaction among the many members of the bar who like to think that the Supreme Court of the United States, before which they may argue some day, will be composed of the best lawyers or masters of jurisprudence that the country can boast. To select judges on the basis of their ideological predilections is to do what most people condemned when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt said, apropos of his "court packing" plan, that he wanted justices whose ideas would go along with his. Governor Warren may turn out to be a better judge than some experienced jurist of narrow vision might have been—but the precedent is not going to cause cheers among members of the bar in America.

Mao's Good Fortune

HONG KONG

Speculating on what might have been is usually fruitless. Yet it is at least worth noting that the end of the fighting in Korea almost certainly came just in time to spare the Chinese Communists from paying heavy penalties for entering the war.

From this useful vantage point of Hong Kong, one sees very clearly what was not visible in Washington—the severe strain that their effort in Korea imposed on the Chinese Communists. They were not just losing mass manpower in Korea. They were losing their best soldiers and officers. And they were not just using Russian equipment in Korea. They were paying for that equipment through the nose, with exports which the Chinese economy could ill afford.

Two statistics tell the story. In the last year, China's total exports of rice and other grains are known to have passed 750,000 tons a year —and this is a country which in better times normally imported upwards of 1,000,000 tons a year of rice alone. Furthermore, the rice, the soya beans, the tung oil and other products constituting China's huge export to Russia were being paid for by the Russians at prices 50 per cent under the world market.

Truly, Josef Stalin drove one of his customary hard bargains with Mao Ts-Tung, when he agreed to re-equip and support the Chinese armed forces if China joined in the Korean fighting. To the Chinese Communist leader, the high price no doubt seemed well worth paying, for the immense gain of becoming the dominant military power in Asia. But it can hardly be doubted either that the price began to be unbearable as the Korean War dragged on and on.

Not Approved By Russia

The evidence is overwhelming, in fact, that the Peking government desperately wanted to bring the fighting to an end as long ago as last autumn.

The outward sign of this Chinese Communist hankering for peace was the Indian formula for settling the prisoners of war problem. This formula was forward by the Indian government last December, when every other obstacle to a truce agreement had already been cleared away. The formula originated in prolonged discussions between the number two Chinese Communist, Chou En-Lai, and the Indian ambassador at Peking, N. Raghavan.

Peking had approved the Indian prisoners of war formula, but Moscow had not approved. The Indians had hardly offered their proposal when it was roundly denounced at the United Nations by Andrei Vyshinsky. Stalin, surely enraged by Peking's gesture of independence, had spoken through Vyshinsky's mouth. After an unhappy pause of several days, the Peking government lamely echoed the attack on this Indian formula that Chou En-Lai himself had helped to work out.

There matters stood until Secretary of State John Foster Dulles visited New Delhi last winter. With the intention of having the warning passed on, Dulles told Pandit Nehru that the United States would have to take the offensive in Korea, even at the cost of spreading the war, if no truce could be arranged. Maybe this helped to shake Russian policy. Certainly Russian policy was finally altered by the death of the aged, rigid Stalin.

Chou En-Lai hastened to Moscow for Stalin's funeral and remained there about a fortnight. He had hardly got off the plane at Peking when he again put forward the Indian formula for the prisoners, this time as his own. Thereafter, the Chinese let no obstacle stand in the way of final agreement on a Korean truce.

Need For Aid Urgent

This history is plain proof of the Chinese eagerness for the truce that we were so eager to grant them. The reason for this eagerness is suggested in turn by another set of facts concerning the Peking-Moscow relationship.

In August 1952, the Chinese Communists sent to Moscow the most high powered mission they could collect, to ask for more liberal Russian aid. Again, Stalin's rigidity seems to have been the chief stumbling block in the negotiations.

At any rate, nothing solid was accomplished until just after the old dictator's death. Malenkov then announced a preliminary agreement to increase Russian aid for China as a sort of send-off for Chou En-Lai's return journey to Peking. This has now been followed by the announcement of a more detailed and complete aid agreement, that provoked Mao Tse-Tung's slavish telegram of thanks to Malenkov.

The Chinese need for aid is urgent, Mao's thanks were slavish, because the Chinese Communist government is now confronting difficulties that might cause a less ruthless regime to lose heart altogether.

China's vital stocks of food grains have been utterly exhausted by the export program. Even by the end of last summer, farmers were leaving their fields untilled in many parts of China, in protest against cruel taxation. This year's harvests of both wheat and rice have been far below normal. There are reports of famine already from Szechuan, China's richest agricultural province. This winter will quite probably produce a nationwide Chinese famine in the classic style, with the people eating roots, bark and even earth. And death stalking the land.

For China, of course, industrialization is bound to be an agony, if it must be paid for out of the land. The Communist regime must accept that.

Reading Is Fun

A decline of 36 per cent in its book circulation since 1932 is reported by the Newark, N. J., Public Library, a figure whch it describes as lower than the decline at most other public libraries. It blames television and other distractions, prosperity, purchases from book clubs and pocket editions and a shortage of first-rate recent fiction.

But this library has no fear that television will make the printed page obsolete. "Books are here to stay," it concludes confidently. But there can be no doubt that more need to be introduced to the pleasures which are available on the shelves of every public library. Too many regard the classics of fiction dubiously, afraid that they are "high brow" and beyond the comprehension or interest of the average reader. There could be no greater mistake.

The great novels are timeless. They present a host of fascinating characters who come to life so vividly that readers remember them for the rest of their lives. There is no better way to acquire knowledge of human beings. Captain Ahab, seeking his white whale in Melville's "Moby Dick," and Javert, implacably pursuing Jean Valjean in Hugo's "Les Miserables" are unforgettable. Youth makes its eternal appeal in Tarkington's "Penrod" and Twain's "Huckleberry Finn."

To the family chronicle, in which fictional characters become as absorbing as one's friends, John Galsworthy's triple trilogy recounting the fortunes of three generations of Forsytes, and Arnold Bennett's "Clayhanger" trilogy, will furnish an introduction.

In classical fiction can be found the self-righteous, the rogue, the scoundrel, the tragic failure, the foolish, the wise, the cowardly, the good. There are Hardy's "Mayor of Casterbridge," du Maurier's Peter Ibbetson, Ben Hecht's Erik Dorn, Howell's Silas Lapham, Conrad's Lord Jim, France's Sylvestre Bonnard. There are immortal women like Defoe's Moll Flanders and Flaubert's Madam Bovary. The list goes on and on.

These characters are part of our cultural heritage and making their acquaintance is essential to a complete education. Reading them isn't a hard, dull task. It is a rewarding and happy experience, for which life offers no substitute.

The Scared Bears

One of the peculiarities of the current American economic scene is that the bulls and the bears are both noisy If the bears seem a little louder, the bulls have the preponderance of facts with them. Both are becoming a little strident because evils endured for 20 years become increasingly hard to endure.

Another odd aspect of the picture is that while business activities are near record highs, the stock market seems jittery. It was formerly said that the stock market appraises the future, but so do investments in new plants and equipment, which are expected to break all records in the current quarter. Which indicator is right?

National income goes from high to high. Consumer savings are at a near-record level. Employment and consumer income are higher than ever. By the end of fiscal 1954, government expenditures are expected to be off by about $5,000,000,000, or less than two per cent of the expected national income for the period. But even this bearish effect is to be offset by tax cuts.

As Chairman Ben Fairless of U. S. Steel said, in lashing out at business men of faint heart, this year's total steel production is estimated at 7,000,000 tons above record 1951, and over-all consumer purchasing power was never higher.

This, as Fairless said, is the greatest and most challenging opportunity American business has had for many a long year. There is more free enterprise in the economy and a friendlier atmosphere in Washington. It is time for bold optimism and bold action.

Controlled Grass

Even those who, on occasion, have had an acute case of lawnmoweritis were hardly jolted at all by the announcement that a chemical called MH40 is being used by the Ohio State Highway Department as an economy move.

What the stuff does is stunt the grass. Grass sprayed with the chemical in April will not require cutting all summer, it is contended. It just sits there, apparently not getting scraggly or patchy. Highway departments in several other states, including Connecticut, which has miles of landscaped parkways, are already using it.

Like everything new, this particular product has limitations. Apparently it cannot be used on some varieties of grass. Presumably, too, some sort of balance must be struck. Just how long a good stand of grass could stand up under the alternate urging of fertilizer and the smothering effect of the chemical isn't clear

It might be a good guess that perhaps 50 per cent of lawn owners—and thereby potential sufferers of lawnmoweritis—get a kick out of pruning the green carpet periodically If so, there is revolution a-borning.

Desertions From Reds

Not within memory of man has there been an exodus of unwilling subjects from one world power to another as is presently taking place from the Red dominated East to the West. Not if obstacles placed in the path of would-be escapees are taken into consideration, at any rate.

Two Poles entrusted with high governmental missions by the Reds have deserted to the free world, one at the United Natons, another in Korea. A half dozen Soviet fliers have flown their craft to freedom, the most recent in Korea. East Germans by the hundreds of thousands and many Czechs have crossed the border to freedom.

Such decisions are not easy for a subject people to make, and the odds are against such attempted escapes succeeding. Families left behind are subject to persecution and may never be seen again. That so many take the chance shows that there is serious difficulty within the Communist orbit.

Editorialgraphs

The seriousness of that $50,000,000 fire which destroyed an automatic transmission plant in Detroit is apparent in the announcement that some new cars will be equipped with old-fashioned clutches while it is being rebuilt. Clankety-clank—1954, here we come.

New York man sent his trousers to the cleaners with $1,390 in the pockets. It is such occurrences that the government is trying to prevent by ordering tax men to ring everyone's doorbell.

Compound F In Bursitis

From time to time glowing reports appear on the use of Compound F in the treatment of bursitis. Pain and stiffness in a shoulder of one workman, for example, become so severe he is unable to work. "Bursitis," says the physician as he prepares a needle and syringe for an injection; 24 hours later pain disappears and the man is able to move his arm in any direction. Such results speak for themselves. More than one hypodermic may be required, but in the majority of instances striking improvement ensues within 24 hours after the solution is administered. Furthermore, it is possible to do the procedure in the office.

Bursae are tiny, thin walled sacs that serve as a cushion or help to buffer the gliding action of a tendon as it rounds the corner near a joint. The deltoid bursa protects the shoulder joint and is easily irritated through injury. As a result, the membranes swell and fluid and calcium accumulate within the sac. The shoulder becomes painful, especially on attempting to raise or swing the arm. In the past, the victim of shoulder bursitis was incapacitated for several weeks. X-ray and physical therapy helped most, but the outcome was not as striking as with Compound F.

The product also helps bursitis elsewhere in the body. Tennis elbow and housemaid's knee are examples. A middle aged hotel maid developed a painful swelling of the right knee which got so bad she was unable to work because her job required kneeling to clean the floors. She saw her physician 10 days after the disorder started. The skin over the swollen kneecap was cleansed with soap and water and anesthetized with procaine. Another needle was inserted to withdraw the fluid, following which Compound F was injected. She was told to come back in a week, but to stay off her knees during that time. On her return visit she stated that pain and tenderness had disappeared 24 hours after the injection and she was feeling fine. She went back to work and in no time was spending several hours daily on her knees. Within six weeks the condition recurred and a second treatment was given, followed by lasting results.

Compound F is a close relative of cortisone and is one of the 28 pure compounds isolated from the adrenal glands. Unlike cortisone, the substance is injected into the bursa and since the dose is so small, general reactions to the drug are not common. It also is introduced into inflamed joints as an arthritic remedy.

ACTH, the hormone that comes from the master gland (pituitary), is capable of stimulating the adrenal glands. Tests have shown that when this occurs, large amounts of Compound F are isolated in the extract in contrast to cortisone, which is present only in traces. This has led many authorities to relieve that Compound F, rather than cortisone, is responsible for most of the good effects of ACTH.

DISHPAN HANDS

Mrs. L. writes: My hands are an ugly red summer and winter. Can you tell me why?

REPLY

A circulatory disturbance such as acrocyanosis may be responsible. Another possibility is dishpan hands resulting from allergy to soap or detergent.

HYSTERECTOMY

Mrs. D. writes: What is the main reason why the uterus is removed?

REPLY

Abnormal bleeding is the chief cause but there are others. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on hysterectomy.

PERSEVERE

B. T. writes: Can fungous infection of the ear really be cured? I've spent a lot of money on treatment but still have the disease?

REPLY

Cure of this disorder is difficult but most cases respond if an attempt is made to isolate the causative fungus so that the proper medication can be selected. Persistence is needed and the physician's instructions must be followed to the letter.

MARGARINE AND BUTTER

V. C. writes: Some one told me that margarine is more nutritious than butter. Is this true?

REPLY

No. Both products contain approximately the same number of calories, protein, fat, and carbohydrate.

EARLY REPAIR OF CLEFT

Mrs. M. D. writes: What is the outcome for a baby born with a cleft palate? Would it interfere with speech in any way?

REPLY

Nowadays cleft palate is repaired surgically in early infancy and as a result speech is less likely to be affected. When the operation is postponed, however, speech training usually is necessary.

Joint Chiefs Fall Back On Old "Balanced Force" Concept; Army And Navy Overrule Gen. Twining's Plea For Air Power

WASHINGTON—The Joint Chiefs of Staff held a highly significant secret meeting last week to determine the basic question of military preparedness against the hydrogen bomb. Result: They came up with the same old time-honored solution—the "balanced force."

In nonmilitary language this means that the Army, Navy and Air Force will balance their strength. They will carve up military appropriations between them more or less even-stephen. Regardless of whether Russia is stronger in the air or on the land, the American Army, Navy and Air Force will continue to be such competitors between themselves with each wanting to be just as strong as the other.

This vital, basic question was brought up in last week's meeting by Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff.

Twining argued that the Joint Chiefs couldn't start allocating men and materials to the three services until they had decided on the overall "concept" or strategy.

They must face the fact that Russia has the hydrogen bomb, General Twining pleaded, and this must drastically change the old concept of 1954 military needs.

Air Force Loses

Twining, however, was snowed under with protests from the Army and Navy. Gen. Matt Ridgway, efficient, eloquent Army chief, argued: "We can't give up traditional but tested old weapons for untested new weapons." Adm. Arthur Radford, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs, joined him. It's always remotely possible that atomic weapons may be outlawed. Radford argued, just as mustard gas was outlawed after World War I. This would eliminate the whole atomic arsenal in one stroke, said Radford, and leave the U. S. shorthanded if conventional weapons are abandoned.

In the end, Twining was overruled, and the Joint Chiefs fell back on the usual solution—namely, to split the military budget three ways, giving the Army, Navy and Air Force an equal share of the men and materials.

British Junk System

The British Joint Chiefs of Staff have taken the lead in junking the old "balanced force" concept of an equal-strength Army, Navy, Air Force. Instead, they have put more of their military dollars into air power and atomic weapons.

"It would bankrupt us to keep all three of our services built up to the same size," one British general told American friends the other day. "The Russians have no navy to speak of except submarines. Therefore, why should we spend a fortune on building up our navy—except for submarines.

"We can use the money on air defenses, the bomber fleet and an atomic arsenal."

Maginot Line Strategy

British point out that the French generals got caught napping in World War II when they placed too much defense hope on the Maginot Line. The Germans promptly developed a new concept of war—the blitzkrieg—and sent panzer divisions with fast-moving troops right around the Maginot Line, conquering France in a few days.

The British Joint Chiefs point out that they don't want to get caught relying on the tactics of the last war to meet the threat of the hydrogen bomb.

They also point out that just as England dominated the seas in the 18th Century, so the nation that dominates the air today will dominate the world. Yet Secretary of Defense Wilson took out most of the U. S. defense cuts on the Air Force, then tried to sell the public the fantastic myth that the Air Force would be stronger than ever with $5,000,000,000 less.

Cavalry Still Good

Inside fact is that Wilson got his advice from Army generals and Navy admirals. What he didn't realize is that these two branches of the service have always stuck to their traditional weapons, and frequently it has taken Congress to change them.

In 1928 it was Congressman Ross Collins of Mississippi, a member of the Military Appropriations Committee, who insisted that the Army begin using modern tanks. He actually inserted an appropriation in the military budget by which the Army had to build tanks even though many generals were opposed, still clung to the infantry.

As late as this year one cavalry general still claimed the Korean War proved what a horrible mistake it had been to abandon the cavalry.

In 1914 Gen. Arthur Murray of the Coast Artillery wanted the Army to take over the submarine instead of the Navy because the defense of the U. S. coastline was the job of the Coast Artillery.

Again in 1936 it was Congressman Collins who put an appropriation in the military budget requiring the Air Corps to build flying fortresses, the forerunner of the long-range bomber. As late as 1940, just before Pearl Harbor, the Army's general staff wanted only six of these bombers.

Free Newspapers

It has become customary to give over a week for special purposes, such as a week for apples or for the Community Chest or for the county fair. This week has been designated "Newspaper Week," which, I presume, was invented to stimulate a greater interest in the press.

The American people probably devote themselves to newspaper reading more than any other people on earth, and neither radio nor television has markedly interfered with the habit. Also, the American newspaper is unlike the press in any other country: it not only carries news and comment, which is customary, but it has become a vehicle for entertainment, in the form of comic strips, crossword puzzles, etc.; and a vehicle for instruction in such devices as how to sew, cook, care for one's health, and even advice to those who are in love and those who have made a failure of their marriages.

Again, in no other country does the newspaper depend so much for graphic reporting upon pictures, charts and maps. The newspaper photographer has become ubiquitous, taking millions of photographs each year, not all of which, fortunately, are printed or there would be room for little else.

Even the advertisements are regarded as news and often are read first and most ardently. Women, who constitute the bulk of consumer purchasers, have never found a substitute for the newspaper as a guide to shopping, nor could the department or chain stores have developed to their present dimensions as distributors of so varied and changing lines of commodities if the newspapers were not available to advertise their wares. Advertising is therefore and in that sense news.

The omnibus character of the American newspaper often diverts attention from its two main features, which are the provision of accurate news and the presentation of a variety of views on the subjects of the day. In a free society, the people are entitled to information, unfettered by censorship, and unpolluted at the source either by government direction or corruption by self-interested propaganda.

For two decades, the tendency on the part of government to direct the nature and trend of the news has continuously increased until it has become something of a problem. Every department of government issues mimeographed sheets which are supposed to provide "official" information. Some of this "official" data also comes in beautifully printed brochures.

Little of it is news. Most of it is propaganda designed to color the news and requires the most careful scrutiny and analysis. In time of war, some felt that it was an act of patriotism to support the government in its own appraisal of what it did; good reporting should provide the facts irrespective of whom it pleases or displeases, whom it benefits or hurts.

In the matter of views, our newspapers have, on the whole, been more free than in the collection of news. Views, thought, opinion depend upon argument, debate, controversy for the truth. Thinking in a vacuum rarely produces a constructive idea. American newspapers tend to open their columns to a variety of opinions. The more controversial a newspaper is, the better it serves the public. There are a few American newspapers that insist upon presenting only the views of its owners and editors; such are, in effect, propaganda organs for a particular position. Most American newspapers recognize that the editorial column expresses the newspaper's own attitude, but that in a free society such as ours, the people have a right to access to differing views and opinions.

It is for this reason, for instance, that many newspapers publish the writings of columnists whom they do not particularly like or whose views they actually dislike. In no other country is this possible; yet it is an outstanding public service. For each columnist represents a viewpoint of a segment of the population and, taken together, their writings often present the spectrum of thought of the whole people. Out of this variety of differences come the decisions which are finally made at the polls and in the halls of Congress.

Despite a tendency throughout the world to reduce the press to an organ of government or of a political party, the American newspaper remains free, including every facet of thought and ideal and expression. As long as this remains true, ours will continue to be a free society.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Politics has often played a part in choosing members of the judiciary—including selections to the Supreme Court of the United States. But that doesn't make it a commendable practice.

The designation of Governor Warren of California to be chief justice of the United States will be acclaimed by the politicians as a smart appointment but will be disapproved by those members of the bench and by practicing lawyers who still cling to the old-fashioned idea that, when it comes to selecting justices for the Supreme Court of the United States, the choice should be made from the ablest jurists in the nation.

It is not a disparagement of Governor Warren's potentiality or of his splendid record in public life, including his service as attorney general of his state, to say that there are at least a dozen men in America better qualified than he is to be chief justice. Nor is it a reflection on President Eisenhower's sincerity of purpose to say that the reasons he gave for picking Governor Warren seem to be in keeping with a concept that has again and again been denounced — namely, that justices should be appointed with the idea of expecting a certain political or judicial philosophy to be expounded by them on the bench.

Holmes Surprised Roosevelt

The late President Theodore Roosevelt, who appointed Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes to the Supreme Court, expected him to rule one way on a basic issue and made the appointment with that idea in mind, but Justice Holmes ruled the opposite way, much to the consternation of the White House.

President Eisenhower says he chose Governor Warren because of his middle-of-the-road philosophy. What has that to do with the interpretation of the statutes or the settlement of controversies between citizens, especially when fundamental questions of constitutionality are involved? Plainly the law is to be construed on the basis of the facts and the precedents and the principles of fairness. There is no middle of the road as between right and wrong in determining a judicial question. Congress may pass good or bad laws, yet whether they are constitutional has to be decided not on the basis of any particular philosophy of government but on their actual conformity to the powers set forth in the constitution.

In the present Supreme Court are six justices who never served before on the bench. Glenn R. Winters, editor of the Journal of the American Judicature Society, in a news release issued before it was known who would be appointed chief justice, said:

"Today the total prior judicial experience of the members of the Supreme Court consists of Mr. Justice Black's 18 months as a police judge and Mr. Justice Minton's eight years on the federal appellate bench."

Mr. Winters says it is possible to overemphasize the need for prior judicial experience, "but it seems more than clear that is has actually been badly underemphasized. There are great and distinguished judges today on both state and federal courts eminently qualified for the judicial and administrative responsibilities of the chief justiceship."

Politics Major Factor

There is no doubt that Governor Warren's political prominence was a major factor in bringing him to the high court now. He has had no prior judicial experience. Had he been a practicing lawyer in California, he never would have been considered. The very applause that has come from the AFL, the CIO and New Dealers generally concerning the appointment of Governor Warren shows that its political and pro-labor aspects have been given more consideration than any special qualifications for the post which other jurists in America have today. Perhaps the appointment was expected to be a sop to labor unions because Governor Warren is regarded by many employers in California as pro-labor.

President Eisenhower's attention to the political phases of the Warren appointment will produce an undertone of dissatisfaction among the many members of the bar who like to think that the Supreme Court of the United States, before which they may argue some day, will be composed of the best lawyers or masters of jurisprudence that the country can boast. To select judges on the basis of their ideological predilections is to do what most people condemned when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt said, apropos of his "court packing" plan, that he wanted justices whose ideas would go along with his. Governor Warren may turn out to be a better judge than some experienced jurist of narrow vision might have been—but the precedent is not going to cause cheers among members of the bar in America.

Need For Aid Urgent

This history is plain proof of the Chinese eagerness for the truce that we were so eager to grant them. The reason for this eagerness is suggested in turn by another set of facts concerning the Peking-Moscow relationship.

In August 1952, the Chinese Communists sent to Moscow the most high powered mission they could collect, to ask for more liberal Russian aid. Again, Stalin's rigidity seems to have been the chief stumbling block in the negotiations.

At any rate, nothing solid was accomplished until just after the old dictator's death. Malenkov then announced a preliminary agreement to increase Russian aid for China as a sort of send-off for Chou En-Lai's return journey to Peking. This has now been followed by the announcement of a more detailed and complete aid agreement, that provoked Mao Tse-Tung's slavish telegram of thanks to Malenkov.

The Chinese need for aid is urgent, Mao's thanks were slavish, because the Chinese Communist government is now confronting difficulties that might cause a less ruthless regime to lose heart altogether.

China's vital stocks of food grains have been utterly exhausted by the export program. Even by the end of last summer, farmers were leaving their fields untilled in many parts of China, in protest against cruel taxation. This year's harvests of both wheat and rice have been far below normal. There are reports of famine already from Szechuan, China's richest agricultural province. This winter will quite probably produce a nationwide Chinese famine in the classic style, with the people eating roots, bark and even earth. And death stalking the land.

For China, of course, industrialization is bound to be an agony, if it must be paid for out of the land. The Communist regime must accept that.

British Embassy Officials Honor Negro, 85, "Too Young To Retire"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—A few minutes before 11 a.m., EST, today a spry, wizened Negro made his way through the labyrinthine corridors of the British Embassy to a sunlit terrace, where he bowed and bent his knee to Ambassador Sir Roger Makins. .

"Charlie," said the ambassador, after pumping his hand, "it was 65 years ago this morning that you came to work for the embassy...I think you've broken all records."

Charles Browne bowed as he has bowed to 15 earlier British envoys to Washington. Then he began to speak—and with the measured flow of his eloquence a rich tapestry of social and diplomatic history seemed to glow around him.

"Have I awakened from a dream?" he cried, looking about at the stately pillars of the ambassador's residence, at the lingering roses in the sun-drenched garden. "Life begins anew for me on this glorious day."

A native Washingtonian, Charlie Browne has long been an institution in the capital's diplomatic world. He is a messenger by vocation. A college graduate, he also has become a friend of the great and a walking storehouse of unwritten history.

Tall, aristocratic Sir Roger bent to listen as little Charlie opened the floodgates of his memory.

Charlie spoke of kings and princesses...of balls and receptions...of beautiful women and handsomely dressed escorts...figures of a candle-lit era now vanished forever.

"There was Lord Pauncefote and his beautiful daughters," he recalled, eyes glowing. "With them, the social life of the capital came alive! A wonderful influence! A wonderful uplift!"

At last he paused, shook hands with the embassy officials gathered in his honor, and retired to his tidy little office, to his pictures of royalty—some autographed—and his day's work.

"Retire?" he said to a questioning reporter. "I'm too young to retire. That's for old people."

Government To Sell Virgin Islands Hotel

WASHINGTON, Oct 1 (AP)—The government announced today it wants to sell Bluebeard's Castle Hotel at Charlotte Amalie, Virgin Islands.

Secretary of the Interior McKay ordered the sale in his capacity as chairman of the Board of Directors of the Virgin Islands Corp.

The government built the hotel on St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands in the early 1930s with the idea of developing the tourist industry there.

McKay said the decision to sell the hotel is in line with "administration policy to divest itself of activities that properly belong in the field of private business."

Interior officials declined to reveal how much the government has invested in the hotel, pointing out that construction costs have increased its value.

An ancient Danish watchtower forms the nucleus of the hotel property which consists of 48 bedrooms in several buildings on a hill overlooking the harbor.

Ada Louise Ford Is Honored At Pre-Nuptial Parties

Is Fiancee Of H. F. Maffett

Two surprise pre-nuptial parties were given in complement to Miss Ada Louise Ford, fiancee of Hugh Fink Maffett, this week. The one was given by Mrs. Paul F. Gilford and the other by the girls working with the bride-elect at the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Miss Ford, daughter of Mrs. Mary L. Ford, 517 Lowell Avenue, and the late C. G. Ford, is to become the bride of Mr. Haffett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Haffett, Oakland, tomorrow. The ceremony is being solemnized at 2 p. m., in Trinity Lutheran Church, with Rev. John H. Albone, New York City, officiating, assisted by Rev. G. A. Wagner. Rev. Albone officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents and her own christening.

Mrs. Gilford entertained the bride-elect and her mother at a dinner party, after which the surprise miscellaneous shower was held. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Haney, Mrs. Ella Klavuhn, Mrs. Mary Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Cloid True, Mrs. Daniel McKenzie, Mrs. Albert Kiiffner, Mrs. Karl Kiiffner, Mrs. Ralph Reiter, Mrs. James Brown, Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Wagner, John Kiiffner, Miss Yvonne Harper, Miss Roberta Seitz, Miss Elizabeth Junas, Mrs. Emory Showman, Miss Lois True and Mrs. F. H. Knippenburg.

The women from the telephone company entertained with a surprise party in the form of a dinner at Anton's Big Savage Inn, and presented the honor guest with a gift of dishes and a utility table.

Hostesses were Miss Marie Hudson, Mrs. Alvin Davis, Mrs. Joseph Kenny, Miss Betty Bowman, Miss Dorothy Shumaker, Miss Marylea Judy, Miss Thomasine Frizzell, Mrs. Mary B. Perdew, Mrs. Leon Brown, Oakland; Mrs. Richard C. Broome, and Mrs. Jean Fletcher.

Miss Mary Louise Teter, class of 1954, and president of the Children of Mary Society, served as master of ceremonies for the program, and made a presentation to Sister Angela. Miss Vera Clark, class of 1956 extended the feast day greetings, and Miss Joan Powers, class of 1956, feast day wishes.

Features were a ballet dance by Miss Wanda Lee Oss, class of 1954 to "Merry Widow Waltz," Franz Lehar, with Miss Helen Thompson, class of 1954, accompanist; "A Four Leaf Clover," Wila Higgenson, Miss Jane Iliff, class of 1954; "A Campfire Serenade," "Kentucky Bebe," "In the Evening by the Moonlight," and "The Charleston," by Miss Elizabeth Miller and Miss JoAnn Stitcher; "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," and "When You Wore a Tulip," by a trio composed of Miss Shirley Green, Miss Carolyn Karlowa and Miss Angela Lupis; "In Heaven," by Miss Patricia Webb, class of 1954; a piano duet; "Dark Eyes," and a Russian Folk Song, by Miss Mary Margaret King and Miss Thompson, class of 1954.

The class of 1956 presented "A Little Bit of Heaven," with Miss Bonnie Jean Ward as announcer. Miss Frances Martirano portrayed Sister Angela; Miss Elizabeth Ayres, Saint Peter; Miss Mary Rita Coyle, Miss Kathleen Winner, portress; Miss Patricia Bosley, guard; Miss Doris Drumm, Miss Mary Elizabeth Crawford, Miss Joan Keyser, Miss Catherine Murray, Miss Dorothy McDade, Miss Joyce Powan and Miss Colleen Patton, angels with references.

Miss Frances Martirano was narrator for "Lady of Fatima," with the class of 1956 as the chorus.

Musical selections included the opening chorus, "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling," by the class of 1954; "Our Tribute," by the class of 1955 and the grand finale the Sacred Heart School song.

Refreshments were served concluding the program.

Turkey Grower Wins Verdict For $2,556

A Grantsville turkey grower yesterday was awarded a $2,556 verdict by a jury in Garrett County Circuit Court in a dispute which arose when he cancelled a contract to purchase young turkeys and his money was not refunded.

Daniel J. Hummel of Grantsville had sued John C. Faust and his wife, Cora, trading as Ephrata Hatcheries, Ephrata, Pa., for the $2,556 he had deposited in advance payment for the turkeys.

The Garrett Countian contended that he cancelled his order because delivery was not made at the time promised. The Pennsylvanians argued in defense that Hummel's cancellation of the order caused him to forfeit the money he had paid. The jury agreed with Hummel.

Hummel was represented by four attorneys, Neil C. Fraley, E. Ray Jones and Lewis R. Jones, all of Oakland, and Charles Nathan of Grantsville. Faust was represented by Attorney Stephen R. Pagenhardt.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the trial.

NEW CHURCH — Calvary Baptist Church is erecting this new concrete block and brick building at the north edge of Cresaptown to make more room for its growing congregation. The new building, to be completed by December 15, was started only ten days ago. The first phase of the job will include construction of a 50-by-80-foot ground floor section which will provide 10 Sunday school rooms and a large auditorium, at a cost of $27,000. The next phase, estimated to cost $30,000, will consist of the addition of a second story, which will include a much larger auditorium. The downstairs auditorium then will be partitioned to make room for more Sunday school classes and activities. Part of the new parsonage, completed only last year, is visible at the extreme right. J. H. Valentine, contractor for the brickwork is shown at lower left. Ray Coffman of Keyser, W. Va., is general contractor for the project. Rev. William L. Stroup is pastor.

New Supervisor Here Reports For Work, But In Baltimore

Frederic M. McCutchen, the new supervisor of special education for the Allegany County public schools, was scheduled to report for work on his new job yesterday, but in Baltimore instead of Cumberland.

McCutchen originally had planned to report here for his new job Monday. However, illness of his daughter in Philadelphia, caused the supervisor to delay his arrival.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster contacted McCutchen by phone and suggested that the supervisor meet him in Baltimore yesterday for the final session of the Pupil Personnel Conference sponsored by the State Department of Education. McCutchen expressed a hope that he could attend because the topic was special education and its relation to pupil personnel.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools; Robert W. Jones, Miss Esther Carter and Frederick H. Sheeley, visiting teachers, attended the four-day conference which ended yesterday.

Pa. Farmer Pleads Guilty To Murder

Somerset Man Says He Killed Brother's Wife

Refuses Counsel At His Hearing

Regis Leo Fochtman, 32-year-old Somerset County farmer who shot and killed his brother's English wife, pleaded guilty to a murder charge Wednesday and refused the services of legal counsel.

At a preliminary hearing in Somerset before Justice of the Peace H. S. Whiperman, the slayer admitted firing the shotgun blast which took the life of Mrs. Mary Kathleen Fochtman, 33, wife of Joseph Fochtman, RD 3, Berlin.

Pennsylvania State Police said he also confessed shooting and critically wounding the dead woman's father, James E. Heys, 58, of Stockton Chester, England. He remains in critical condition at Somerset Community Hospital with a head wound.

Tells Of Disputes

The arraignment followed a day of questioning in which the prisoner described events which led up to the shootings Monday night. A formal statement was taken prior to the hearing.

In his story, Regis related a series of disputes within the family, most of which revolved around the distribution of income from the farm on which they lived.

According to police, Regis and his brother, Joseph, acquired the 400-acre farm from their father several years ago. They were said to have reduced the mortgages to a small balance.

The officers stated Regis apparently felt that he should share more heavily in the farm profits.

Regis had been living on the same farm with Joseph and his wife. The disputes recently resulted in the couple making demands that Regis leave, according to officers.

Wounded Man Talks

The disagreements erupted into violence when Regis, according to his statements, got his shotgun and shot Mrs. Fochtman and her father as they sat in the kitchen of the farm home.

Heys was scheduled to return to England next month. Despite his severe wounds, police revealed he was able to give them a statement on the shooting. He related how Regis had shot his daughter and then turned the gun on him, according to officers.

The case brought international interest. American offices of large London daily newspapers called Somerset County authorities yesterday to obtain details of the shootings. The British Embassy was advised of the tragedy since Heys is a British subject.

Joseph Fochtman and his wife were married in 1945 in England. The victim of the shooting will be buried tomorrow in Schellsburg.

Meanwhile, Regis remains in Somerset County jail.

City Gets Fair Mark On Smoke Control

Cumberland received a fair rating on its smoke abatement program in an article by Beatrice Schapper in the current Woman's Home Companion.

A similar rating was given to Baltimore.

The evaluations resulted from the efforts cities are making to curb air pollution. Points considered included the number of teeth in anti-smoke laws, measures taken to curb smoke and dust and the interest shown by civic groups.

Diamond Jubilee Planned At Bean's Cove Parish

The diamond jubilee of the erection of the Church of Our Lady of Seven Dolors and the organization of the parish at Bean's Cove, Pa., will be observed Sunday. The parish is a mission of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

At 11 a. m. Sunday, a solemn high mass of thanksgiving will be celebrated. Rev. John C. Lipinski, OFM, Cap., pastor, will be celebrant; Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM, Cap., superior of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery, the deacon, and Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, sub-deacon. Master of ceremonies will be Rev. Diego Jose Pedraja, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church.

College Priest To Speak

The jubilee sermon will be delivered by Rev. Myles Schmitt, OFM, Cap., professor of Moral Theology and Canon Law at the Capuchin College, Washington.

Following the mass a dinner will be served in the cafeteria of SS. Peter and Paul School.

The church, of frame construction, is located at the base of Martin's Mountain in Bedford County. It was erected with the permission of Most Rev. John Twigg, bishop of the diocese of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, to which Bean's Cove first belonged. Since 1901, the parish has been in the Altoona (Pa.) diocese.

Very Rev. Edward Brennan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church and rural dean of Western Maryland, officiated at the dedication of the church on October 13, 1878.

Visited By Priests

Prior to the construction of the church, residents of the Bean's Cove area were visited by Cumberland priests. Masses were celebrated in private homes, in which religious instructions were also given and sacraments administered.

From the date of its dedication, the church has remained under the direction of the Capuchin Fathers of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery.

The first pastor was Very Rev. Francis Wolff, OFM, Cap. Since his death in 1881, 26 pastors have served the residents of the Cove.

In the last few years, the church has been wired for electricity and a heating system installed. Under construction is a parish hall, the work of which is expected to be completed before winter.

Elderly Man Hurt In Fall While Picking Up Clock

An alarm clock was blamed for an 84-year-old man winding up in Sacred Heart Hospital Wednesday with lacerations of the head and above the left eye.

Civil Service Board Rules On Seasonal Employes

The Civil Service Commission has announced the adoption of a rule governing "seasonal employes" among personnel employed by the City of Cumberland.

A letter dated September 30 was sent to all city departments, it stated:

"In the absence of any Civil Service rule governing seasonal employes, we have been asked by the Mayor and City Council to define and clarify what has become to be known as seasonal employes among the personnel employed by the City of Cumberland.

"The Civil Service Commission, in regular meeting on September 28, has adopted the following rule which will be Section 7 of Rule 6 of the Rules and Regulations of the Civil Service Commission of the City of Cumberland.

"Seasonal appointments shall include appointments made without test for a limit of one (1) day less than a six-month period. Individuals employes for seasonal or part-time work shall not acquire any seniority rights nor shall their employment be construed in any manner as a probationary period, nor is it renewable.

"Seasonal or part-time employes shall never automatically become full-time regular employment.'"

The rule is to become effective one week from the date of posting. Names listed on the notice were Leah Hafer, commission chairman, Ralph R. Webster and Fred E. Ryan.

Western Maryland Railway Gives Promotion To Francis Creegan, Mrs. Anna Hartung

The Western Maryland Railway yesterday announced the names of the successors of two veteran employes who were retired following the completion of their day's work Wednesday.

Francis J. Creegan, 608 Louisiana Avenue, was appointed chief train dispatcher, succeeding William E .Dorsey, and Mrs. Anna S. Hartung, 113 Tilghman Street, succeeds B. Harrison Carl as chief clerk in the division freight office here.

Also of local interest is retirement of Emery H. Miller, 87-year-old district agent for the Western Maryland at York, Pa. Miller was freight agent here about 35 years ago.

Others who were retired, effective today, included William C. Wisegarver, chief train dispatcher; J. C. Critchfield, coal tipple operator; George P. Sullivan, timekeeper, and Sevier S. Baumer, instrumentman.

Creegan is a veteran of 40 years service with the Western Maryland. He was first employed as a telegraph operator on July 17, 1913, on the Georges Creek and Cumberland Branch. He was promoted to train dispatcher in 1925, and then to chief dispatcher of the "second trick" in 1940.

Born in Gilmore, he is a son of Mrs. Lucy (Simpson) Creegan, 437 Henderson Avenue, and the late Edward F. Creegan. He is married to the former Miss Elsie Reuschel. They have two children, William Creegan, at home, and Mrs. Harold Warner, York.

Mrs. Hartung was first employed by the railroad on June 7, 1943, as chief clerk to the trainmaster and road foreman of engines in the Transportation Department. In 1951, she was promoted to analyst in the Traffic Department in the office of the Division Freight Agent.

Born in Mt. Savage, she had resided in this city since 1923. Mrs. Hartung attended Catherman's Business School and was graduated from Ursuline Business School. Prior to her service with the Western Maryland she was office manager for the War Price and Rationing Board in Cumberland.

Successors to the posts held by Critchfield, Baumer and Sullivan will be taken from "bids" of employes from the separate departments concerned.

No Rotary Meet Planned

A spokesman for the Board of Directors of the Cumberland Rotary Club said no meeting will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA as previously stated.

Husbands who desert their homes outnumber the wives who walk out on their families by about 14 to one in the United States.

Somerset Man Says He Killed Brother's Wife

Refuses Counsel At His Hearing

Regis Leo Fochtman, 32-year-old Somerset County farmer who shot and killed his brother's English wife, pleaded guilty to a murder charge Wednesday and refused the services of legal counsel.

At a preliminary hearing in Somerset before Justice of the Peace H. S. Whiperman, the slayer admitted firing the shotgun blast which took the life of Mrs. Mary Kathleen Fochtman, 33, wife of Joseph Fochtman, RD 3, Berlin.

Pennsylvania State Police said he also confessed shooting and critically wounding the dead woman's father, James E. Heys, 58, of Stockton Chester, England. He remains in critical condition at Somerset Community Hospital with a head wound.

The arraignment followed a day of questioning in which the prisoner described events which led up to the shootings Monday night. A formal statement was taken prior to the hearing.

In his story, Regis related a series of disputes within the family, most of which revolved around the distribution of income from the farm on which they lived.

According to police, Regis and his brother, Joseph, acquired the 400-acre farm from their father several years ago. They were said to have reduced the mortgages to a small balance.

The officers stated Regis apparently felt that he should share more heavily in the farm profits.

Regis had been living on the same farm with Joseph and his wife. The disputes recently resulted in the couple making demands that Regis leave, according to officers.

Wounded Man Talks

The disagreements erupted into violence when Regis, according to his statements, got his shotgun and shot Mrs. Fochtman and her father as they sat in the kitchen of the farm home.

Heys was scheduled to return to England next month. Despite his severe wounds, police revealed he was able to give them a statement on the shooting. He related how Regis had shot his daughter and then turned the gun on him, according to officers.

The case brought international interest. American offices of large London daily newspapers called Somerset County authorities yesterday to obtain details of the shootings. The British Embassy was advised of the tragedy since Heys is a British subject.

Joseph Fochtman and his wife were married in 1945 in England. The victim of the shooting will be buried tomorrow in Schellsburg.

Meanwhile, Regis remains in Somerset County jail.

City Gets Fair Mark On Smoke Control

Cumberland received a fair rating on its smoke abatement program in an article by Beatrice Schapper in the current Woman's Home Companion.

A similar rating was given to Baltimore.

The evaluations resulted from the efforts cities are making to curb air pollution. Points considered included the number of teeth in anti-smoke laws, measures taken to curb smoke and dust and the interest shown by civic groups.

Diamond Jubilee Planned At Bean's Cove Parish

The diamond jubilee of the erection of the Church of Our Lady of Seven Dolors and the organization of the parish at Bean's Cove, Pa., will be observed Sunday. The parish is a mission of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

At 11 a. m. Sunday, a solemn high mass of thanksgiving will be celebrated. Rev. John C. Lipinski, OFM, Cap., pastor, will be celebrant; Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM, Cap., superior of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery, the deacon, and Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church, sub-deacon. Master of ceremonies will be Rev. Diego Jose Pedraja, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church.

College Priest To Speak

The jubilee sermon will be delivered by Rev. Myles Schmitt, OFM, Cap., professor of Moral Theology and Canon Law at the Capuchin College, Washington.

Following the mass a dinner will be served in the cafeteria of SS. Peter and Paul School.

The church, of frame construction, is located at the base of Martin's Mountain in Bedford County. It was erected with the permission of Most Rev. John Twigg, bishop of the diocese of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, to which Bean's Cove first belonged. Since 1901, the parish has been in the Altoona (Pa.) diocese.

Very Rev. Edward Brennan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church and rural dean of Western Maryland, officiated at the dedication of the church on October 13, 1878.

Visited By Priests

Prior to the construction of the church, residents of the Bean's Cove area were visited by Cumberland priests. Masses were celebrated in private homes, in which religious instructions were also given and sacraments administered.

From the date of its dedication, the church has remained under the direction of the Capuchin Fathers of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery.

The first pastor was Very Rev. Francis Wolff, OFM, Cap. Since his death in 1881, 26 pastors have served the residents of the Cove.

In the last few years, the church has been wired for electricity and a heating system installed. Under construction is a parish hall, the work of which is expected to be completed before winter.

Elderly Man Hurt In Fall While Picking Up Clock

An alarm clock was blamed for an 84-year-old man winding up in Sacred Heart Hospital Wednesday with lacerations of the head and above the left eye.

Police said Charles R. Rhodes, of Hyndman, dropped the timepiece while crossing at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre Streets.

Local Sailor Serves In Exercise Mariner

Donald Herman Dolan, a gunner's mate, is serving on the destroyer, USS Leary, which is participating in Operation Mariner of the NATO countries. He is a son of Mrs. Pearl Dolan, 129 Maple Street.

ENTER ST. JOHN'S—Two Cumberland students, Janice S. Shuck and Robert E. Jones, Jr., have entered St. John's College in Annapolis. Miss Shuck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shuck, 636 Bedford Street. Jones is the son of Mrs. Robert Blair, of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Civil Service Board Rules On Seasonal Employes

The Civil Service Commission has announced the adoption of a rule governing "seasonal employes" among personnel employed by the City of Cumberland.

A letter dated September 30 was sent to all city departments, it stated:

"In the absence of any Civil Service rule governing seasonal employes, we have been asked by the Mayor and City Council to define and clarify what has become to be known as seasonal employes among the personnel employed by the City of Cumberland.

"The Civil Service Commission, in regular meeting on September 28, has adopted the following rule which will be Section 7 of Rule 6 of the Rules and Regulations of the Civil Service Commission of the City of Cumberland.

"Seasonal appointments shall include appointments made without test for a limit of one (1) day less than a six-month period. Individuals employes for seasonal or part-time work shall not acquire any seniority rights nor shall their employment be construed in any manner as a probationary period, nor is it renewable.

"Seasonal or part-time employes shall never automatically become full-time regular employment.' "

The rule is to become effective one week from the date of posting. Names listed on the notice were Leah Hafer, commission chairman, Ralph R. Webster and Fred E. Ryan.

Western Maryland Railway Gives Promotion To Francis Creegan, Mrs. Anna Hartung

The Western Maryland Railway yesterday announced the names of the successors of two veteran employes who were retired following the completion of their day's work Wednesday.

Francis J. Creegan, 608 Louisiana Avenue, was appointed chief train dispatcher, succeeding William E .Dorsey, and Mrs. Anna S. Hartung, 113 Tilghman Street, succeeds B. Harrison Carl as chief clerk in the division freight office here.

Also of local interest is retirement of Emery H. Miller, 87-year-old district agent for the Western Maryland at York, Pa. Miller was freight agent here about 35 years ago.

Others who were retired, effective today, included William C. Wisegarver, chief train dispatcher; J. C. Critchfield, coal tipple operator; George P. Sullivan, timekeeper, and Sevier S. Baumer, instrumentman.

Creegan is a veteran of 40 years service with the Western Maryland. He was first employed as a telegraph operator on July 17, 1913, on the Georges Creek and Cumberland Branch. He was promoted to train dispatcher in 1925, and then to chief dispatcher of the "second trick" in 1940.

Born in Gilmore, he is a son of Mrs. Lucy (Simpson) Creegan, 437 Henderson Avenue, and the late Edward F. Creegan. He is married to the former Miss Elsie Reuschel. They have two children, William Creegan, at home, and Mrs. Harold Warner, York.

Mrs. Hartung was first employed by the railroad on June 7, 1943, as chief clerk to the trainmaster and road foreman of engines in the Transportation Department. In 1951, she was promoted to analyst in the Traffic Department in the office of the Division Freight Agent.

Born in Mt. Savage, she had resided in this city since 1923. Mrs. Hartung attended Catherman's Business School and was graduated from Ursuline Business School. Prior to her service with the Western Maryland she was office manager for the War Price and Rationing Board in Cumberland.

Successors to the posts held by Critchfield, Baumer and Sullivan will be taken from "bids" of employes from the separate departments concerned.

No Rotary Meet Planned

A spokesman for the Board of Directors of the Cumberland Rotary Club said no meeting will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA as previously stated.

Husbands who desert their homes outnumber the wives who walk out on their families by about 14 to one in the United States.

Adlai Stevenson Suggested For Presidency Of U. Of Md.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson has been suggested for the presidency of the University of Maryland, the chairman of the university's board of regents said today.

Federal Judge William P. Cole Jr., the board chairman, said the former Illinois governor and Democratic presidential candidate, was one of about two dozen men whose names have been suggested.

Judge Cole said the committee of regents named to recommend a new president has not actually considered the suggestions or negotiated with anyone for the job. He said he expected "something concrete in a couple of months."

There was a report several weeks ago former President Truman was being considered. He said he wasn't interested in a university job.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, present head of the school, has asked the regents to find a successor so he may retire. It is expected he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in Maryland's primaries next Spring.

Sasscer Won't Run For Congress Seat

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — A wide open primary contest for the 5th District seat in Congress was apparent today on the heels of an announcement by former Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer that he will not be a candidate next year.

Sasscer, who gave up his seat to try unsuccessfully for the Senate last year, made the statement last night at a Prince George's County Young Men's Democratic Club banquet here.

Richard Lankford, Annapolis attorney who won the Democratic nomination last year but lost the election to Republican Frank Small, is expected to try again. Another probable contender is Walter Green of Prince George's County, who finished close behind Lankford in the 1952 primary.

Italian Paratroops "Invade" Sicily

TRAPANI, Sicily, Oct. 1 (AP)—Italian parachutists and airborne troops poured from the skies today in a mock invasion of Sicily that launched one of the biggest allied maneuvers since World War II.

Simultaneously, waves of jet and propeller-driven aircraft from the carriers Franklin D. Roosevelt and Coral Sea of the U. S. 6th Fleet blasted targets in northern Italy. A 75-ship amphibious task force steamed toward the Strait of Nessina, which separates Sicily from the Italian mainland.

The week-long exercise, dubbed "Operation Weldfast," will involve more than 100,000 fighting men from Turkey, Greece, Italy, the United States and Britain before it ends with an amphibious landing in Greece.

End To Segregation In Postal Dept. Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked Postmaster General Summerfield to eliminate all racial segregation among Post Office Department employes and patrons.

In a letter made public today, the association supported a protest by John Leflore of its Mobile Ala., unit that segregation exists in locker rooms and job assignments throughout the South.

Child Is Strangled By Her Undershirt

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 1 (AP) —A 17-month-old girl was hanged accidentally today in the few minutes she was left alone while her mother went for groceries.

Dr. E. W. Ditto, acting county medical examiner, signed a certificate of accidental death after investigating the case.

Police Capt. J. B. Brown said Brenda Mae Grove's undershirt caught on a bed post as the little girl slipped from the bed on which she had been left. The undershirt was pulled tight around her throat and strangled her.

Mrs. Braden H. Grove, the mother, had gone 100 yards to the neighborhood store. The father has been away, working in another city.

West Va. Bank Robbers Caught

BUFFALO, W. Va., Oct. 1 (AP)—Three bandits held up the Bank of Buffalo today but state police caught them before they could get out of the county and recovered the $9,585 loot.

The three were captured at a police barricade on a back road less than three hours after the robbery.

State Police Capt. J. B. Jack identified them as Clair Starcher, 41, Harold Page, 47, and Robert Combs, 22, all of Charleston, W. Va. They were charged with bank robbery.

Three women employes were the only ones in the bank when two of the trio walked in just before 10 a.m. One brandished a gun. They were not masked. They scooped up the money from counters in the tellers' cages.

Jack said the women identified the two men who had invaded the bank when they were returned here after their capture. The third had stayed in the getaway car.

Buffalo is a town of 333, about 34 miles northwest of Charleston.

Would-Be Robbers Picked On Wrong Man

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 1 (AP)—Everett Newton, 53-year-old filling station operator here, wasn't about to give up his money when two holdup men walked into his station early today.

One of the men hit Newton with his fist but Newton hit back and grabbed a wrench. The second man drew a gun as the first lammed it out of the station. His gun-toting pal yelled for him to come back, got no response and followed him out.

A short time later, Laurel police picked up Arthur Gurard, 19, of Clarksburg, W. Va., and charged him with assault with intent to rob. They are still looking for his companion.

Baltimore's Port Closed As 8,000 Dockers Strike

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — Eight thousand ILA longshoremen closed down the Port of Baltimore in a strike today, but a union leader said he'd order the men back to work "as soon as the United States Marshal hands me a summons."

August Idzik, international vice president of the ILA, made the statement when told that President Eisenhower was invoking the Taft-Hartley act against the striking longshoremen.

Government action under the labor law is not expected until Monday.

There was no picketing along the Baltimore waterfront.

"It's a 100 per cent walkout," one union official said. "We don't have to picket."

Idzik said there would be no picketing unless members of the AFL International Seafarers International Union made an attempt to unload ships at the piers. An SIU spokesman said, however, that members had no plans to work ships idled by the walkout.

Idzik blamed the strike action by Baltimore locals on "the action of the AFL in trying to force the new organization down our throats."

"We in Baltimore," he added, "bitterly oppose the manner and methods that are being forced upon our membership."

He did not elaborate, but his reference was to the attempt by the AFL to set up a new longshoremen's union. The ILA was expelled from the AFL on grounds of criminal infestation.

Government Reports No Evidence Of Slump

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Commerce Department reported today "the pace of industrial activity is being maintained" in the United States despite the predictions of some economists that there would be a slight slump this fall.

It cited as evidence the unemployment figures for September.

The department's Census Bureau estimated there were 1,246,000 unemployed persons in the country last month, compared with the postwar record low of 1,240,000 in August of this year.

Civilian employment in September was due almost entirely to the usual withdrawal of students at the start of the school term," said Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

"It is significant that unemployment remained practically unchanged."

The Census Bureau rates as "unemployed" any person wanting to work but lacking a job.

Trooper Given Reprimand As Official Denies Asking Him To Fix Traffic Ticket

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—A state trooper who complained that a Prince Georges County assistant attorney had asked him to "fix" a speeding ticket received an official reprimand today.

The trooper, W. R. Carpenter, was given an official scolding for "public criticism of the office of the state's attorney for Prince Georges County."

The reprimand was issued by Col. Elmer Munshower, superintendent of State Police.

Carpenter had told newsmen that Assistant State's Attorney Grover Small asked that a speeding summons issued to a Baltimore man, Albert C. Isella, be set aside. The ticket was for doing 50 on a 25-mile per hour zone on the Baltimore-Washingon Boulevard.

Small denied asking Carpenter to fix the ticket, stating that he had simply called the trooper and told him of disposition of the case as a matter of "courtesy."

The charge was not prosecuted. Munshower said a decision to nolle prosse (not prosecute) a case is up to the state's attorneys and their assistants.

He added that "no evidence was found of wholesale fixing of cases in that (Prince Georges) or any other district."

Pope To Forego Audience

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Vatican said tonight Pope Pius would forego his usual two-week audiences this year, presumably because of the large number of tourists still visiting Rome.

Midwest Has More Summery Weather

[By The Associated Press]

Summery weather paid another call to the mid-continent Thursday running temperatures into the 90s from Texas to the Dakotas.

Fort Worth, Tex., had an afternoon reading of 95 degrees; Miles City, Mont., and Pierre, S. D., 93, and Springfield, Ill., 90.

Afternoon readings in the 80s prevailed from the mid-Atlantic states to the Missouri Valley.

Cooler weather pushed into the Northwest. Afternoon temperatures were in the 50s. Occasional rain mixed with snow splattered the higher mountain slopes of the Rockies and Cascades.

Md. Tax Dodger Drive Planned

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — The Baltimore office of the Internal Revenue Service said today it will launch next Monday a drive to collect federal income taxes from delinquents, starting among government workers in and around Washington.

L. A. Chamberlin, director of the Baltimore office, said he is putting more than 100 agents into the Washington area for the crackdown.

The Baltimore office handles the collection of federal taxes throughout Maryland and in the District of Columbia.

Chamberlin estimated there are about 75,000 delinquent taxpayers in the district, owing the government about 14 million dollars.

The crackdown will be carried out in a pilot area which Chamberlin estimates has 30,000 government workers. In addition to Washington itself, it includes Montgomery, Prince Georges, and Anne Arundel Counties, plus an area around Baltimore.

If it is successful, Chamberlin indicated, it will be extended to other counties of Maryland.

Baltimore's Port Closed As 8,000 Dockers Strike

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — Eight thousand ILA longshoremen closed down the Port of Baltimore in a strike today, but a union leader said he'd order the men back to work "as soon as the United States Marshal hands me a summons."

August Idzik, international vice president of the ILA, made the statement when told that President Eisenhower was invoking the Taft-Hartley act against the striking longshoremen.

Government action under the labor law is not expected until Monday.

There was no picketing along the Baltimore waterfront.

"It's a 100 per cent walkout," one union official said. "We don't have to picket."

Idzik said there would be no picketing unless members of the AFL International Seafarers International Union made an attempt to unload ships at the piers. An SIU spokesman said, however, that members had no plans to work ships idled by the walkout.

Idzik blamed the strike action by Baltimore locals on "the action of the AFL in trying to force the new organization down our throats."

"We in Baltimore," he added, "bitterly oppose the manner and methods that are being forced upon our membership."

He did not elaborate, but his reference was to the attempt by the AFL to set up a new longshoremen's union. The ILA was expelled from the AFL on grounds of criminal infestation.

Government Reports No Evidence Of Slump

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Commerce Department reported today "the pace of industrial activity is being maintained" in the United States despite the predictions of some economists that there would be a slight slump this fall.

It cited as evidence the unemployment figures for September.

The department's Census Bureau estimated there were 1,246,000 unemployed persons in the country last month, compared with the postwar record low of 1,240,000 in August of this year.

Civilian employment in September was due almost entirely to the usual withdrawal of students at the start of the school term," said Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

"It is significant that unemployment remained practically unchanged."

The Census Bureau rates as "unemployed" any person wanting to work but lacking a job.

CANCER ENDS EARLY CHRISTMAS—Santa Claus brightens the last painful hours for Bobby Boeseman, 4, in Saddle River, N. J., as the boy's parents and sister, Kathy, help him celebrate an early Christmas. Bobby died of cancer a few hours after townspeople had given him the party he had dreamed of. A day later and Christmas would have been too late.

Trooper Given Reprimand As Official Denies Asking Him To Fix Traffic Ticket

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—A state trooper who complained that a Prince Georges County assistant attorney had asked him to "fix" a speeding ticket received an official reprimand today.

The trooper, W. R. Carpenter, was given an official scolding for "public criticism of the office of the state's attorney for Prince Georges County."

The reprimand was issued by Col. Elmer Munshower, superintendent of State Police.

Carpenter had told newsmen that Assistant State's Attorney Grover Small asked that a speeding summons issued to a Baltimore man, Albert C. Isella, be set aside. The ticket was for doing 50 on a 25-mile per hour zone on the Baltimore-Washingon Boulevard.

Small denied asking Carpenter to fix the ticket, stating that he had simply called the trooper and told him of disposition of the case as a matter of "courtesy."

The charge was not prosecuted. Munshower said a decision to nolle prosse (not prosecute) a case is up to the state's attorneys and their assistants.

He added that "no evidence was found of wholesale fixing of cases in that (Prince Georges) or any other district."

Pope To Forego Audience

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Vatican said tonight Pope Pius would forego his usual two-week audiences this year, presumably because of the large number of tourists still visiting Rome.

Md. Tax Dodger Drive Planned

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — The Baltimore office of the Internal Revenue Service said today it will launch next Monday a drive to collect federal income taxes from delinquents, starting among government workers in and around Washington.

L. A. Chamberlin, director of the Baltimore office, said he is putting more than 100 agents into the Washington area for the crackdown.

The Baltimore office handles the collection of federal taxes throughout Maryland and in the District of Columbia.

Chamberlin estimated there are about 75,000 delinquent taxpayers in the district, owing the government about 14 million dollars.

The crackdown will be carried out in a pilot area which Chamberlin estimates has 30,000 government workers. In addition to Washington itself, it includes Montgomery, Prince Georges, and Anne Arundel Counties, plus an area around Baltimore.

If it is successful, Chamberlin indicated, it will be extended to other counties of Maryland.

Midwest Has More Summery Weather

[By The Associated Press]

Summery weather paid another call to the mid-continent Thursday running temperatures into the 90s from Texas to the Dakotas.

Fort Worth, Tex., had an afternoon reading of 95 degrees; Miles City, Mont., and Pierre, S. D., 93, and Springfield, Ill., 90.

Afternoon readings in the 80s prevailed from the mid-Atlantic states to the Missouri Valley.

Cooler weather pushed into the Northwest. Afternoon temperatures were in the 50s. Occasional rain mixed with snow splattered the higher mountain slopes of the Rockies and Cascades.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK—(INS)—Sad sight 'midst all the hubbub and hilarity on the eve of the World Series: Ex-Czar of Baseball Happy Chandler sitting in Toots Shor's with Kiyoshi Miyahara, president of the non-pro baseball association of Japan, and several Japanese friends.

"Staying for the series, Hap?" a friend asked.

Chandler shook his head.

"Wouldn't look right, I guess," he said.

Carl Hubbell, one of the all-time all-timers, was stopped at the press gate at the Yankee Stadium on the opening day of the series. The man whose pitching in the 1936 and 1937 series filled the place, and whose various records may never be equalled, had misplaced his ticket. A stadium cop wouldn't let him in until a friend intervened.

Hub's modest manner and patience in the face of knuckle-brained obstructionism recalls a pitching predecessor who in all probability will one day be canonized: Walter Johnson.

One hot summer day in Washington (ed. note: This establishes a new AAU record for redundance) a pest got a death grip on Johnson's lapel, backed him in the corner of a hotel lobby, and talked to him until Walter's shirt melted. Johnson kept nodding, pleasantly, until the guy ran out of words and freed him.

Goose Goslin walked over to Johnson after that and said, "Walter, why in heaven's name would you stand still that long for a bum like that?"

Walter looked down uneasily at the carpet and said, "He was telling me he went to school with my sister."

That stopped Goose. "I'm sorry," he said. "I didn't even know you had a sister, Walter."

Walter swallowed unhappily.

"I haven't," he said. "I just hate to hurt anybody's feelings."

Educational note:

A small child named Deborah toured our household from end to end yesterday, kissing all of us. When I got mine, she looked at me with sad courage and said:

"Good-bye."

"Good-bye?"

"I'll never see you again," the child said, causing us to splatter half of a perfectly good martini.

"Why, dear?"

"I'm going to kindergarten tomorrow."

I asked her if she had dreamed about the great event and she said, with dancing eyes:

"Yes. I walked into the kindergarten and it was filled . . . all boys."

The short fat lady with a heavy Spanish accent was standing outside the Yankee Stadium, hours after the series game. It was dark and the streets were abandoned. Some reporters trudged out, lugging portables that seem to grow heavier with the passing of the years.

"Is Joe DiMaggio still in there?" she asked. "I've waited so long."

"He left the team a couple years ago," a writer said.

"Don't I know!" she bridled. "He was here today as a fan . . . Like me. Only reason I came, to see him . . . not these new fellows. I love him."

"You know him?" I asked.

She seemed quite startled as she gasped:

"Oh . . . No! I've never met him in my life."

Country's Oldest Continuous Newspaper Honored At Start Of National Press Week

By ARTHUR EDSON

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 1 (AP)—A newspaper that has survived almost every possible disaster—including burning at the hands of the federal troops—was honored today in ceremonies opening National Newspaper Week.

Publishers and editors gathered at the Alexandria Gazette, the oldest daily newspaper in continuous publication in this country.

The paper here in George Washington's old home town began as a weekly in 1784, and became a daily on April 14, 1797.

The slogan of newspaper week is "An Informed Press—an Informed People."

The Gazette had much the same idea 156 years ago. In that first edition, right next to a snappy ad for horsewhips, it laid down its policy:

"They (the editors) only observe that every exertion shall be used to procure and communicate the latest intelligence, and to render their paper, in every respect, worthy of the attention of the public."

A highlight of today's ceremonies: Mrs. Julia Snowden Carpenter, a great, great granddaughter of one of the Gazette's founders, ran off a copy of that first paper on an old hand press.

Mrs. Carpenter's father, Dr. Edgar Snowden, also was on hand. Now a vigorous 73-year-old Washington physician, Snowden worked on the paper summers while he was going to medical school.

"The paper did all right by us," Snowden said. "It supported the family for 111 years."

His father finally sold out because (1) his health was failing and (2) he figured Alexandria was a town with a lot of past and not much future.

"For years," Snowden said, "the population had stayed right at 15,000.

Then came World War I and II, and the nation's capital, across the Potomac, grew until it overflowed in all directions. Present Alexandria pop.: 75,000.

Snowden said, no doubt about it, the family had its roughest time during the Civil War when the town was occupied by federal troops.

"Indignity Against Church: "Arrest of Minister While at Prayer in a Church—Great Excitement."

It's a little hard now to decide what the crime was that brought the arrest of the Rev. Kenzie Johns Stewart while he prayed in St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Anyway, Snowden said, "the story raised such a fuss that the troops burned the paper, and even cut the hose, so there would be no way to put the fire out. But in spite of all that, they managed to keep on publishing a paper."

Every day nearly 2,500,000 Americans use some kind of nursing service—in homes, hospitals, public-health clinics, schools or in the places where they work.

Fort Dix, N. J., established as Camp Dix in 1917, was named after Maj. Gen. John Adams Dix, a Civil war commander and ex-governor of New York.

West Virginia Bankers To Hear World Traveler

KEYSER—Major Joel B. Guin, who will speak at the fall social meeting of Group 7, West Virginia Bankers Association, will tell bankers from eight Eastern West Virginia counties that American management is greater than all secret weapons.

Bankers from Pendleton, Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Berkeley, Morgan, Jefferson and Mineral counties will meet at the Keyser Fire Hall Saturday evening.

In the afternoon, it is expected that some of the group, visiting and local, will go to the football game between Potomac State College and George Washington University Junior varsity. The representatives of 19 banks in the area will find a well rounded program prepared for them.

A brief business session will be held in the Fire Hall, following which, at 7 p. m., dinner will be served to the group in Davis Hall dining room, at Potomac State College. Major Guin, world traveller, lecturer and educator, will speak on "America Unlimited," in which he will discuss present conditions in the financial world. The major is thoroughly qualified to discuss world affairs because of his training and experience. He is expected to show and describe how totalitarianism, or statism stifles initiative in every nation where it has been tried.

J. Lee Temple, cashier of the National Bank of Keyser, president of the association, is host chairman for the meeting here. Other officers include Eugene Ailes, Romney, secretary, and Edgar Trout, of the Citizens National Bank, Martinsburg, vice-president.

Galumbeck and her daughter; Jerry Delaney, son of Eugene Delaney, with Sandy Rogers holding the mount. The Beall Band last night toured Frostburg, playing on different streets under direction of Frank R. Munson, director, as part of a program aimed at raising funds for new uniforms for the band.

Keyser Kids Day Drive Is Termed Successful

KEYSER — The third annual "Kids' Day" program sponsored by Kiwanis International was conducted in Keyser by the Keyser Kiwanis Club, resulting in contributions of approximately $215 on Saturday.

The Kiwanians, who conducted a stand on Main Street, were assisted by a group of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts who called on persons in their homes in different parts of the city and contacted others on the street.

President Harrison Fuller and the committee in charge of the Kids' Day program here expressed themselves as pleased with the result this year, as it was better than the year before.

The money will be used to assist worthy boys and girls who might otherwise not be able to pay for hot school lunches during the school term. The money will be used for this purpose as long as there is any money in the fund.

The following Boy Scouts aided in raising the fund: Herbert Rankin, George Taylor, Thomas Kennedy, Daniel Avers, James Handlan III, John Barger, George Barger II and Kenneth Carvey.

West Virginia Bankers To Hear World Traveler

KEYSER—Major Joel B. Guin, who will speak at the fall social meeting of Group 7, West Virginia Bankers Association, will tell bankers from eight Eastern West Virginia counties that American management is greater than all secret weapons.

Bankers from Pendleton, Grant, Hardy, Hampshire, Berkeley, Morgan, Jefferson and Mineral counties will meet at the Keyser Fire Hall Saturday evening.

In the afternoon, it is expected that some of the group, visiting and local, will go to the football game between Potomac State College and George Washington University Junior varsity. The representatives of 19 banks in the area will find a well rounded program prepared for them.

A brief business session will be held in the Fire Hall, following which, at 7 p. m., dinner will be served to the group in Davis Hall dining room, at Potomac State College. Major Guin, world traveller, lecturer and educator, will speak on "America Unlimited," in which he will discuss present conditions in the financial world. The major is thoroughly qualified to discuss world affairs because of his training and experience. He is expected to show and describe how totalitarianism, or statism stifles initiative in every nation where it has been tried.

J. Lee Temple, cashier of the National Bank of Keyser, president of the association, is host chairman for the meeting here. Other officers include Eugene Ailes, Romney, secretary, and Edgar Trout, of the Citizens National Bank, Martinsburg, vice-president.

Parsons Personals

Keyser Kids Day Drive Is Termed Successful

KEYSER — The third annual "Kids' Day" program sponsored by Kiwanis International was conducted in Keyser by the Keyser Kiwanis Club, resulting in contributions of approximately $215 on Saturday.

The Kiwanians, who conducted a stand on Main Street, were assisted by a group of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts who called on persons in their homes in different parts of the city and contacted others on the street.

President Harrison Fuller and the committee in charge of the Kids' Day program here expressed themselves as pleased with the result this year, as it was better than the year before.

The money will be used to assist worthy boys and girls who might otherwise not be able to pay for hot school lunches during the school term. The money will be used for this purpose as long as there is any money in the fund.

The following Boy Scouts aided in raising the fund: Herbert Rankin, George Taylor, Thomas Kennedy, Daniel Avers, James Handlan III, John Barger, George Barger II and Kenneth Carvey.

County Schools Will Be Closed October 15, 16

Allegany County public schools will be closed October 15 and 16 as a result of the state convention of the Maryland Teachers Association in Baltimore.

More than 13,000 teachers will convene in the Fifth Regiment Armory for the event with three general sessions and an exhibition scheduled. The exhibition will have displays by 235 school suppliers and various educational units will also be shown.

Speakers include Dr. Arthur Schlesinger Jr., professor at Harvard University and Pulitzer Prize winner; Dr. Evelyn M. Duvall, author and consultant in the field of family life education; Dr. John H. Fischer, superintendent of public instruction for Baltimore City and Eddy Gilmore, former chief of the Moscow bureau of the Associated Press. He also is a Pulitzer Prize winner for his interview in 1947 with the late Joseph Stalin.

A group of Allegany County students will leave here on October 13 to be on hand for a rehearsal of choral and musical units to be held on October 14.

Mental Hygiene Clinic Work Here Expanded To Include Many Phases

The Mental Hygiene Clinic of the Allegany County Health Department, set up in April 1948 under the supervision of Dr. Roger Gardner, superintendent of the Springfield State Hospital, has been expanded to include many phases.

The original two-days-a-month schedule has been increased, although members of the state hospital staff still operate on that basis. Dr. Gertrude M. Gross of the Springfield State staff, serves as director of the mental hygiene clinic. She comes here twice a month and usually works with children.

A local physician, Dr. Richard W. Trevaskis Jr., holds clinics on Friday mornings for adults. Mrs. William Van Newkirk, Frostburg, is the psychologist and administers various tests. The psychiatric social worker is Mrs. Aden L. Everstine—the only full-time member of the clinic team.

The salaries of the clinic team are paid for by the State Department of Health, and the expenses for Dr. Gross and Mrs. VanNewkirk are paid by Allegany County.

Mrs. Everstine's work calls for her to select the cases which can utilize psychiatric treatment in the local clinic, help with arrangements for patients committed to Springfield State Hospital, assist with admissions to Rosewood Training School, and plan programs of treatment with psychiatrists, with available community resources and community education.

As a direct result of having Dr. Trevaskis conduct half-day clinics each week in supplement to the two-days-a-month clinic by Dr. Gross, the emphasis of the mental hygiene clinic is on treatment instead of being a diagnostic clinic.

Seventy-eight patients were admitted to the clinic during 1952-53 in contrast to 120 that were interviewed in 1951-1952. Another example is: 143 patients were interviewed in 1948-1949, the first year of the clinic. However, of the 78 patients seen this past year, the psychiatrists had 307 interviews, and the psychiatric social worker had 463 interviews.

In 1951-52, the psychiatrists had 274 interviews, and the psychiatric social worker had 222 interviews. Patients are seen for a series of psychiatric interviews for treatment, which has been one of the chief goals of the Mental Hygiene Clinic. Another service offered is electric shock treatment, which prior to this year was not available.

From May, through August of this year, Mrs. Everstine worked with Southern High School in Oakland, the Garrett County Welfare Department and the Garrett County Health Department. Conferences were held with each department in selecting patients who could utilize the services of the clinic.

It is interesting to note that of the 20 patients interviewed, it was necessary for only two to be interviewed by the psychologist and psychiatrist in Cumberland. With the remaining 18, the psychiatric social worker was able to make the necessary plans for treatment with the resources available in Garrett County.

The mental hygiene clinic work also includes the coverage of parolees from Springfield State Hospital. Instead of receiving monthly reports of the parole status of each Allegany County patient, the hospital sends a weekly sheet to the clinic as to admissions, paroles and elopements (technical term for escapees).

Each patient on parole is interviewed on the eleventh month by Mrs. Everstine to determine whether to continue on the parole for another year or not. Forty-nine parolees were interviewed this past year; 38 relatives were also seen by the psychiatric social worker; there were 45 interviews in the office and nine home visits.

Rosewood Training School is directing all requests for admission to the mental Hygiene clinic for evaluation. Each admission receives service from each clinic member; listing the social history, medical history, psychological study and psychiatric examination of the person concerned.

During the past year, Dr. Gross, Dr. Trevaskis and Mrs. VanNewkirk assisted Mrs. Everstine in leading various discussion groups on mental health topics. Forty-two speeches were given by the members of the clinic.

Seventy-eight patients were admitted to the clinic during 1952-53 in contrast to 120 that were interviewed in 1951-1952. Another example is: 143 patients were interviewed in 1948-1949, the first year of the clinic. However, of the 78 patients seen this past year, the psychiatrists had 307 interviews, and the psychiatric social worker had 463 interviews.

In 1951-52, the psychiatrists had 274 interviews, and the psychiatric social worker had 222 interviews. Patients are seen for a series of psychiatric interviews for treatment, which has been one of the chief goals of the Mental Hygiene Clinic. Another service offered is electric shock treatment, which prior to this year was not available.

From May, through August of this year, Mrs. Everstine worked with Southern High School in Oakland, the Garrett County Welfare Department and the Garrett County Health Department. Conferences were held with each department in selecting patients who could utilize the services of the clinic.

It is interesting to note that of the 20 patients interviewed, it was necessary for only two to be interviewed by the psychologist and psychiatrist in Cumberland. With the remaining 18, the psychiatric social worker was able to make the necessary plans for treatment with the resources available in Garrett County.

The mental hygiene clinic work also includes the coverage of parolees from Springfield State Hospital. Instead of receiving monthly reports of the parole status of each Allegany County patient, the hospital sends a weekly sheet to the clinic as to admissions, paroles and elopements (technical term for escapees).

Each patient on parole is interviewed on the eleventh month by Mrs. Everstine to determine whether to continue on the parole for another year or not. Forty-nine parolees were interviewed this past year; 38 relatives were also seen by the psychiatric social worker; there were 45 interviews in the office and nine home visits.

Rosewood Training School is directing all requests for admission to the mental Hygiene clinic for evaluation. Each admission receives service from each clinic member; listing the social history, medical history, psychological study and psychiatric examination of the person concerned.

During the past year, Dr. Gross, Dr. Trevaskis and Mrs. VanNewkirk assisted Mrs. Everstine in leading various discussion groups on mental health topics. Forty-two speeches were given by the members of the clinic.

WHICH IS LESS FATTENING?

3 Teaspoons of Domino Sugar Contain Fewer Calories than 3 Small Tomatoes!

And 3 teaspoons of Domino Sugar contain fewer calories than ⅔ cup of cooked green peas!

"Counting calories" nowadays? You should know that generous amounts of Domino Granulated Sugar, used in your favorite foods and beverages, contain fewer calories than usual servings of many foods regularly included in reducing diets.

Nutritionists say that no single food is fattening unless you take in more calories than your body uses up. Tomatoes and green peas are excellent foods . . . but, sugar, too, is nutritionally important in the well-balanced diet you need for good health.

So don't deny yourself the pleasureful extra flavor that Domino Sugar adds to your daily meals. And always insist on Domino Pure Cane Sugar because only one sugar is Domino pure!

Chef's Touch With Sauces

When you dine at a fine restaurant and wonder what ingredients the chef has used in a sauce, you have hit on the reason why the food is so good. Chefs make use of butter-base sauces for flavoring, adding just the right amount of seasonings to the sauce to produce a subtle, blended flavor, that can be obtained only in this manner.

For the cream sauce-type of sauce, chefs make use of a roux. This is a paste made with butter and flour which is kept refrigerated and ready at a moment's notice to make a basic cream sauce.

When you see certain vegetables listed on the menu, such as Green Beans Au Beurre, it means they are served with brown buttered crumbs. These crumbs add much to the appeal of the softer type vegetable in texture contrast and flavor. Here are a few basic recipes you can use to advantage to give your own cooking the "Chef's Touch."

Maitre D'Hotel Butter
(Good on fish)

Blend together 3 tablespoons soft butter, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley and dash of pepper. Makes 4 servings.

Roux

Blend equal amounts of soft butter and flour together. Roux should be refrigerated between times. For medium sauce use 3 tablespoons of mixture to 1 cup scalded milk. Stir until smooth and cook for about 2 or 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Makes 1 cup sauce.

Mock Hollandaise

Make regular recipe for medium cream sauce, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup milk. Cook over low heat until smooth and thickened; remove from heat and add 2 slightly beaten egg yolks. Gradually add 2 tablespoons melted butter and 3 tablespoons lemon juice, stirring constantly. Makes 1 cup sauce.

Seasoned Butter For Vegetables

To ¼ cup melted butter add: For Celery Butter, 2 tablespoons celery seed, for Chive Butter, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons minced chives. Makes 6 servings.

Vegetables Au Beurre

Champion Canner Tells How She Does It

Courtesy of Ball Brothers Company

Mrs. Martha Christophel of Goshen, Indiana, winner of blue ribbons at state and county fairs and Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition, believes in the extra touch which makes a jar of canned fruit or vegetables "taste good to the eye" as well as to the palate. And her home canned foods are a picture! You wonder how she got those huge juicy peaches into the jars. Your mouth waters when you see creamy white corn kernels in jars with stars cut from sweet red pepper pressed against the inside of the glass.

Her jars of mixed pickles hold dark green olives stuffed with pimiento, pearly white small onions, sprigs of cauliflower, bright green chunks of cucumber, and golden carrot wheels. She always puts up some pears with sirup colored with red hots, always adds a tablespoonful of lemon juice to such foods as corn, asparagus, peas, pickles, cherries, to preserve the color.

Each year she puts up hundreds of jars of food, beginning with the first rhubarb and strawberries and going on through the late fruit season. She finds time for other household and fine arts. She paints in oil, does pastels, water colors, pen and ink drawings; quilts, crochets, and deals in antiques!

During the canning season she attaches to her large "Antiques" sign a smaller one: "Shop closed. Busy." Trouble is that people are then more determined than ever to see her antiques. "I make more sales than at any other time, but I get my canning done, you bet!"

Do you save money by home canning? That's obvious. "Buy fruits and vegetables by the bulk from your local markets and can them. Then you've got them!" she says. Mrs. Christophel won her first ribbon at the age of six for bread baking. Since then she has won hundreds. In an antique sugar bucket are scores, including 15 from the 1952 Indiana State Fair alone. Over a hundred more fill an old-fashioned churn. There are two "rag" rugs, one made of blue prize ribbons, the other of red.

This expert home canner prefers Dome Lids and Bands and says one should not attempt to can without them. "Sometimes there may be a tiny nick in the top of the jar and you don't see it. With the Dome Lid you know whether or not you have a perfect seal," she says emphatically, "because the Dome goes down." One of her favorite recipes is for pickled wax beans. Here it is:

Wash and sort long, yellow wax beans. Snip off ends. Do not string completely or pods will come apart when cooked. Boil until just done. Put 1 onion or half garlic clove and juice of 1 lemon in each jar. Boil 1 cup sugar, 3 cups vinegar, 1 teaspoonful celery seed, 1 heaping teaspoonful mustard seed. Pack beans lengthwise into jars and cover with hot pickling mixture. Put on Dome Lids and screw bands tight. Process in boiling water bath one minute.

If you'd like more of Mrs. Christophel's favorite recipes, write to Ball Brothers Company, Dept. PB, Muncie, Indiana, because that busy sign is being hung out again in Goshen. It's time to can for this year's fair contests!

Grocers' Shelves Now Filling Up With Canned Apple Products

Apple time is here. The apple trees are heavy and brilliant with firm-cheeked red apples, yellow apples, green apples, striped apples, dappled apples . . . dozens of varieties . . . crisp and juicy tart . . . sweet and mellow. And out in the apple country, trucks high with apple laden baskets, have been speeding to the processing plants where their fragrant burdens are converted into canned apple sauce, canned apple slices and apple juice.

That's why apple products are now arriving in cheering abundance on grocers' shelves everywhere. They're the new pack, bright and zesty in flavor. They happily come just when cool days bring sharpened appetites, when school lunches are once more the order of the day and when homemakers, busy with new fall projects, welcome convenience foods such as these. Canned apple products "do their bit" in a thousand-and-one ways to make meals more delicious and easier to prepare. They're economical buys, too . . . but even more important, every one enjoys them and all ages can eat them.

Next time you market, check on the apple products. You'll find a wide choice in delicious apple sauce, apple slices for pie or dessert and apple juice suitable for any meal from breakfast right on to late evening . . . all processed to your taste . . . in your style . . . for your convenience.

A steaming hot (and fragrant) beverage to delight the children when they come in from school is apple juice, heated to the bubble, served in cups, and dusted with nutmeg. Cookies are good with this.

Another variation is apple juice, chilled thoroughly, mixed half-and-half with milk and served in tall glasses to be sipped through straws as a party-like touch.

Everybody knows about canned apple slices for pie . . . but how about serving canned slices as a hot vegetable with pan-browned sausages! Such an easy dish to prepare, and really good . . . especially in brisk weather!

The most important preparation for carving is proper cooking of the meat, neither overdone nor underdone. For ease in carving, have the backbone loosened on beef rib roasts. A large roast should be allowed to "set" 15 to 20 minutes after cooking for greater ease in carving and for more attractive slices. Of course, a sharp knife is essential for all carving.

Store Your Pressure Canner With Care

If you've finished canning for the season, you'll want to be sure that your pressure canner is in the best condition when it's put away.

Nutritionist, Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says it's important that the canner is put away thoroughly dry and clean to prevent corrosion of the metal or other damage while it stands unused.

Protect the threads of thumb screws against rust with a thin coating of petroleum jelly or salt-free cooking oil. Then, crumple newspapers inside the kettle to absorb moisture and odors. Instead of putting the cover on tight, wrap the cover in paper and invert it.

If you plan to use your pressure canner on into the fall and winter for canning meat, special overhauling shouldn't be necessary if the canner has worked well through the summer. However, as a precaution it is well to have a dial gauge checked once a year for accuracy.

Your home demonstration agent may be able to tell you where you can have your gauge checked locally. If it can't be done nearby, write the manufacturer. Ask if he can check the gauge for you and for shipping instructions if he can. Whether he directs you to return the whole cover or just the dial gauge, pack the gauge like fine glass and label it "Fragile."

Tips For Making Good Green Tomato Pickles

Why not try your hand at green tomato pickles? They're a natural at this season of the year.

It's best to pickle green tomatoes within 24 hours after picking, says nutritionist Janet L. Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service. Then, use firm solid tomatoes; high quality fresh spices; and a good clear standard cider vinegar. These are musts for fine flavored and firm textured green tomato pickles.

Miss Coblentz says it's best to use whole spices no more than a year old in making your pickles. Since spices, such as whole cloves and allspice packed in the jars, may turn the pickles dark, you may prefer using a spice bag. However, be sure the bag is made of clean, thin white cloth that's large enough for juices to circulate through the spices.

It's better to use pure granulated medium coarse salt than table salt. Because table salt contains substances to prevent caking or lumping, it often doesn't give good results.

Heat the acid pickling liquids in enamelware, aluminum or stainless steel. Use sterilized jars, lids and caps, and seal the pickles in air tight jars.

If you haven't a favorite green tomato pickle recipe, here's one you may like to try. It's quick and easy.

Green Tomato Pickles

1 peck green tomatoes, thinly sliced
4 onions, thinly sliced
1 cup salt
½ ounce whole cloves
½ ounce whole allspice
½ ounce peppercorns
½ cup brown mustard seed
1 pound brown sugar
4 green peppers, finely chopped
Cider vinegar

Sprinkle alternate layers of tomatoes and onions with salt and let stand overnight. In the morning drain and put in preserving kettle, adding remaining ingredients. Use enough vinegar to cover all. Heat gradually to boiling point and boil one half hour. Pack in hot sterilized jars and seal while hot.

Beef is high in iron, which is so necessary in building rich red blood and in protecting against nutritional anemia.

Caramel Pear Sundaes Are Unique Desserts

Team your California Bartlett pears with ice cream for the Summer Ice Cream Festival. It's a new treat with ripe, juicy pears. Cover the ice cream with a caramel sauce and there is a blending of flavors that is intriguing and distinctive.

For a fresh Bartlett pear sundae the pears should be ripe, with their full amount of juice and the fruit sugar well developed. Chill the pears well for a cool and refreshing effect. In preparing the pears, halve and core them, but leave on the skin for texture interest. This way, they may be prepared in a jiffy. In summer time when appetites lag, this is a good pepper-upper.

Let the type of affair, for which you have selected this dessert, set the pace for the style of the dish you choose. If it is a luncheon, use your favorite china or crystal for a sophisticated service, but if the occasion is a patio supper, this dessert is equally well adapted to a pottery dish.

Caramel sundae topping may be purchased in small cans or you may make your own sundae topping.

Caramel Sauce

½ cup rich milk
1 cup brown sugar, packed
2 tablespoons corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine all ingredients. Bring to full boil, stirring to dissolve sugar thoroughly. Boil three minutes. Serve warm or chilled over fresh pears topped with ice cream.

Mrs. Martha Christophel of Goshen, Indiana, winner of blue ribbons at state and county fairs and Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition, believes in the extra touch which makes a jar of canned fruit or vegetables "taste good to the eye" as well as to the palate. And her home canned foods are a picture! You wonder how she got those huge juicy peaches into the jars. Your mouth waters when you see creamy white corn kernels in jars with stars cut from sweet red pepper pressed against the inside of the glass.

Her jars of mixed pickles hold dark green olives stuffed with pimiento, pearly white small onions, sprigs of cauliflower, bright green chunks of cucumber, and golden carrot wheels. The Home Herb Garden

Back in Colonial times the herb garden was an important part of every home planting. Woven into the folklore of early settlers in America are many legends about the various herbs.

When we moved over into the more materialistic age of the present century, interest in growing herbs seemed to wane.

However, in the past two decades there has been a progressive revival of interest in this fascinating group of plants.

One of the best ways to get acquainted with the various herbs is to plant a number of kinds on a small scale and study their performance under your conditions.

Begin this year to plant, either from seed or from cuttings, a large number of herbs. These are planted in small plots in a part of the vegetable garden. Study their growth habits in that particular locality, so that the final plan may be more intelligently worked out. This also gives one the opportunity of saving seed and making cuttings from this start in a small way. It certainly makes a fascinating hobby.

The botanist groups all plants under three general headings. That is, herbs, shrubs, and trees. The shrubs and trees are woody plants of large stature, while the herbs are not only smaller but are not woody in the sense of trees and shrubs. This definition does not fit all the plants we usually consider in this group. We have accustomed ourselves to using the term herb as that of a fragrant plant having medicinal or culinary use.

Many plants have been used in medicine from very early times. According to historical accounts, Theophrastus, the father of botany, is said to have known over 300 plants to which he ascribed curative properties as early as 400 B. C. These were added to and held in high repute by doctors. Many of these early drug plants are still used as the source of certain remedies, with much refinement of the products. The chemistry of drugs has come a long way since and many drugs are now made synthetically.

Certain herbs give off pleasing odors, especially when leaves and flowers are crushed. The clean crisp, spicy odors are retained for a long time and our grandmothers used them for making sachet bags to perfume linens and garments. An old Oriental proverb says:

"To raise flowers is a common thing. Only God gave them fragrance."

Many herbs are among the most colorful plants, valued for flowers or foliage. These make attractive border plants.

But most wide-spread interest today is their place in the art and science of cooking. The French have given the most attention to this and are enjoying an enviable reputation for unusual dishes, largely through the skillful use of herbs. Because of their distinctive flavor and piquancy they make outstanding dishes from commonplace foods.

English and German cooks use many herbs. And now, American housewives are making more general use of herbs than formerly. Many are prepared and available at grocery stores.

Since it takes so little of them to make a big difference, on account of their pungency, many of the rarer ones are not grown commercially. But there is no limit to those we may grow at home.

Shiny new aluminum package keeps GOOD LUCK fresher than any other margarine!

Only GOOD LUCK is double-wrapped in Reynolds Wrap, which keeps it so fresh you can't tell it from "you-know-what"!

YOU LIKE your food real fresh, don't you? Things like eggs, strawberries, bread—and the spread you put on your bread!

Tell you what: you don't know how fresh a spread can taste till you've sampled today's GOOD LUCK margarine in its shiny new aluminum package!

How Reynolds Aluminum Keeps GOOD LUCK Fresh

No other spread was ever packed this way before. First we wrap each quarter-pound print of GOOD LUCK in pure Reynolds Aluminum Foil. Then we put the quarter pounds in a waxed carton for extra protection. And finally, we seal the whole carton in shiny aluminum foil, to keep GOOD LUCK's fine flavor and freshness in, and keep any foreign odors out. But even that's not all.

Keep GOOD LUCK in your refrigerator

We also take great care to see that GOOD LUCK is kept refrigerated until the instant you buy it in the store. Margarine of this fine quality is perishable—just like eggs! So if you want to enjoy GOOD LUCK at its delicious best, always keep it in your refrigerator. GOOD LUCK stays smooth and spreads easily when you serve it at the table.

The result of this new wrap and refrigeration: GOOD LUCK now stays fresher than any other margarine!

Saves You Up to 40¢ a Pound

GOOD LUCK in its new aluminum package, still costs no more than other quality margarines, still saves you up to 40¢ a pound over the high-priced spread. Look for GOOD LUCK wrapped in sparkling Reynolds Aluminum Foil—it's guaranteed by Lever Brothers, N. Y.

1 LB. FAMILY STYLE ROLL SAVES TIME—AND MONEY!

GOOD LUCK's Family-Style Roll is now wrapped in Reynolds Aluminum Foil. It's easy to unwrap, handy for cooking, or serving at the table. It's the same quality margarine—yet saves you 2¢ more than the individually wrapped quarters!

The Home Herb Garden

Back in Colonial times the herb garden was an important part of every home planting. Woven into the folklore of early settlers in America are many legends about the various herbs.

When we moved over into the more materialistic age of the present century, interest in growing herbs seemed to wane.

However, in the past two decades there has been a progressive revival of interest in this fascinating group of plants.

One of the best ways to get acquainted with the various herbs is to plant a number of kinds on a small scale and study their performance under your conditions.

Begin this year to plant, either from seed or from cuttings, a large number of herbs. These are planted in small plots in a part of the vegetable garden. Study their growth habits in that particular locality, so that the final plan may be more intelligently worked out. This also gives one the opportunity of saving seed and making cuttings from this start in a small way. It certainly makes a fascinating hobby.

Enriched Robin Hood Flour
THE ALL PURPOSE FLOUR

Preserve Poundage, Flavor By Roasting Modern Way

Roast beef for dinner is in order for modest budgets these days, with this fancy cut priced lower at market. Food to gladden the head of any household is a roast beef dinner, cooked to perfection in an uncovered roasting pan at the new, lower roasting temperatures that reduce meat shrinkage and preserve juiciness and flavor. Instruction for the modern way to roast standing ribs of beef and the proper way to carve make it simple to serve this cut at its best.

Incidentally, thrifty housewives ask the meat man to remove the short ribs from the Standing Rib Roast, and use the chunky cut to make a good beef broth, or beef stock, to use in other dishes.

All beef is reasonably priced at market, but to take advantage of the most thrifty beef, it is important to know how to braise meat. The most economical beef on the market is lean beef from the grassy plains. It has the same complete high quality protein, B vitamins and essential minerals as other beef, but it has less fat, and is delicious when cooked by braising. To braise lean beef, the meat is seasoned, and browned in a little fat. After browning well, the meat is cooked slowly in a small amount of liquid with the pan tightly covered.

How To Roast Standing Ribs Of Beef

Wipe meat with clean, damp cloth. Season with salt and pepper. Place roast fat side up in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Do not baste. Roast in preheated moderately low oven — 325° F. (If you have a meat thermometer, insert it through outside fat into center of thickest muscle so that bulb does not rest on bone or fat.)

Roasting Timetable*

Beef	Thermometer Reading	Minutes Per Lb.
Rare	140° F.	22-26
Medium	160° F.	26-30
Well-Done	170° F.	33-35

*Figures given are for standing rib roast; for rolled roast, add 5 to 10 minutes per pound.

In estimating roasting time for small roasts (3 to 5 lbs.) use larger figure given. (This timetable is for meat taken chilled from refrigerator.)

Carving A Standing Rib Roast

It is best to have backbone loosened by meat-man and then removed in kitchen after roasting. Use large carving knife. Set the roast on the platter, rib bones to the left, large end away from carver. Insert fork, guard up, between two top rib bones. Cut slices from outer fat edge to bones, making slices no thinner than one-quarter inch.

Free each slice by running point of knife along edge where it joins bone, and lift off before starting next slice. When you have sliced below first bone, free it from roast and lay to one side.

Roast Beef And Yorkshire Pudding

As English as Piccadilly Square is roast beef with Yorkshire pudding. Here's an Americanized version of this theme—beef short ribs with Yorkshire pudding. It makes an interesting main dish.

With lean economy beef on the market in plentiful supply, short ribs are an especially good meat buy these days.

Short Ribs with Yorkshire Pudding

3 pounds short ribs
Flour, salt, pepper
2 tablespoons lard
1 cup water
Small, piece bay leaf
1 small onion

Cut short ribs into individual servings; trim off excess fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Brown slowly on all sides in hot lard. Drain off drippings and save for Yorkshire pudding. Add water, bay leaf and sliced onions to short ribs. Cover and simmer 2½ to 3 hours or until tender, adding additional water as needed. Remove short ribs from pan, spoon off excess fat and thicken liquid with a flour and water paste, for gravy. Season gravy with salt and pepper.

Yorkshire Pudding

1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup milk
¼ cup beef drippings

Sift flour; measure; sift again with salt. Beat eggs well and stir into flour. Add milk and beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Pour 2 teaspoons beef drippings into each of six muffin tins; place in a 400°F. oven for about 5 minutes or until pans are hot. Pour in batter and bake at for 40 minutes. Serve wth gravy from short ribs. Six servings.

Braised Beef Steak-Rice

Swiss Steak Supreme

1½ pounds beef chuck or round steak, cut 1 inch thick; ¼ cup flour; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 2 teaspoons salt; lard or drippings; 1 onion, sliced; 1 No. 2½ can tomatoes; ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; 1 green pepper, cut in rings; 3 cups cooked rice, if desired.

Dredge both sides of the steak with seasoned flour. Brown on both sides in lard and drippings. Add onion, tomatoes and Worcestershire sauce. Cover and simmer for 2½ to 3 hours, or until tender. Cook pepper rings 5 minutes. Serve steak on a bed of fluffy rice, if desired. Garnish with pepper rings. 6 servings.

"Porterhouse" steak owes its origin, more than 100 years ago, to the proprietor of a popular Ale and Porter House in New York City. One day he took a sirloin roast from his private larder, sliced the meat and sawed through the bone to produce a steak. One of the leading butchers of the town soon began to specialize in these cuts and named them "Porterhouse" steaks.

The most economical beef on the market is lean beef from the grassy plains. It has the same complete high quality protein, B vitamins and essential minerals as other beef, but it has less fat, and is delicious when cooked by braising. To braise lean beef, the meat is seasoned, and browned in a little fat. After browning well, the meat is cooked slowly in a small amount of liquid with the pan tightly covered.

How To Roast Standing Ribs Of Beef

Wipe meat with clean, damp cloth. Season with salt and pepper. Place roast fat side up in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Do not baste. Roast in preheated moderately low oven — 325° F. (If you have a meat thermometer, insert it through outside fat into center of thickest muscle so that bulb does not rest on bone or fat.)

Roasting Timetable*

Beef	Thermometer Reading	Minutes Per Lb.
Rare	140° F.	22-26
Medium	160° F.	26-30
Well-Done	170° F.	33-35

*Figures given are for standing rib roast; for rolled roast, add 5 to 10 minutes per pound.

In estimating roasting time for small roasts (3 to 5 lbs.) use larger figure given. (This timetable is for meat taken chilled from refrigerator.)

Carving A Standing Rib Roast

It is best to have backbone loosened by meat-man and then removed in kitchen after roasting. Use large carving knife. Set the roast on the platter, rib bones to the left, large end away from carver. Insert fork, guard up, between two top rib bones. Cut slices from outer fat edge to bones, making slices no thinner than one-quarter inch.

Free each slice by running point of knife along edge where it joins bone, and lift off before starting next slice. When you have sliced below first bone, free it from roast and lay to one side.

Roast Beef And Yorkshire Pudding

As English as Piccadilly Square is roast beef with Yorkshire pudding. Here's an Americanized version of this theme—beef short ribs with Yorkshire pudding. It makes an interesting main dish.

With lean economy beef on the market in plentiful supply, short ribs are an especially good meat buy these days.

Short Ribs with Yorkshire Pudding

3 pounds short ribs
Flour, salt, pepper
2 tablespoons lard
1 cup water
Small, piece bay leaf
1 small onion

Cut short ribs into individual servings; trim off excess fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Brown slowly on all sides in hot lard. Drain off drippings and save for Yorkshire pudding. Add water, bay leaf and sliced onions to short ribs. Cover and simmer 2½ to 3 hours or until tender, adding additional water as needed. Remove short ribs from pan, spoon off excess fat and thicken liquid with a flour and water paste, for gravy. Season gravy with salt and pepper.

Yorkshire Pudding

1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup milk
¼ cup beef drippings

Sift flour; measure; sift again with salt. Beat eggs well and stir into flour. Add milk and beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Pour 2 teaspoons beef drippings into each of six muffin tins; place in a 400°F. oven for about 5 minutes or until pans are hot. Pour in batter and bake at for 40 minutes. Serve wth gravy from short ribs. Six servings.

Braised Beef Steak-Rice

Swiss Steak Supreme

1½ pounds beef chuck or round steak, cut 1 inch thick; ¼ cup flour; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 2 teaspoons salt; lard or drippings; 1 onion, sliced; 1 No. 2½ can tomatoes; ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; 1 green pepper, cut in rings; 3 cups cooked rice, if desired.

Dredge both sides of the steak with seasoned flour. Brown on both sides in lard and drippings. Add onion, tomatoes and Worcestershire sauce. Cover and simmer for 2½ to 3 hours, or until tender. Cook pepper rings 5 minutes. Serve steak on a bed of fluffy rice, if desired. Garnish with pepper rings. 6 servings.

"Porterhouse" steak owes its origin, more than 100 years ago, to the proprietor of a popular Ale and Porter House in New York City. One day he took a sirloin roast from his private larder, sliced the meat and sawed through the bone to produce a steak. One of the leading butchers of the town soon began to specialize in these cuts and named them "Porterhouse" steaks.

Fruit Plate Serves Dual Purpose Role

During the summer when you are searching for "something special" to serve, this dual-purpose California Bartlett pear plate will come to your rescue many times. It may be served as a dessert or a salad.

There are four fruits used in assembling this salad or dessert. California Bartlett pears take the stellar role, atop a slice of melon. A scalloped edge makes the melon attractive and the little triangles cut from the melon may later appear in a fruit cocktail. To accent the fruit, there are a few fresh or frozen blueberries. With a wedge of lime on the side, the fruit plate becomes a dessert, or with a French fruit dressing it appears as a salad.

For a salad, back the fruit with crisp lettuce, or for a dessert serve the arranged fruit on a pretty dessert plate. A washed garden leaf, if available, adds a cool fresh note.

California Fruit Plate

3 ripe California Bartlett Pears
1 melon cut in 6 slices
½ cup blueberries
1 lime, cut in sixths
Lettuce or garden leaves

Halve and core ripe, chilled California Bartlett pears. Cut melon in six slices, remove skin and seeds. Scallop edge with paring knife or score with fork. In core cavity of pear put a few ripe blueberries. Add a wedge of lime for dessert plate or line plate with crisp lettuce for salad.

During the pear harvest season, ripe California Bartlett pears are "sweet 'n special." They are juicy and aromatic when ripe, with a superb flavor. They combine with almost all types of fruit for summer serving.

Keep a supply of California Bartlett pears on hand for mealtime pleasure or for between-meal eating.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Well, THAT was a new twist. It turned out I was the murderer."

Small Eggs Are Now Good Buys

You'll get the most for your money if you buy the small pullet eggs that are now so plentiful on today's market.

That's because small eggs are selling for approximately half the price of the large eggs that are in relatively short supply, says Extension poultryman, Wade Rice, University of Maryland.

According to Rice, eggs marked "Small" will weigh at least 18 ounces a dozen. "Mediums" will weigh from 21 to 23 ounces, and "Large" eggs at least 24 ounces.

Compare the price and weight of the various egg sizes. You'll see, from the consumers angle, that pullet eggs are definitely the best food buy.

A pound of pullet eggs will cost less than a pound of the large size. Actually, you'll get approximately three-fourths as much egg for about half the price. And from Grade A small eggs you get the same quality of eggs in a different size and weight.

To make up for any difference in cooking with small eggs, follow this rule: If you are using a recipe calling for three regular size eggs, use four small eggs to match that quantity. Even though you're using four eggs, they still won't cost any more than the three large eggs.

Stew Meat Specials

In a quick check list of the more economical beef buys on the market, beef stew meat always is included. With beef in abundant supply and lots of lean, economy beef coming to market, beef stew meat is likely to be a frequent special at your meat counter.

Cubed beef need not always end up in a beef and vegetable stew. There are many other uses for the thrifty meat. One is braised beef on rice: Brown beef cubes, add a small amount of water, salt and pepper, celery leaves and any desired seasonings. Then cook, covered, until nearly tender, adding more water as needed. Add some catsup or tomato sauce and continue cooking until tender. Season to taste with soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce or curry powder and serve over hot rice.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Research has proved beef to be a concentrated source of high quality protein, supplying all of the essential amino acids so necessary for building and repairing muscle tissue and blood. These amino acids also build resistance to infection and supplement incomplete proteins from other sources. Beef is also rich in the B vitamins, as well as phosphorus, iron and copper.

Nutritious Louisiana Yams Achievement In Food World

The Louisiana yam is more than just a sweet potato. It's a carefully nurtured, highly developed root vegetable which science has made into the Number One root crop in total food units per pound, such as carbohydrates, minerals, proteins and vitamins.

The story of the Louisiana Yam is also the story of the professional career of one of the world's top horticulturists, Dr. Julian Miller of Louisiana State University. From the more than 200 varieties of sweet potatoes existent in the South in 1929, Dr. Miller chose the superior variety to begin his research. Over a period of years the scientist experimented with 16,000 plants, and finally by 1934, had narrowed the number down to 12 from which he developed the one strain which was to become the Louisiana Yam .

Since 1934, Dr. Miller has never ceased his intensive efforts at the University to bring about more and more improvements in the Louisiana Yam. Although his chief interest is to breed yams for greater nutritional value, his research program also consists of experiments to produce a high yield, uniform shape, storage ability, market quality and disease resistance.

His success is recorded in scientific facts. Since 1929, when he began his work with the Louisiana Yam, the Vitamin A content of the vegetable has been increased by more than 100%. Not only are Louisiana Yams the fourth major food crop of the state, but three out of every four yams eaten in America today come from Louisiana.

How can you be sure that you are getting Louisiana Yams at your local market? The yam can best be identified in shape by comparing it to two over-sized ice cream cones with their cups fused together. In addition to the tapered ends, the Louisiana Yam is somewhat heavier and its skin a more coppery color than other sweet potato varieties.

Once opened, the distinguishing features of the yams are easily discernable. The deep orange flesh with golden overtones, the moist texture and the stringlessness are unmistakable qualities of Louisiana Yams. The deep orange color denotes large quantities of carotene, the element which the body utilizes as Vitamin A. The yam is also one of the very few vegetables with ample quantities of Vitamin C in addition to Vitamin A. Vitamins B-1 and B-2 are also present along with proteins, minerals and carbohydrates.

Because Louisiana Yams cook moist and tender, they are among the most versatile of vegetables. Baked, boiled or fried, they can be varied endlessly with different seasonings or combined with numerous other foods. Because of their moisture content yams cook more rapidly than other root vegetables, which makes them ideal for last-minute meals. Little preparation time is needed for many yam dishes. Their color lends appetite appeal to any meal, and their mellow flavor blends readily with endless foods for new taste treats.

This main dish is quick and wonderful! Mix together a cup each of cut up chicken and ham, a can of chicken gumbo soup, 3 cups of cooked rice, ¾ cup of water. Some chopped pimento is good, too. Bake at 350°F. until heated through. Make this dish "company fancy" by topping it with pineapple slices studded with whole cloves, dotting the slices with butter or margarine and brown sugar. Bake the dish until heated through.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

". . . Near as I can make out, the way to survive an H-bomb is about the same as an A-bomb . . . only more so."

Minute-Saving Meats

"Summertime, when the livin' is easy . . ." is the time to recall short cuts to good eating. One short cut is to serve quick-cooling minute or cubed beef steaks. Now, during these days of plentiful beef supplies, let these attractively priced "baby steaks" solve your menu problems.

Minute steaks may be cooked by pan-broiling or by braising. To panbroil, heat a lightly greased skillet and in it cook steaks one to two minutes on each side, or until browned and of the desired doneness. To braise, flour steaks and brown lightly in a little hot fat. Season and add a small amount of liquid, such as barebcue sauce or canned soup. Cook, covered, over low heat 15 to 20 minutes.

Variety meats are rich sources of vitamins and minerals, particularly Vitamin A, and the B vitamins. It is a nutritionwise homemaker who includes a serving of liver or tongue in her weekly menu. Beef liver, particularly, can be prepared in many appetizing dishes. French fried liver is a favorite with the younger generation, but liver and bacon, liver loaves, and braised liver with vegetables are other suggestions.

Thanksgiving Surprise

It's never too early to start thinking about Thanksgiving dinner. Most of the menu may be a family tradition, and rightly so, but a little surprise, a little lift, is good for any meal! Surprises are best tried in advance. Beware of experiments on the big day.

How about a pumpkin pie, a bow to tradition, but with a light touch, a subtle spiciness sure to be appreciated at the conclusion of the feast? Pumpkin chiffon pie with date corn flakes crumb crust is worth considering.

A few words the cook will welcome: this pie can be made ahead of time, stored in freezing unit and taken out to thaw 1 to 2 hours before serving—just about the time the bird begins to brown.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie with Date Corn Flakes Crumb Crust

- ¾ cup pitted dates
- ¼ cup water
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 3 cups corn flakes
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ⅓ cup chopped nutmeats
- 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 1½ cups cooked pumpkin
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon ginger
- ¼ teaspoon allspice
- ⅓ cup milk
- 3 eggs, separated
- ⅛ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup whipping cream
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Cook dates and water over low heat, stirring to form a soft paste. Add butter and stir until combined. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Add to date paste together with sugar and nutmeats; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Soften gelatin in water. Combine pumpkin, brown sugar, salt, spices and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until mixture boils. Combine with slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in softened gelatin. Chill until mixture begins to set. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; add granulated sugar gradually and continue beating until whites stand in peaks.

Whip cream until stiff; fold into pumpkin mixture together with egg whites and grated orange rind. Spread lightly in Date Corn Flakes Crumb Crust and chill until set.* Serve at room temperature with additional whipped cream, if desired.

Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

*Pie may be carefully covered, wrapped and stored in freezer until ready to use. Let stand at room temperature 1-2 hours before serving.

Ground beef patties are the teenager's favorite, but dressed up, they're an economical addition to the dinner menu. Try adding grated raw potato or grated raw apple to the ground beef mixture for a flavor change. For a gourmet touch, place two thin beef patties together with a stuffing of bleu cheese, dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce and mayonnaise, pressing the edges of the patties securely together.

It's all over town.

Officials: John Shelton, James Gaffney, Robert Pence, William B. Orndorff.

Fort Hill's unbeaten Sentinels will face a strong foe in Coach John Cobourn's Martinsburg Bulldogs tonight when the two elevens clash at 8 p. m. in Fort Hill Stadium.

Although the Bulldogs have dropped two straight decisions this season and will be seeking their first victory here the Cobournmen are always a tough opponent and Coach Bill Hahn has been scrimmaging his Sentinels hard the past two weeks for tonight's engagement. Martinsburg last year handed Fort Hill one of its two defeats by a 21-20 score in the West Virginia city.

Officials Are Named

Hahn said last night John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, Bob Pence and Bee Orndorff will officiate tonight's contest at which a large crowd is expected. Advance ticket sales are being made at the school, Wilson Hardware and Truitt's Drug Store.

Martinsburg will bring a large delegation of followers to the game in several chartered buses and the excellent Martinsburg High School band will also accompany the team here.

Fort Hill was idle last week and will be seeking its third triumph of the season against the Bulldogs. Hahn said he has made several changes in his starting lineup with All-City lineman Wayne Couter recovered from injuries and ready to start at tackle. Bill Steppe, a lanky but very fast end, has been shifted to the Fort Hill backfield to aid with his speed on offense and better defensive ability.

AHS At Hagerstown

Meanwhile tonight's schedule also finds two other long-time rivals pitting their strength against each other when Coach Roy Lester takes his Allegany Campers to Hagerstown to battle Mentor Mel Henry's Hub City eleven.

Allegany, which has lost its last three games to the Henrymen, will be striving for its second victory this season while Hagerstown sports a 1-2 record. Last year Hagerstown stopped the Campers 7-0 in the local stadium.

An important Potomac Valley Conference clash will pit Ridgeley's undefeated Blackhawks against Keyser High's once-beaten Tornado. Keyser is defending PVC champion and will be gunning for its first conference victory against the lighter Hawks. Ridgeley has copped three in a row, including one PVC tilt.

In past series Keyser leads with 11 victories to Ridgeley's six while one game ended in a tie. Both Chet Payne's Hawks and Tack Clark's Tornado elevens are veteran teams.

Past games:

1935—Ridgeley 7, Keyser 6

Erskine Opposes Raschi In 3rd Series Contest

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP) — Vic Raschi (13-6) and Carl Erskine (20-6), a pair of righthanders, will be the opposing pitchers in tomorrow's third World Series game, the opener at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field.

Raschi, 34-year-old veteran of five previous series, has a 5-2 record in series competition. Against the Dodgers in series play, Raschi has a 3-1 record.

Erskine, only 26, is 1-1 against the Yanks in two series. He was used only on relief in '49 but split two starting assignments last year. He gave up four runs in yesterday's opener and was yanked after one inning but was not charged with the loss.

THOMAS, W. Va., Oct. 1 — Thomas High scored its second straight gridiron victory here today with an easy 32-0 decision over Pruntytown High.

Bill Evans, Thomas quarterback, plunged for three touchdowns while Jim Knaggs scored two and Alex Waitkus added another.

Scoring in every period, Thomas completely dominated play, rolling up 362 yards on the ground. Knaggs tallied in the first quarter on a 52 yard romp to open the Thomas scoring. Evans scored on a six-yard sneak in the second period, twice more went over on keep plays of 20 and 5 yards and passed 16 yards to Waitkus for another score. Knaggs got his second touchdown on a seven-yard end run.

Pruntytown's only threat in the fourth period ended when Frank Martin of Thomas recovered a fumble on the victor's two-yard line. The lineups:

Mantle Socks Homer In 8th For 4-2 Win

Martin Also Hits For Circuit As Roe Loses To Ed Lopat

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' 21-year-old glamor boy, powered a 375-foot home run with Hank Bauer on base in the eighth inning today for a second straight Yankee victory over Brooklyn, 4-2, before 66,786 World Series fans.

Dodgers Outhit Yanks

Outhit by the Dodgers, 9 to 5, the rallying Yanks tied the score on Billy Martin's homer in the seventh. Then Mantle's blast, following a single by Bauer, brought the Preach crashing down to his first series defeat.

Roe, mixing his slow breaking stuff with an occasional fast ball, had a two-hitter for the first six innings. One of the hits, a second-inning double by Phil Rizzuto almost was caught by Carl Furillo. The other was a bloop single by Martin in the fourth.

Rolling along with a 2-1 lead, built by Billy Cox's double that chased home Gil Hodges and Furillo in the fourth, Roe appeared to be in complete control.

Martin led off the seventh with a high fly that Robinson appeared to misjudge temporarily. Finding the ball in the sun, Jackie dashed back to the left-field barrier and made a frantic lunge among the customers. The ball disappeared, then bounced back on the playing field as Frank Dascoli, umpire on the left-field foul line, signaled home run. That tied the score, 2-2.

When Joe Collins drove a long fly to right field—the first time he had pulled a ball all day—to open the eighth, there were hints that Roe might be tiring. Bauer followed with a line single to left.

Roe was two-thirds of the way out of the jam when Yogi Berra skied deep to Duke Snider in center, bringing up Mantle.

Preacher Works Carefully

Carefully The Preach worked on Mickey. Ball one was low and outside. Another curve to the same place while Mickey Mantle waited. Then came the pitch that the Yank center fielder sent soaring into the lower left-field seats. Roe allowed 27 home runs during the regular season. The old gopher ball proved his undoing today.

Lopat, who like Roe is 35, pitched his usual steady game, mixing his "junk" with an occasional fast ball. Time after time the Brooks got men on base, only to have Steady Eddie wipe out the threat.

The Dodgers, who left 12 on base yesterday, stranded 10 more today. They went down in order only once, in the third inning.

WMI Soccer League To Open 27th Year With Five Teams

Bruce High Booters Are Defending Champs

The 27th season of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League will open today with a pair of games scheduled for Mt. Savage and Frostburg.

Bruce High's eleven, coached by Augie Eichhorn, will be the defending champions, having captured the title last year. Bruce will be idle on opening day today.

Initial games will pit Valley High's new entry against another newcomer, Mt. Savage on the latter's field. Two returnees of the five-team circuit will find Flintstone at Beall High of Frostburg.

Valley High's team replaces Central of Lonaconing and Mt. Savage takes over Barton High's spot. Barton and Central were incorporated this year to form Valley High.

Bruce's defending champions have captured 11 titles while Beall and the former Barton teams each won six championships. The old Central teams won three times in the 26-year history of the circuit.

Coaches starting at the helm of the five teams are Orville Jackson at Flintstone, John Meyers at Valley, John Thomas at Mt. Savage, Edward Finzel at Beall and Augie Eichhorn at Bruce. All are veteran coaches in the circuit.

Referees approved to handle the games are Rev. John Bayley Jones, Eddie Shuck, Cecil Warnick, John Frank, Henry Stafford and Robert Thomas.

Shuck will referee the Mt. Savage battle today and John Frank will handle the Frostburg engagement. All league games begin at 3:30 p. m.

Nutritious Louisiana Yams Achievement In Food World

The Louisiana yam is more than just a sweet potato. It's a carefully nurtured, highly developed root vegetable which science has made into the Number One root crop in total food units per pound, such as carbohydrates, minerals, proteins and vitamins.

The story of the Louisiana Yam is also the story of the professional career of one of the world's top horticulturists, Dr. Julian Miller of Louisiana State University. From the more than 200 varieties of sweet potatoes existent in the South in 1929, Dr. Miller chose the superior variety to begin his research. Over a period of years the scientist experimented with 16,000 plants, and finally by 1934, had narrowed the number down to 12 from which he developed the one strain which was to become the Louisiana Yam .

Since 1934, Dr. Miller has never ceased his intensive efforts at the University to bring about more and more improvements in the Louisiana Yam. Although his chief interest is to breed yams for greater nutritional value, his research program also consists of experiments to produce a high yield, uniform shape, storage ability, market quality and disease resistance.

His success is recorded in scientific facts. Since 1929, when he began his work with the Louisiana Yam, the Vitamin A content of the vegetable has been increased by more than 100%. Not only are Louisiana Yams the fourth major food crop of the state, but three out of every four yams eaten in America today come from Louisiana.

How can you be sure that you are getting Louisiana Yams at your local market? The yam can best be identified in shape by comparing it to two over-sized ice cream cones with their cups fused together. In addition to the tapered ends, the Louisiana Yam is somewhat heavier and its skin a more coppery color than other sweet potato varieties.

Once opened, the distinguishing features of the yams are easily discernable. The deep orange flesh with golden overtones, the moist texture and the stringlessness are unmistakable qualities of Louisiana Yams. The deep orange color denotes large quantities of carotene, the element which the body utilizes as Vitamin A. The yam is also one of the very few vegetables with ample quantities of Vitamin C in addition to Vitamin A. Vitamins B-1 and B-2 are also present along with proteins, minerals and carbohydrates.

Because Louisiana Yams cook moist and tender, they are among the most versatile of vegetables. Baked, boiled or fried, they can be varied endlessly with different seasonings or combined with numerous other foods. Because of their moisture content yams cook more rapidly than other root vegetables, which makes them ideal for last-minute meals. Little preparation time is needed for many yam dishes. Their color lends appetite appeal to any meal, and their mellow flavor blends readily with endless foods for new taste treats.

This main dish is quick and wonderful! Mix together a cup each of cut up chicken and ham, a can of chicken gumbo soup, 3 cups of cooked rice, ¾ cup of water. Some chopped pimento is good, too. Bake at 350°F. until heated through. Make this dish "company fancy" by topping it with pineapple slices studded with whole cloves, dotting the slices with butter or margarine and brown sugar. Bake the dish until heated through.

GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

". . . Near as I can make out, the way to survive an H-bomb is about the same as an A-bomb . . . only more so."

Minute-Saving Meats

"Summertime, when the livin' is easy . . ." is the time to recall short cuts to good eating. One short cut is to serve quick-cooling minute or cubed beef steaks. Now, during these days of plentiful beef supplies, let these attractively priced "baby steaks" solve your menu problems.

Minute steaks may be cooked by pan-broiling or by braising. To panbroil, heat a lightly greased skillet and in it cook steaks one to two minutes on each side, or until browned and of the desired doneness. To braise, flour steaks and brown lightly in a little hot fat. Season and add a small amount of liquid, such as barebcue sauce or canned soup. Cook, covered, over low heat 15 to 20 minutes.

Variety meats are rich sources of vitamins and minerals, particularly Vitamin A, and the B vitamins. It is a nutritionwise homemaker who includes a serving of liver or tongue in her weekly menu. Beef liver, particularly, can be prepared in many appetizing dishes. French fried liver is a favorite with the younger generation, but liver and bacon, liver loaves, and braised liver with vegetables are other suggestions.

Thanksgiving Surprise

It's never too early to start thinking about Thanksgiving dinner. Most of the menu may be a family tradition, and rightly so, but a little surprise, a little lift, is good for any meal! Surprises are best tried in advance. Beware of experiments on the big day.

How about a pumpkin pie, a bow to tradition, but with a light touch, a subtle spiciness sure to be appreciated at the conclusion of the feast? Pumpkin chiffon pie with date corn flakes crumb crust is worth considering.

A few words the cook will welcome: this pie can be made ahead of time, stored in freezing unit and taken out to thaw 1 to 2 hours before serving—just about the time the bird begins to brown.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie with Date Corn Flakes Crumb Crust

¾ cup pitted dates
¼ cup water
¼ cup butter or margarine
3 cups corn flakes
1 tablespoon sugar
⅛ cup chopped nutmeats
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1½ cups cooked pumpkin
¾ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon allspice
⅛ cup milk
3 eggs, separated
⅛ cup granulated sugar
½ cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Cook dates and water over low heat, stirring to form a soft paste. Add butter and stir until combined. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Add to date paste together with sugar and nutmeats; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Soften gelatin in water. Combine pumpkin, brown sugar, salt, spices and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until mixture boils. Combine with slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in softened gelatin. Chill until mixture begins to set. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; add granulated sugar gradually and continue beating until whites stand in peaks. Whip cream until stiff; fold into pumpkin mixture together with egg whites and grated orange rind. Spread lightly in Date Corn Flakes Crumb Crust and chill until set.* Serve at room temperature with additional whipped cream, if desired.

Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

*Pie may be carefully covered, wrapped and stored in freezer until ready to use. Let stand at room temperature 1-2 hours before serving.

Ground beef patties are the teenager's favorite, but dressed up, they're an economical addition to the dinner menu. Try adding grated raw potato or grated raw apple to the ground beef mixture for a flavor change. For a gourmet touch, place two thin beef patties together with a stuffing of bleu cheese, dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce and mayonnaise, pressing the edges of the patties securely together.

It's all over town.

Two-Year-Old Title At Stake

Belmont Futurity To Test For Derby

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—The 2-year-old championship of 1953 will be at stake Saturday at Belmont Park when Mrs. George D. Widener's unbeaten filly, Evening Out, battles a dozen colts in the $100,000 Futurity.

With no real standout having shown yet in the title scramble, unless it can be Evening Out, the six-and-one-half-furlong dash down the Widener straight course should give the first accurate line on the horses who will be battling in the Kentucky Derby next spring.

In 63 previous runnings of the country's most important 2-year-old classic, 11 fillies have won. However, only two have entered the winner's circle in the last 22 years.

Native Dancer won last year's Futurity in world-record-equalling time.

So. Africa Wins

FOLKESTONE, England, Oct. 1 (AP) — South Africa defeated the United States 4-0, today in the Women's International Hockey Tournament.

Officials: John Shelton, James Gaffney, Robert Pence, William B. Orndorff.

Fort Hill's unbeaten Sentinels will face a strong foe in Coach John Cobourn's Martinsburg Bulldogs tonight when the two elevens clash at 8 p. m. in Fort Hill Stadium.

Although the Bulldogs have dropped two straight decisions this season and will be seeking their first victory here the Cobournmen are always a tough opponent and Coach Bill Hahn has been scrimmaging his Sentinels hard the past two weeks for tonight's engagement. Martinsburg last year handed Fort Hill one of its two defeats by a 21-20 score in the West Virginia city.

Officials Are Named

Hahn said last night John Shelton, Jim Gaffney, Bob Pence and Bee Orndorff will officiate tonight's contest at which a large crowd is expected. Advance ticket sales are being made at the school, Wilson Hardware and Truitt's Drug Store.

Martinsburg will bring a large delegation of followers to the game in several chartered buses and the excellent Martinsburg High School band will also accompany the team here.

Fort Hill was idle last week and will be seeking its third triumph of the season against the Bulldogs. Hahn said he has made several changes in his starting lineup with All-City lineman Wayne Couter recovered from injuries and ready to start at tackle. Bill Steppe, a lanky but very fast end, has been shifted to the Fort Hill backfield to aid with his speed on offense and better defensive ability.

AHS At Hagerstown

Meanwhile tonight's schedule also finds two other long-time rivals pitting their strength against each other when Coach Roy Lester takes his Allegany Campers to Hagerstown to battle Mentor Mel Henry's Hub City eleven.

Allegany, which has lost its last three games to the Henrymen, will be striving for its second victory this season while Hagerstown sports a 1-2 record. Last year Hagerstown stopped the Campers 7-0 in the local stadium.

An important Potomac Valley Conference clash will pit Ridgeley's undefeated Blackhawks against Keyser High's once-beaten Tornado. Keyser is defending PVC champion and will be gunning for its first conference victory against the lighter Hawks. Ridgeley has copped three in a row, including one PVC tilt.

In past series Keyser leads with 11 victories to Ridgeley's six while one game ended in a tie. Both Chet Payne's Hawks and Tack Clark's Tornado elevens are veteran teams.

Past games:

1935—Ridgeley 7, Keyser 6

Erskine Opposes Raschi In 3rd Series Contest

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP) — Vic Raschi (13-6) and Carl Erskine (20-6), a pair of righthanders, will be the opposing pitchers in tomorrow's third World Series game, the opener at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field.

Raschi, 34-year-old veteran of five previous series, has a 5-2 record in series competition. Against the Dodgers in series play, Raschi has a 3-1 record.

Erskine, only 26, is 1-1 against the Yanks in two series. He was used only on relief in '49 but split two starting assignments last year. He gave up four runs in yesterday's opener and was yanked after one inning but was not charged with the loss.

THOMAS, W. Va., Oct. 1 — Thomas High scored its second straight gridiron victory here today with an easy 32-0 decision over Pruntytown High.

Bill Evans, Thomas quarterback, plunged for three touchdowns while Jim Knaggs scored two and Alex Waitkus added another.

Scoring in every period, Thomas completely dominated play, rolling up 362 yards on the ground. Knaggs tallied in the first quarter on a 52 yard romp to open the Thomas scoring. Evans scored on a six-yard sneak in the second period, twice more went over on keep plays of 20 and 5 yards and passed 16 yards to Waitkus for another score. Knaggs got his second touchdown on a seven-yard end run.

Pruntytown's only threat in the fourth period ended when Frank Martin of Thomas recovered a fumble on the victor's two-yard line. The lineups:

Beall Boosters Donate To Band, Plan Soccer Award

FROSTBURG, Oct. 1—The Beall High Booster Club, at a meeting tonight, donated $25 to the Beall Band Boosters to help defray costs of new uniforms for the Frostburg High School band.

Also decided was a weekly award to be given the outstanding Beall soccer player in Western Maryland Interscholastic League games. The player will be given a gold soccer ball.

Trophies donated for the football Player of the Week are being given by Frostburg Elks, Frostburg Knights of Columbus, and Shaft Volunteer Fire Company for the next three weeks.

Mantle Socks Homer In 8th For 4-2 Win

Martin Also Hits For Circuit As Roe Loses To Ed Lopat

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' 21-year-old glamor boy, powered a 375-foot home run with Hank Bauer on base in the eighth inning today for a second straight Yankee victory over Brooklyn, 4-2, before 66,786 World Series fans.

Dodgers Outhit Yanks

Outhit by the Dodgers, 9 to 5, the rallying Yanks tied the score on Billy Martin's homer in the seventh. Then Mantle's blast, following a single by Bauer, brought the Preach crashing down to his first series defeat.

Roe, mixing his slow breaking stuff with an occasional fast ball, had a two-hitter for the first six innings. One of the hits, a second-inning double by Phil Rizzuto almost was caught by Carl Furillo. The other was a bloop single by Martin in the fourth.

Rolling along with a 2-1 lead, built by Billy Cox's double that chased home Gil Hodges and Furillo in the fourth, Roe appeared to be in complete control.

Martin led off the seventh with a high fly that Robinson appeared to misjudge temporarily. Finding the ball in the sun, Jackie dashed back to the left-field barrier and made a frantic lunge among the customers. The ball disappeared, then bounced back on the playing field as Frank Dascoli, umpire on the left-field foul line, signaled home run. That tied the score, 2-2.

When Joe Collins drove a long fly to right field—the first time he had pulled a ball all day—to open the eighth, there were hints that Roe might be tiring. Bauer followed with a line single to left.

Preacher Works Carefully

Carefully The Preach worked on Mickey. Ball one was low and outside. Another curve to the same place while Mickey Mantle waited. Then came the pitch that the Yank center fielder sent soaring into the lower left-field seats. Roe allowed 27 home runs during the regular season. The old gopher ball proved his undoing today.

Lopat, who like Roe is 35, pitched his usual steady game, mixing his "junk" with an occasional fast ball. Time after time the Brooks got men on base, only to have Steady Eddie wipe out the threat.

The Dodgers, who left 12 on base yesterday, stranded 10 more today. They went down in order only once, in the third inning.

WMI Soccer League To Open 27th Year With Five Teams

Bruce High Booters Are Defending Champs

The 27th season of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League will open today with a pair of games scheduled for Mt. Savage and Frostburg.

Bruce High's eleven, coached by Augie Eichhorn, will be the defending champions, having captured the title last year. Bruce will be idle on opening day today.

Initial games will pit Valley High's new entry against another newcomer, Mt. Savage on the latter's field. Two returnees of the five-team circuit will find Flintstone at Beall High of Frostburg.

Valley High's team replaces Central of Lonaconing and Mt. Savage takes over Barton High's spot. Barton and Central were incorporated this year to form Valley High.

Bruce's defending champions have captured 11 titles while Beall and the former Barton teams each won six championships. The old Central teams won three times in the 26-year history of the circuit.

Coaches starting at the helm of the five teams are Orville Jackson at Flintstone, John Meyers at Valley, John Thomas at Mt. Savage, Edward Finzel at Beall and Augie Eichhorn at Bruce. All are veteran coaches in the circuit.

Referees approved to handle the games are Rev. John Bayley Jones, Eddie Shuck, Cecil Warnick, John Frank, Henry Stafford and Robert Thomas.

Shuck will referee the Mt. Savage battle today and John Frank will handle the Frostburg engagement. All league games begin at 3:30 p. m.

There Is Only One . . .
There is only one original Wight's SHERBROOK . . . Maryland's most treasured straight rye whiskey. Down through the years, since 1868, it has been made by four generations of the same family to the same formula in the same time-honored way. Every drop is aged six full years. We invite you to try SHERBROOK and see for yourself why it outsells all other Maryland straight ryes—by far!

Play-By-Play Of Yanks' Second Series Game Victory

First Inning Dodgers

Gilliam bounced out to Rizzuto. Reese lined to right field and when Bauer stumbled and fell, the ball bounced by him enabling Reese to race to third. Snider popped to Berra. Robinson flied out to Mantle.

First Inning Yankees

Woodling walked. Collins also walked. Bauer flied out to Furillo. Woodling advanced to third after the catch, Collins stayed on first. Berra lined to Furillo, Woodling scoring after the catch. Collins moved to second. Mantle walked. McDougald was hit on the ankle, filling the bases. Martin lined to Snider. Roe made 34 pitches in the inning.

One run, no hits, no errors, three left.

Second Inning Dodgers

Campanella bounced to McDougald who threw him out. Hodges walked. McDougald took Furillo's chopper and threw him out as Hodges advanced. Lopat took a full windup and Hodges stole third without drawing a throw. Cox walked. Roe's liner bounced off Lopat's glove and rolled to Collins who made the out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Yankees

Rizzuto doubled when Furillo failed to hold the ball. Rizzuto took third as the rightfielder dropped the ball. Lopat went down swinging. Woodling bounced to Gilliam whose peg to Campanella cut down Rizzuto at the plate. Woodling reached first on the fielders choice. Hodges scooped up Collins' hot shot and stepped on first for the putout.

Third Inning Dodgers

Gilliam popped to Martin. Reese flied to Mantle. Snider sent a long fly to Mantle.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Third Inning Yankees

Cox threw out Bauer. Berra rolled to Hodges. Mantle bounced out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Fourth Inning Dodgers

Woodling took Robinson's fly. Campanella bounced out. Hodges singled. Furillo also singled, sending Hodges to third. Cox doubled scoring Hodges and Furillo. Roe struck out.

Fourth Inning Yankees

Campanella got McDougald's chopper and threw him out. Martin blooped a single. Reese made a nice play on Rizzuto's sacrifice and nipped the runner on a toss to Hodges. Hodges fielded Lopat's bounder for the putout.

Fifth Inning Dodgers

Lopat took Gilliam's bunt and whipped him out. Reese singled. Snider went down swinging. Robinson singled. Martin fielded Campanella's grounder and threw him out.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Fifth Inning Yankees

Woodling struck out. Collins popped to Gilliam. Bauer struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Sixth Inning Dodgers

Indians Buy Two New Farm Players

They acquired the player voted most valuable in the International League, Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, 30-year-old first baseman who throws and bats from the port side. In the past season he hit .308, had 35 home runs and 123 runs batted in for Montreal.

The center fielder was Galeard Wade, 24, of Fort Worth in the Texas League. His batting average was .316, fourth highest in the league.

Yanks Sign Leja

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP) — Frank Leja, a 17-year-old first baseman who has been tabbed "another Lou Gehrig" by scout Paul Krichell, today signed a New York Yankee contract. The Holyoke, Mass., high school grad had asked $100,000 but there was no announcement on the amount of bonus money paid.

"Italian" Pot Roast

3 tablespoons fat or beef fat drippings
1 4-ounce can mushrooms, drained or ½ pound fersh mushrooms
2 medium onions, sliced
1 3- to 4-pound chuck roast (we used the boned, rolled neck cut)
3 tablespoons all purpose flour
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
¼ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ clove garlic, minced
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Heat fat in large, heavy pan. Add mushrooms and onions and saute over low heat until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from fat and reserve.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth and rub with flour. Brown slowly on all sides in the fat.

Add remaining ingredients, and the mushrooms and onions. Cover tightly and simmer until tender, 2½ to 3 hours. (or cook in pressure cooker according to directions.)

Place meat on a warm platter and pour sauce over it. Makes from 9 to 12 servings.

Rolled Stuffed Chuck Steak

1 1½ to 2-lb. chuck steak, 1 inch thick (we used the arm cut, boned)
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup celery
1 tablespoon onion, minced
2 tablespoons flour
2 tabelspoons fat or beef fat drippings
½ cup water

Have the meat boned at the market or do it yourself. Carefully cut around arm and rib bones and remove them. Wipe meat with a damp cloth.

Combine bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon of salt, pepper, thyme, and lemon rind in a bowl. Melt butter in a small skillet. Add celery and onion and saute until tender, about 5 minutes. Add to bread mixture and toss lightly. Spread on meat; roll up and tie. Rub with flour.

Heat fat in a large, heavy pan and brown meat slowly on all sides. Add water and the remaining teaspoon of salt. Cover tightly and simmer until tender, about 2 to 2½ hours.

Garnish with water cress and lemon slices. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Two-Year-Old Title At Stake

Belmont Futurity To Test For Derby

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—The 2-year-old championship of 1953 will be at stake Saturday at Belmont Park when Mrs. George D. Widener's unbeaten filly, Evening Out, battles a dozen colts in the $100,000 Futurity.

With no real standout having shown yet in the title scramble, unless it can be Evening Out, the six-and-one-half-furlong dash down the Widener straight course should give the first accurate line on the horses who will be battling in the Kentucky Derby next spring.

In 63 previous runnings of the country's most important 2-year-old classic, 11 fillies have won. However, only two have entered the winner's circle in the last 22 years.

Native Dancer won last year's Futurity in world-record-equalling time.

So. Africa Wins

FOLKESTONE, England, Oct. 1 (AP) — South Africa defeated the United States 4-0, today in the Women's International Hockey Tournament.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1 (INS) — You know Jack Warner is well pleased with David Butler as a director when he gives him a new contract. In these difficult days few new deals are being made at any studio.

David, who has been at Warners since 1941, will direct "The Talisman," Sir Walter Scott's novel, as his first under this new deal. Of course, it will be in Warnerscope, color, etc.

The last two Butler pictures, "Calamity Jane" and "Rear Guard," were largely responsible for this new contract.

Montgomery Clift has been paged for the lead, but so far hasn't answered the call.

Perhaps the easiest job young Sam Goldwyn ever had in his life was to try to buy from his mother, the lovely Frances, pictures that Sam Goldwyn, Sr., made. The deal is for Frances to sell 50 of the Goldwyn pictures to CBS for TV.

Young Sam is an associate of CBS Headman Bill Paley and he came out here especially to talk to his mother.

On Frances and Sam's 25th wedding anniversary, Sam gave her the complete rights to all the pictures he owned up to the ones he made ten years ago.

It will certainly be a break for TV to get these Goldwyn films, which shows some movies that should have been retired years ago.

After a lot of talk that Rhonda Fleming would be opposite Van Heflin in "Tanganyika," the gal who comes up with the job is Ruth Roman.

This is an adventure story with an African background, but unlike the "Mogambo" and "African Queen" troupes, Universal-International is not sending the company to Africa. The thrills and animals will be shot on the back lot.

Ruth Roman doesn't need to move her make-up kit. She'll finish "Far Country" with Jimmy Stewart for U-I just in time to start the new picture with Heflin.

Any hour now, whether MGM admits it or not, Jose Ferrer will be signed for the Sigmund Romberg story, now called "Deep in My Heart" from one of his most beautiful melodies.

MGM says the deal with Jose is still in the negotiation stage — but my money says Ferrer has pen in hand to ink the contract about the time you're reading this.

Chuck Walters, now on a five months leave of absence (he's putting the new Shirley Booth play "By the Beautiful Sea" into rehearsal on Broadway), will direct. And the producing job goes to Roger Eden, longtime assistant to Arthur Freed, who has well earned his right to a producer's berth.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

One of the happiest people that Goody Knight will be our governor is Blanca Holmes, who read it in the stars a year ago. She says he'll be re-elected after he finishes Warren's term.

Anatole Litvak and a top Paris model named Sophie Malgrat have marriage plans, according to someone very close to Tola. Litvak gets here next week with a print of his picture with Kirk Douglas but he'll only stay two weeks.

Joseph McCarthy's bride is just as sweet as her pictures look. I met her at Basey McCormick Tankersley's house at dinner the night before the inauguration.

John Wayne, in Mexico resting for the big trial, had Bob Fellows host the party he gave for Estelita's opening at the Cocoanut Grove.

Sheila and Gordon Macrae had a party for six, and Victor McLaglen hosted a party of eight.

MacDonald Carey will talk with Colette, author of "Gigi" in Paris. He wants to buy the screen rights to her novel "Recaptured."

Virginia Mayo's aging Boston terrier will be on a slight jag the rest of his life. He's suffering from secondary anemia and the vet has prescribed doses of brandy!

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Enjoys Operation At 105

BANGOR, Wales, Oct. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Owen of Caernarvonshire underwent a throat operation today and said later she enjoyed the experience. She is 105.

Ancient Romans saved the down that a young man scraped off in his first shave and offered it to the gods in a religious ceremony.

Normally, a whispering voice can be heard from 18 to 20 feet away.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Distributed By INS)

Chicago Re-Visited

That Republican and Democratic series in Chicago wound up in a tie.

Everybody was pitching and batting. Nobody was catching and fielding.

That's politics. You accuse the other side of what you're doing yourself.

There's no more come-back to that than jumping off the Eiffel Tower.

Everybody's tarred with the same brush, birds of a feather flock together and the beam in your eye gathers no moss. It's the law of diminishing returns with no re-sale value.

Each side held a victory dinner subject to referendum and recall. Let's give you an idea of what you get for a hundred certificates of the realm. Enough consomme in a tub to swim across.

There's canape of elephant's wrist, petits on all fours, tossed salad over the transom, fancy steps from the picket line, ear trumpets stuffed with malarkey and sweep-up-the-kitchen. If that's victory we'll take Patrick Henry's second choice with double indemnity.

The 1953 convention could either be plans for the future or memoranda on a post-mortem. They're scattering the corn after the geese have gone south.

The crime of voting either way is non-extraditable. It's too early for an ambush. If Chicago revisited has any nutritious decibles why doesn't Farouk high-tail it back to Cairo?

We can understand the old guardians returning to the stockyards for a sentimental whiff of orange blossoms and old cowhides.

But why should the Democrats try to recapture a moment when they lost four years?

Your guess is as wide as mine. The whole thing is like snapping bon-bons across the thirty-eighth parallel.

Eastward Ho!

Membership of mysterious eastern nations in world conferences has added a polyglot dining car to the Washington-Bagdad express.

The cloakroom is loaded with unwound turbans, dignified plenipotentiaries shed their brogans at the door and delegates are knocking themselves out on reinforced prayer rugs.

Fluted cobras are spiraling out of umbrella stands and three bows to the east are a concensus of bending exercises.

Vital problems are solved by walking seven times around the stack of Abba-Gefalfa. The camel has its nose under the tent. What makes it so bad the beast has hay fever.

The caids and the satraps have taken their wise men off the scratch sheets and are concentrating on international wing-dings. When you are being pursued across the burning sands by the murderous Barga-Wallas it is comforting to know that you are a guest of the management.

While the UN bazaar is not a permanent structure we bet the Arabs will have a tough time folding it.

Iran, Iraq, Hoodab, Packistan and Wadi-Swab have synchronized their parking spaces and will insist on curb service for sons of the prophet.

The minarets and mosques of old Hindustani are the arsenals of parliamentary procedure. What can modern culture do against the resistless tides of a million Nargilehs?

What is to be will be. Especially if the Kumshaw is buttered right.

The fatalism of the Orient has sideswiped the materialism of the Occident. The genie in the bottle will be housed in the handy pocket size.

The faithful will make the pilgrimage to the Pentagon.

The swami has spoken.

The Price Is Right

We are starting a third party to put victory dinners within reach of the working man.

The Democrats have pegged their smorgasbord triumphs at $100 per platter.

We claim $100 is too much for a get-together dinner. First thing you've got to get together is the $100.

There was a time starting in 1932 when all the Demos packed was a picnic lunch.

Anytime we furnish that kind of ransom we want matched pearls in the oyster stew. And the hoss radish grated on a harp.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Pass too lightly over the fine points of your carriage, grooming, beauty care or posture and soon you'll discover that you are being passed in the ever-continuing popularity contest.

For instance, as every model knows, a neck is something more than just what holds the head up. For one thing, it's the extension of the skin of your face — and unless it is accorded similar treatment, it will turn traitor to your beauty. Particularly after thirty, the neck should be treated to a lubricant every day.

With your hands well-loaded with a lubricant, start your massage at the back of the neck, lightly stroking from the spot where the dowager's hump can form up to your hairline. Place the palms of your hands (more lubricant added) on either side of your neck and stroke up toward your ears. Next, treat the front of your neck with the palms of your hands, lightly stroking upward from the base of your neck to your chin. This is wrinkle-prevention and correction that no woman who wishes to retain her beauty should skip — even for one day. The best treatment time is just before retiring, so the thin residue of lubricant left on the skin can have plenty of time to work.

Habit Of Beauty

But perhaps even more important is the manner in which you habitually position your neck. First, think of it as an upright column, evenly supporting the weight of your head. The lobe of your ear should be in a vertical line with your shoulder bone. Your lower jaw line, your chin to neck line, should be parallel to the floor. Using a mirror, check these positions with a ruler.

The penalty for skipping lubrication, allowing your head to bob around or permitting your head to habitually jut forward is unloveliness that consists of wrinkled and crepey skin, double and flabby chin and a dowager's hump in back.

Correction Achieved

To correct established bad habits, use these exercises:

1. Looking straight ahead, pull your head over toward your right shoulder, then over toward your left. Pull as hard as you can, three or four times in each direction.

2. Now stretch your head forward as far as you can. Hold for a count of five. Then pull it back as far as it will go and hold for another five count.

3. Drop your head forward until your chin touches your chest. Now rotate it slowly and evenly in a circle around your body.

Perform all three routines several times a day. They are definitely relaxing. They'll do wonders for your beauty. And you'll be able to wear your party frocks with a pride, confident that your neck is truly a "column of beauty."

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree —to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Church Warns Cardinal's Foes

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church's penalty of excommunication lay today upon all who have "sacrilegiously raised their hands" against Stefan Cardinal Wyszynsky, Primate of Poland, and impeded him in his religious duties.

The Vatican's Consistorial Congregation, whose prefect is Pope Pius XII, said that all who had participated in the action against the Cardinal last weekend fall under provisions of two church laws inflicting excommunication.

Excommunication cuts Catholics from their church and deprives them of its sacraments.

The type of excommunication in the Polish case is broad and automatic. Release from it may be obtained only from the Pope.

The declaration of the Congregation—one of 12 that governs Catholic Church affairs—was dated Sept. 30.

Poland's Communist government announced Sept. 28 that Cardinal Wyszynski, the last free Cardinal in the Communist sphere, had been forbidden from "fulfilling his functions connected with his church offices" because of his work against a church-state agreement of 1950 and—at the suggestion of the Polish episcopate—was assigned to take up residency in a monastery.

Vatican sources, who have never recognized the 1950 agreement declared the Cardinal could not be suspended from his church duties by civil authorities.

The Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, without quoting its source, said Cardinal Wyszynski was arrested after a night-long search of his Warsaw residence by armed Polish police.

Play-By-Play Of Yanks' Second Series Game Victory

First Inning Dodgers

Gilliam bounced out to Rizzuto. Reese lined to right field and when Bauer stumbled and fell, the ball bounced by him enabling Reese to race to third. Snider popped to Berra. Robinson flied out to Mantle.

First Inning Yankees

Woodling walked. Collins also walked. Bauer flied out to Furillo. Woodling advanced to third after the catch, Collins stayed on first. Berra lined to Furillo, Woodling scoring after the catch. Collins moved to second. Mantle walked. McDougald was hit on the ankle, filling the bases. Martin lined to Snider. Roe made 34 pitches in the inning.

One run, no hits, no errors, three left.

Second Inning Dodgers

Campanella bounced to McDougald who threw him out. Hodges walked. McDougald took Furillo's chopper and threw him out as Hodges advanced. Lopat took a full windup and Hodges stole third without drawing a throw. Cox walked. Roe's liner bounced off Lopat's glove and rolled to Collins who made the out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Yankees

Rizzuto doubled when Furillo failed to hold the ball. Rizzuto took third as the rightfielder dropped the ball. Lopat went down swinging. Woodling bounced to Gilliam whose peg to Campanella cut down Rizzuto at the plate. Woodling reached first on the fielders choice. Hodges scooped up Collins' hot shot and stepped on first for the putout.

Third Inning Dodgers

Gilliam popped to Martin. Reese flied to Mantle. Snider sent a long fly to Mantle.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Seventh Inning Dodgers

Seventh Inning Yankees

Martin hit a home run into the lower left field stands. Rizzuto sent a high fly to Robinson. Lopat was called out on strikes. Reese stopped Woodling's smash and threw to Hodges.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Eighth Inning Dodgers

Rizzuto threw out Campanella. Hodges singled. Furillo hit to Martin who started a double play, the second baseman to Rizzuto to Collins.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Eight Inning Yankees

Collins flied to Furillo. Bauer singled. Snider took Berra's fly. Mantle slammed a home run into the lower left field scoring Bauer ahead of him. Robinson gathered in McDougald's fly.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, none left.

Ninth Inning Dodgers

Rizzuto got Cox's grounder and threw him out. Dick Williams batted for Roe. Williams singled. Gilliam flied to Martin. Reese walked. Snider hit to Martin who tossed to Collins to retire the batter.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Indians Buy Two New Farm Players

They acquired the player voted most valuable in the International League, Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, 30-year-old first baseman who throws and bats from the port side. In the past season he hit .308, had 35 home runs and 123 runs batted in for Montreal.

The center fielder was Galeard Wade, 24, of Fort Worth in the Texas League. His batting average was .316, fourth highest in the league.

Yanks Sign Leja

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP) — Frank Leja, a 17-year-old first baseman who has been tabbed "another Lou Gehrig" by scout Paul Krichell, today signed a New York Yankee contract. The Holyoke, Mass., high school grad had asked $100,000 but there was no announcement on the amount of bonus money paid.

"Italian" Pot Roast

3 tablespoons fat or beef fat drippings
1 4-ounce can mushrooms, drained or ½ pound fersh mushrooms
2 medium onions, sliced
1 3- to 4-pound chuck roast (we used the boned, rolled neck cut)
3 tablespoons all purpose flour
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
¼ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ clove garlic, minced
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Heat fat in large, heavy pan. Add mushrooms and onions and saute over low heat until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from fat and reserve.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth and rub with flour. Brown slowly on all sides in the fat.

Add remaining ingredients, and the mushrooms and onions. Cover tightly and simmer until tender, 2½ to 3 hours. (or cook in pressure cooker according to directions.)

Place meat on a warm platter and pour sauce over it. Makes from 9 to 12 servings.

Rolled Stuffed Chuck Steak

1 1½ to 2-lb. chuck steak, 1 inch thick (we used the arm cut, boned)
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup celery
1 tablespoon onion, minced
2 tablespoons flour
2 tabelspoons fat or beef fat drippings
½ cup water

Have the meat boned at the market or do it yourself. Carefully cut around arm and rib bones and remove them. Wipe meat with a damp cloth.

Combine bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon of salt, pepper, thyme, and lemon rind in a bowl. Melt butter in a small skillet. Add celery and onion and saute until tender, about 5 minutes. Add to bread mixture and toss lightly. Spread on meat; roll up and tie. Rub with flour.

Heat fat in a large, heavy pan and brown meat slowly on all sides. Add water and the remaining teaspoon of salt. Cover tightly and simmer until tender, about 2 to 2½ hours.

Garnish with water cress and lemon slices. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Radio And Television

Radio Can Do It Better

That fine new journalist's tool, the tape recorder, gets quite a stimulating workout on Feature Project, a CBS radio enterprise which about once a month has been presenting hour-long shows on problems of national interest.

John Crosby

Since last March, when the series started, Feature Project has presented "Bomb Target, U. S. A." with Arthur Godfrey narrating, a grim tale of what the atom would do to us; "The Green Border," the story of the refugees who have fled the Iron Curtain countries narrated by Edward R. Murrow; "Class of '53," which was about today's teenagers and was narrated by Justice Douglas; "Thirty-Eighth Parallel, U. S. A." in which Americans along the 38th Parallel in this country were interviewed about the Korean War; "The Quacks," an expose of medical charlatans narrated by Bill Downs; and "This Game of Baseball," all about the national pastime and narrated by that part-owner of the cellar-dwelling Pirates, Bing Crosby.

They haven't all been great — in fact, the baseball documentary was pretty bad — but the average has been very high. I personally prefer the CBS crew in their muck-raking mood, best exemplified by 'Nation's Nightmare" series about the crime-ridden waterfront. In the present series CBS tape-recording reporters invaded the quacks' offices, posed as patients and recorded their voices pontificating medical double-talk.

The quacks talked such utter malarkey that it would have been funny — except that ill people willing to try anything and hastening their own deaths in the process have a limited comedy appeal. One case was that of a Florida man with the so-called "Koch treatment" for cancer. The quack gave him a shot of distilled water, worth a few cents, and charged him $100. (The "treatment" usually costs from $100 to $500 a shot). The quack claimed it would cure anything, including insanity, hay fever, coronary thrombosis, dementia praecox and leprosy. Cancer spread all over the patient's face after he took the shot. When the man finally went to a legitimate cancer clinic, the whole lower half of his face had to be removed by surgery. Man hasn't been able to talk since.

Assembling material like this is a little rough on the tape recording reporters at times. One CBS reporter was investigating a quack treatment known as "The New Yorker method" which operates in Los Angeles. "The New Yorker method" turned out to be no more than a high colonic which, he was assured, would cure a heart condition he didn't have. True to the CBS code pledging their lives and sacred honor to William S. Paley, this reporter climbed up on a table and submitted to a high colonic. (No, they didn't tape record that.)

One "naturopath" told a CBS reporter with "a bad heart" to stop eating for seven days. "Body will start burning up all you've got in your blood," he said. "That will get you out of bed." "Will my heart get better?" asked the reporter. "You'll either get better or starve." The guy sounded a little nutty as did many of the quacks.

Radio is usually overcome with timidity but on these programs CBS is performing a service at some risk. The network names names whenever the legal department lets them and sometimes works right with a lawyer. The Feature Project staff consists of five producers, three full time reporters and about forty stringers scattered around the country. For an hour-long show, they assemble as much as 100 hours of tape recordings. There is no direct editorializing but, naturally with material like "The Quacks" the listeners are left with strong feelings on the subjects.

Cable T-V News

Our recent request for people to contact us who were interested in cable T. V. brought to their community or section has resulted in the following report: Taking into consideration the distances and requests received to date, our present plans for extending our cable system is in the following order: Balance of Bedford and Frederick Streets, Moose Lodge Section, Algonquin Hotel Section, Oldtown Road Section, South of the B & O R.R., Bowling Green, Ridgeley, Dixie and LaVale. All of these sections could be developed by the last of December. The speed of development and the exact order will depend upon additional interest shown.

Drop us a card or call in your name and address. The rates for Bowling Green and LaVale will necessarily be higher due to the extra installation costs and maintenance. These rates have not as yet been determined.

We are sincerely sorry that we could not cover all areas at the same time, but this was a physical impossibility. So we have in the past let the mass of the people determine the next areas to develop and will therefore use the same system in the future.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

PARTNER DIDN'T BID IT

HAVE YOU ever seen a good player bid a four-card suit at the level of five, when neither he nor his partner had made a previous call of it? You are likely to, in one of those unusual situations wherein the partner's length in the suit, never shown, can be inferred. Such a bid can be just as sound as one after the partner had clearly proclaimed his holding with a bid of the suit. So long as you know he has the necessary cards for support, what difference does it make how you learned the fact?

	♠ A Q 10 7 4 ♥ 7 ♦ K Q 8 4 ♣ A K 8
♠ J 9 6 3 ♥ J 9 8 6 3 2 ♦ None ♣ 9 4 2	N W E S	♠ K 8 2 ♥ K Q 10 5 ♦ A J 6 3 ♣ Q 5
	♠ 5 ♥ A 4 ♦ 10 9 7 5 2 ♣ J 10 7 6 3

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Dbl
2 ♦	Dbl	3 ♥	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♦
Dbl

The only censurable action in that entire sequence was East's double of the 5-Diamonds contract, which was made easily with the loss of nothing except two tricks in trumps. If he had stopped to reflect a bit longer on what the bidding showed, he would not have made a present of a lot of extra points with his double.

These were very fine and highly combative players. When East's opening heart bid came to West, he decided to toss in a monkey wrench against his vulnerable opponents by avoiding the natural bids with his hand, of either 2-Hearts or 4-Hearts. Maybe the 4-Hearts might have proved a paying move, however, in the way it might have crowded the other side or caused a double which would not produce much of a set.

Be that as it may, after North's takeout double of the 1-Spade, East did not yet know what was going on, so made the natural bid of his second suit, diamonds. South's business double of that was highly informative. After it West showed his heart fit and North his spade suit as protection against a possible spade psychic on West's first turn. South, already having shown his diamonds with his business double, now indicated the two-suited nature of his hand with his 4-Clubs.

That was all North needed to hear. When it reached him, he went to game in diamonds, knowing South had good support for them, though never having bid the suit.

After West's opening 1-Diamond, what bidding would you expect on this deal?

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1 (INS) — You know Jack Warner is well pleased with David Butler as a director when he gives him a new contract. In these difficult days few new deals are being made at any studio.

David, who has been at Warners since 1941, will direct "The Talisman," Sir Walter Scott's novel, as his first under this new deal. Of course, it will be in Warnerscope, color, etc.

The last two Butler pictures, "Calamity Jane" and "Rear Guard," were largely responsible for this new contract.

Montgomery Clift has been paged for the lead, but so far hasn't answered the call.

Perhaps the easiest job young Sam Goldwyn ever had in his life was to try to buy from his mother, the lovely Frances, pictures that Sam Goldwyn, Sr., made. The deal is for Frances to sell 50 of the Goldwyn pictures to CBS for TV.

Young Sam is an associate of CBS Headman Bill Paley and he came out here especially to talk to his mother.

On Frances and Sam's 25th wedding anniversary, Sam gave her the complete rights to all the pictures he owned up to the ones he made ten years ago.

It will certainly be a break for TV to get these Goldwyn films, which shows some movies that should have been retired years ago.

After a lot of talk that Rhonda Fleming would be opposite Van Heflin in "Tanganyika," the gal who comes up with the job is Ruth Roman.

This is an adventure story with an African background, but unlike the "Mogambo" and "African Queen" troupes, Universal-International is not sending the company to Africa. The thrills and animals will be shot on the back lot.

Ruth Roman doesn't need to move her make-up kit. She'll finish "Far Country" with Jimmy Stewart for U-I just in time to start the new picture with Heflin.

Any hour now, whether MGM admits it or not, Jose Ferrer will be signed for the Sigmund Romberg story, now called "Deep in My Heart" from one of his most beautiful melodies.

MGM says the deal with Jose is still in the negotiation stage — but my money says Ferrer has pen in hand to ink the contract about the time you're reading this.

Chuck Walters, now on a five months leave of absence (he's putting the new Shirley Booth play "By the Beautiful Sea" into rehearsal on Broadway), will direct. And the producing job goes to Roger Eden, longtime assistant to Arthur Freed, who has well earned his right to a producer's berth.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

One of the happiest people that Goody Knight will be our governor is Blanca Holmes, who read it in the stars a year ago. She says he'll be re-elected after he finishes Warren's term.

Anatole Litvak and a top Paris model named Sophie Malgrat have marriage plans, according to someone very close to Tola. Litvak gets here next week with a print of his picture with Kirk Douglas but he'll only stay two weeks.

Lorraine Cugat and Stanley Rubin are reviving an old romance these October evenings.

Joseph McCarthy's bride is just as sweet as her pictures look. I met her at Basey McCormick Tankersley's house at dinner the night before the inauguration.

John Wayne, in Mexico resting for the big trial, had Bob Fellows host the party he gave for Estelita's opening at the Cocoanut Grove.

Sheila and Gordon Macrae had a party for six, and Victor McLaglen hosted a party of eight.

MacDonald Carey will talk with Colette, author of "Gigi" in Paris. He wants to buy the screen rights to her novel "Recaptured."

Virginia Mayo's aging Boston terrier will be on a slight jag the rest of his life. He's suffering from secondary anemia and the vet has prescribed doses of brandy!

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Enjoys Operation At 105

BANGOR, Wales, Oct. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Owen of Caernarvonshire underwent a throat operation today and said later she enjoyed the experience. She is 105.

Ancient Romans saved the down that a young man scraped off in his first shave and offered it to the gods in a religious ceremony.

Normally, a whispering voice can be heard from 18 to 20 feet away.

Chicago Re-Visited

That Republican and Democratic series in Chicago wound up in a tie.

Everybody was pitching and batting. Nobody was catching and fielding.

That's politics. You accuse the other side of what you're doing yourself.

There's no more come-back to that than jumping off the Eiffel Tower.

Everybody's tarred with the same brush, birds of a feather flock together and the beam in your eye gathers no moss. It's the law of diminishing returns with no re-sale value.

Each side held a victory dinner subject to referendum and recall. Let's give you an idea of what you get for a hundred certificates of the realm. Enough consomme in a tub to swim across.

There's canape of elephant's wrist, petits on all fours, tossed salad over the transom, fancy steps from the picket line, ear trumpets stuffed with malarkey and sweep-up-the-kitchen. If that's victory we'll take Patrick Henry's second choice with double indemnity.

The 1953 convention could either be plans for the future or memoranda on a post-mortem. They're scattering the corn after the geese have gone south.

The crime of voting either way is non-extraditable. It's too early for an ambush. If Chicago revisited has any nutritious decibles why doesn't Farouk high-tail it back to Cairo?

We can understand the old guardians returning to the stockyards for a sentimental whiff of orange blossoms and old cowhides.

But why should the Democrats try to recapture a moment when they lost four years?

Eastward Ho!

Membership of mysterious eastern nations in world conferences has added a polyglot dining car to the Washington-Bagdad express.

The cloakroom is loaded with unwound turbans, dignified plenipotentiaries shed their brogans at the door and delegates are knocking themselves out on reinforced prayer rugs.

Fluted cobras are spiraling out of umbrella stands and three bows to the east are a concensus of bending exercises.

Vital problems are solved by walking seven times around the stack of Abba-Gefalfa. The camel has its nose under the tent. What makes it so bad the beast has hay fever.

The calds and the satraps have taken their wise men off the scratch sheets and are concentrating on international wing-dings. When you are being pursued across the burning sands by the murderous Barga-Wallas it is comforting to know that you are a guest of the management.

While the UN bazaar is not a permanent structure we bet the Arabs will have a tough time folding it.

Iran, Iraq, Hoodab, Packistan and Wadi-Swab have synchronized their parking spaces and will insist on curb service for sons of the prophet.

The minarets and mosques of old Hindustani are the arsenals of parliamentary procedure. What can modern culture do against the resistless tides of a million Nargilehs?

What is to be will be. Especially if the Kumshaw is buttered right.

The fatalism of the Orient has sideswiped the materialism of the Occident. The genie in the bottle will be housed in the handy pocket size.

The faithful will make the pilgrimage to the Pentagon.

The swami has spoken.

The Price Is Right

We are starting a third party to put victory dinners within reach of the working man.

The Democrats have pegged their smorgasbord triumphs at $100 per platter.

We claim $100 is too much for a get-together dinner. First thing you've got to get together is the $100.

There was a time starting in 1932 when all the Demos packed was a picnic lunch.

Anytime we furnish that kind of ransom we want matched pearls in the oyster stew. And the hoss radish grated on a harp.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

L Y Z X C M E M L - K S E R Q D E S A J Q
L Y M X K S E R Q S W X Z J X Z W R S D L X
R M P Z D J D L F S X C Y Z E Z—R S J U W Z R R S K.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Pass too lightly over the fine points of your carriage, grooming, beauty care or posture and soon you'll discover that you are being passed in the ever-continuing popularity contest.

For instance, as every model knows, a neck is something more than just what holds the head up. For one thing, it's the extension of the skin of your face — and unless it is accorded similar treatment, it will turn traitor to your beauty. Particularly after thirty, the neck should be treated to a lubricant every day.

With your hands well-loaded with a lubricant, start your massage at the back of the neck, lightly stroking from the spot where the dowager's hump can form up to your hairline. Place the palms of your hands (more lubricant added) on either side of your neck and stroke up toward your ears. Next, treat the front of your neck with the palms of your hands, lightly stroking upward from the base of your neck to your chin. This is wrinkle-prevention and correction that no woman who wishes to retain her beauty should skip — even for one day. The best treatment time is just before retiring, so the thin residue of lubricant left on the skin can have plenty of time to work.

Habit Of Beauty

But perhaps even more important is the manner in which you habitually position your neck. First, think of it as an upright column, evenly supporting the weight of your head. The lobe of your ear should be in a vertical line with your shoulder bone. Your lower jaw line, your chin to neck line, should be parallel to the floor. Using a mirror, check these positions with a ruler.

The penalty for skipping lubrication, allowing your head to bob around or permitting your head to habitually jut forward is unloveliness that consists of wrinkled and crepey skin, double and flabby chin and a dowager's hump in back.

Correction Achieved

To correct established bad habits, use these exercises:

1. Looking straight ahead, pull your head over toward your right shoulder, then over toward your left. Pull as hard as you can, three or four times in each direction.

2. Now stretch your head forward as far as you can. Hold for a count of five. Then pull it back as far as it will go and hold for another five count.

3. Drop your head forward until your chin touches your chest. Now rotate it slowly and evenly in a circle around your body.

Perform all three routines several times a day. They are definitely relaxing. They'll do wonders for your beauty. And you'll be able to wear your party frocks with a pride, confident that your neck is truly a "column of beauty."

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree —to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Church Warns Cardinal's Foes

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church's penalty of excommunication lay today upon all who have "sacrilegiously raised their hands" against Stefan Cardinal Wyszynsky, Primate of Poland, and impeded him in his religious duties.

The Vatican's Consistorial Congregation, whose prefect is Pope Pius XII, said that all who had participated in the action against the Cardinal last weekend fall under provisions of two church laws inflicting excommunication.

Excommunication cuts Catholics from their church and deprives them of its sacraments.

The declaration of the Congregation—one of 12 that governs Catholic Church affairs—was dated Sept. 30.

Poland's Communist government announced Sept. 28 that Cardinal Wyszynski, the last free Cardinal in the Communist sphere, had been forbidden from "fulfilling his functions connected with his church offices" because of his work against a church-state agreement of 1950 and—at the suggestion of the Polish episcopate—was assigned to take up residency in a monastery.

Vatican sources, who have never recognized the 1950 agreement declared the Cardinal could not be suspended from his church duties by civil authorities.

The Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, without quoting its source, said Cardinal Wyszynski was arrested after a night-long search of his Warsaw residence by armed Polish police.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Radio Can Do It Better

That fine new journalist's tool, the tape recorder, gets quite a stimulating workout on Feature Project, a CBS radio enterprise which about once a month has been presenting hour-long shows on problems of national interest.

John Crosby

Since last March, when the series started, Feature Project has presented "Bomb Target, U. S. A." with Arthur Godfrey narrating, a grim tale of what the atom would do to us; "The Green Border," the story of the refugees who have fled the Iron Curtain countries narrated by Edward R. Murrow; "Class of '53," which was about today's teenagers and was narrated by Justice Douglas; "Thirty-Eighth Parallel, U. S. A." in which Americans along the 38th Parallel in this country were interviewed about the Korean War; "The Quacks," an expose of medical charlatans narrated by Bill Downs; and "This Game of Baseball," all about the national pastime and narrated by that part-owner of the cellar-dwelling Pirates, Bing Crosby.

They haven't all been great — in fact, the baseball documentary was pretty bad — but the average has been very high. I personally prefer the CBS crew in their muck-raking mood, best exemplified by 'Nation's Nightmare" series about the crime-ridden waterfront. In the present series CBS tape-recording reporters invaded the quacks' offices, posed as patients and recorded their voices pontificating medical double-talk.

The quacks talked such utter malarkey that it would have been funny — except that ill people willing to try anything and hastening their own deaths in the process have a limited comedy appeal. One case was that of a Florida man with the so-called "Koch treatment" for cancer. The quack gave him a shot of distilled water, worth a few cents, and charged him $100. (The "treatment" usually costs from $100 to $500 a shot). The quack claimed it would cure anything, including insanity, hay fever, coronary thrombosis, dementia praecox and leprosy. Cancer spread all over the patient's face after he took the shot. When the man finally went to a legitimate cancer clinic, the whole lower half of his face had to be removed by surgery. Man hasn't been able to talk since.

Assembling material like this is a little rough on the tape recording reporters at times. One CBS reporter was investigating a quack treatment known as "The New Yorker method" which operates in Los Angeles. "The New Yorker method" turned out to be no more than a high colonic which, he was assured, would cure a heart condition he didn't have. True to the CBS code pledging their lives and sacred honor to William S. Paley, this reporter climbed up on a table and submitted to a high colonic. (No, they didn't tape record that.)

One "naturopath" told a CBS reporter with "a bad heart" to stop eating for seven days. "Body will start burning up all you've got in your blood," he said. "That will get you out of bed." "Will my heart get better?" asked the reporter. "You'll either get better or starve." The guy sounded a little nutty as did many of the quacks.

Radio is usually overcome with timidity but on these programs CBS is performing a service at some risk. The network names names whenever the legal department lets them and sometimes works right with a lawyer. The Feature Project staff consists of five producers, three full time reporters and about forty stringers scattered around the country. For an hour-long show, they assemble as much as 100 hours of tape recordings. There is no direct editorializing but, naturally with material like "The Quacks" the listeners are left with strong feelings on the subjects.

Cable T-V News

Our recent request for people to contact us who were interested in cable T. V. brought to their community or section has resulted in the following report: Taking into consideration the distances and requests received to date, our present plans for extending our cable system is in the following order: Balance of Bedford and Frederick Streets, Moose Lodge Section, Algonquin Hotel Section, Oldtown Road Section, South of the B & O R.R., Bowling Green, Ridgeley, Dixie and LaVale. All of these sections could be developed by the last of December. The speed of development and the exact order will depend upon additional interest shown.

Drop us a card or call in your name and address. The rates for Bowling Green and LaVale will necessarily be higher due to the extra installation costs and maintenance. These rates have not as yet been determined.

We are sincerely sorry that we could not cover all areas at the same time, but this was a physical impossibility. So we have in the past let the mass of the people determine the next areas to develop and will therefore use the same system in the future.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

PARTNER DIDN'T BID IT

HAVE YOU ever seen a good player bid a four-card suit at the level of five, when neither he nor his partner had made a previous call of it? You are likely to, in one of those unusual situations wherein the partner's length in the suit, never shown, can be inferred. Such a bid can be just as sound as one after the partner had clearly proclaimed his holding with a bid of the suit. So long as you know he has the necessary cards for support, what difference does it make how you learned the fact?

	♠ A Q 10 7 4 ♥ 7 ♦ K Q 8 4 ♣ A K 8
♠ J 9 6 3 ♥ J 9 8 6 3 2 ♦ None ♣ 9 4 2	N W E S	♠ K 8 2 ♥ K Q 10 5 ♦ A J 6 3 ♣ Q 5
	♠ 5 ♥ A 4 ♦ 10 9 7 5 2 ♣ J 10 7 6 3

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Dbl
2 ♦	Dbl	3 ♥	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♦
Dbl

The only censurable action in that entire sequence was East's double of the 5-Diamonds contract, which was made easily with the loss of nothing except two tricks in trumps. If he had stopped to reflect a bit longer on what the bidding showed, he would not have made a present of a lot of extra points with his double.

These were very fine and highly combative players. When East's opening heart bid came to West, he decided to toss in a monkey wrench against his vulnerable opponents by avoiding the natural bids with his hand, of either 2-Hearts or 4-Hearts. Maybe the 4-Hearts might have proved a paying move, however, in the way it might have crowded the other side or caused a double which would not produce much of a set.

Be that as it may, after North's takeout double of the 1-Spade, East did not yet know what was going on, so made the natural bid of his second suit, diamonds. South's business double of that was highly informative. After it West showed his heart fit and North his spade suit as protection against a possible spade psychic on West's first turn. South, already having shown his diamonds with his business double, now indicated the two-suited nature of his hand with his 4-Clubs.

That was all North needed to hear. When it reached him, he went to game in diamonds, knowing South had good support for them, though never having bid the suit.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K J 7 3 ♥ K Q J 8 6 5 ♦ None ♣ K Q 10
♠ A Q 10 ♥ A 9 ♦ K 7 5 4 2 ♣ J 8 2	N W E S	♠ 4 ♥ 10 7 4 3 ♦ A Q 10 6 ♣ A 9 6 5
	♠ 9 8 6 5 2 ♥ 2 ♦ J 9 8 3 ♣ 7 4 3

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

With The Servicemen

Airman 3-C Robert F. Willingham reported to Parks Air Force Base, California recently and from there went to Korea for 12 to 18 months duty. He spent a 30-day furlough with his wife, Mary, and son, Joseph and other members of his family in Mt. Savage. He received basic training at Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y. and from there went to Communication School at Warren AF Base in Wyoming.

Pvt. Robert E. Bowman, 20, husband of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Bowman, 504 Prince George, has completed Army Basic Training conducted by the Third Armored Division at Fort Knox, Ky. He entered the Army on February 4, 1953.

Pvt. Homer C. Golliday, whose wife, Imogene, lives in Paw Paw, is serving in Germany with the 35th Engineer Combat Battalion, a unit of the U. S. Seventh Army. Private Golliday, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Golliday, Route 1, Paw Paw, arrived in Germany from Fort Belvoir, Va., and is now a jeep driver in the battalion's Company A.

Cpl. Kevin R. Bauman, 22, whose wife, Rachel, lives at 324 North Mechanic Street, was recently awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for active participation in ground action with the Second Infantry Division in Korea before the cease-fire. Cpl. Bauman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Bauman, Route 1, Glencoe, Pa., is a 60 mm mortar gunner in the division's 23d Infantry Regiment. He also wears the UN Service Ribbon and the Korean Service Medal.

Pvt. Clifford E. Dodrill, son of Arthur E. Dodrill, Bedford Road, was recently awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for active participation in ground action with the Fifth Regimental Combat Team in Korea before the cease-fire. Dodrill, who arrived in Korea, is an ammunition bearer in Company H. A graduate of Bruce High School in Westernport, he was a truck driver for Judy's Market in Cumberland before entering the Army last December.

Pvt. Marvin A. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Collins, 507 South Street, completed basic training recently at the Medical Replacement Training Center at Camp Pickett, Va. At MRTC, the Army's basic training school for medical enlisted men, he has received eight weeks of basic infantry training and eight weeks of medical training.

Olan R. Evans, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Evans, of 681 Fayette Street, is serving aboard the ammunition ship USS Great Sitkin with the Atlantic Fleet Service Force.

With Mine Division 81 in the Mediterranean aboard the Minesweeper USS Tercel is Roy T. Perrell Jr., seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Perrell of 213 Charles Street and husband of Mrs. Roy T. Perrell Jr., of RFD 1, Cash Valley Road.

Pvt. Lawrence F. Lockard, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lockhard, 21 Wabash Avenue, Ridgeley, W. Va., is now attending the Subsistence Storage Course offered by the Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va. Pvt. Lockhard graduated from Ridgeley High School and entered the service in May 1953.

Among the members of the new fourth class at the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis is James T. Taylor Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Taylor of Frostburg. Taylor was graduated from Beall High School in June of last year. He was also a student at Severn School at Annapolis.

Robert F. Payne, whose wife, Ada, lives at 227 Wilson Street, Havre de Grace, was recently promoted to sergeant first class while serving in Korea with I Corps. Payne, a battery supply sergeant in the Service Battery of the 936th Field Artillery Battalion, entered the Army in August 1951 and arrived in Korea in November 1952. He was employed by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company before entering the service. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Payne, live at 24 Paw Paw Way.

The U. S. Naval Academy Class of 1955 is scheduled to participate in a varied summer training program. Among the midshipmen, second class, are Alban T. McIsaac, son of Navy Capt. and Mrs. John M. McIsaac, of 208 Saratoga Street, and Alvin B. Storey, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin B. Storey of 806 Buckingham Road.

This is to give notice that an audit filed in the above entitled cause, distributing the funds in the hands of George R. Hughes, Assignee, will be ready for ratification on the 17th day of October 1953, unless cause to the contrary be shown.

JOSEPH E. BODEN, Clerk.

Adv. N-O-1-2

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED PROPERTY SITUATE ON CHURCH STREET IN THE TOWN OF LONACONING, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND.

Under and by virtue of a Decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, passed in a cause wherein Loretta Walsh, known in religious life as Sister Cecilia Marie, is the Plaintiff and John A. McGinn, et ux, et al, are the Defendants, the same being No. 22997 Equity in said Court, the undersigned Trustee will offer for sale, at public auction, in front of the Lonaconing branch of the Liberty Trust Company, Lonaconing, Maryland, on Thursday, October 22, 1953, at 11:00 o'clock A. M., the following property:

All that lot or parcel of ground situate, lying and being on Church Street in the Town of Lonaconing, Allegany County, Maryland, known as parts of Lots Nos. 19 and 20 in Porter and Clark's Addition, and described as follows:

BEGINNING at the North corner of Lot No. 21 and running thence along Main Street, now Church Street, North 44 degrees West 51 feet 6 inches; thence South 46 degrees West 103 feet or until it reaches the line of the Savage Mountain Plane; thence with said line, South 52 degrees East 51 feet 6 inches to the Southwest corner of Lot No. 21 (formerly owned by John Muir); thence to the place of beginning.

IT BEING the same property which was conveyed to Mary Walsh by a deed from David W. Sloan, Trustee, dated December 15, 1890 and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland in Liber No. 80, folio 523.

The above described property is improved by a double frame dwelling house with a composition roof and is known as No. 15 and No. 17 Church Street. No. 15 contains five rooms and No. 17 contains five rooms and a bath. It is improved by gas, electricity and a hot water heating plant in No. 17. The property is in a fair state of repair. There is also a garage.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash or one-third upon the day of sale and balance upon ratification of the sale by the Court. State, County and City taxes will be adjusted as of the date of sale. The Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids for the same.

Leaders Meet Red Feather Kids

Cumberland's Red Feather Kids, boosting the current Community Chest campaign, yesterday visited the Women's Division at B'er Chayim vestry rooms, as plans were made for residential solicitation. Leaders include left to right, Mrs. John Daycheck, South End; Mrs. Stanley Buckley, LaVale; Mrs. A. J. Feigus, chairman of the Residential Section; Mrs. R. E. Hollandsworth, West Side; and Mrs. Frank Kaplon, North End.

Forester Terms Fire Danger In Area Serious

Wills Mountain Blaze Is Worst

Illustrating his warning that the forest fire danger in Western Maryland is serious and with high winds would become critical, District Forester William H. Johnson noted that four woods and forest fires have occurred in Allegany and Garrett counties in the past two days.

Nearest and worst of the four started yesterday afternoon on the west side of Wills Mountain near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad right-of-way. Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin and about 12 volunteers from LaVale Volunteer Fire Department hurried to the scene.

The volunteers stayed on the job about two hours and poured large volumes of water on the fire from their pumper. The blaze, which was believed to have started from sparks from a railroad locomotive, burned to the top of the mountain. One observer estimated that over 12 acres were burned.

Smoke from that blaze covered much of the North End of Cumberland.

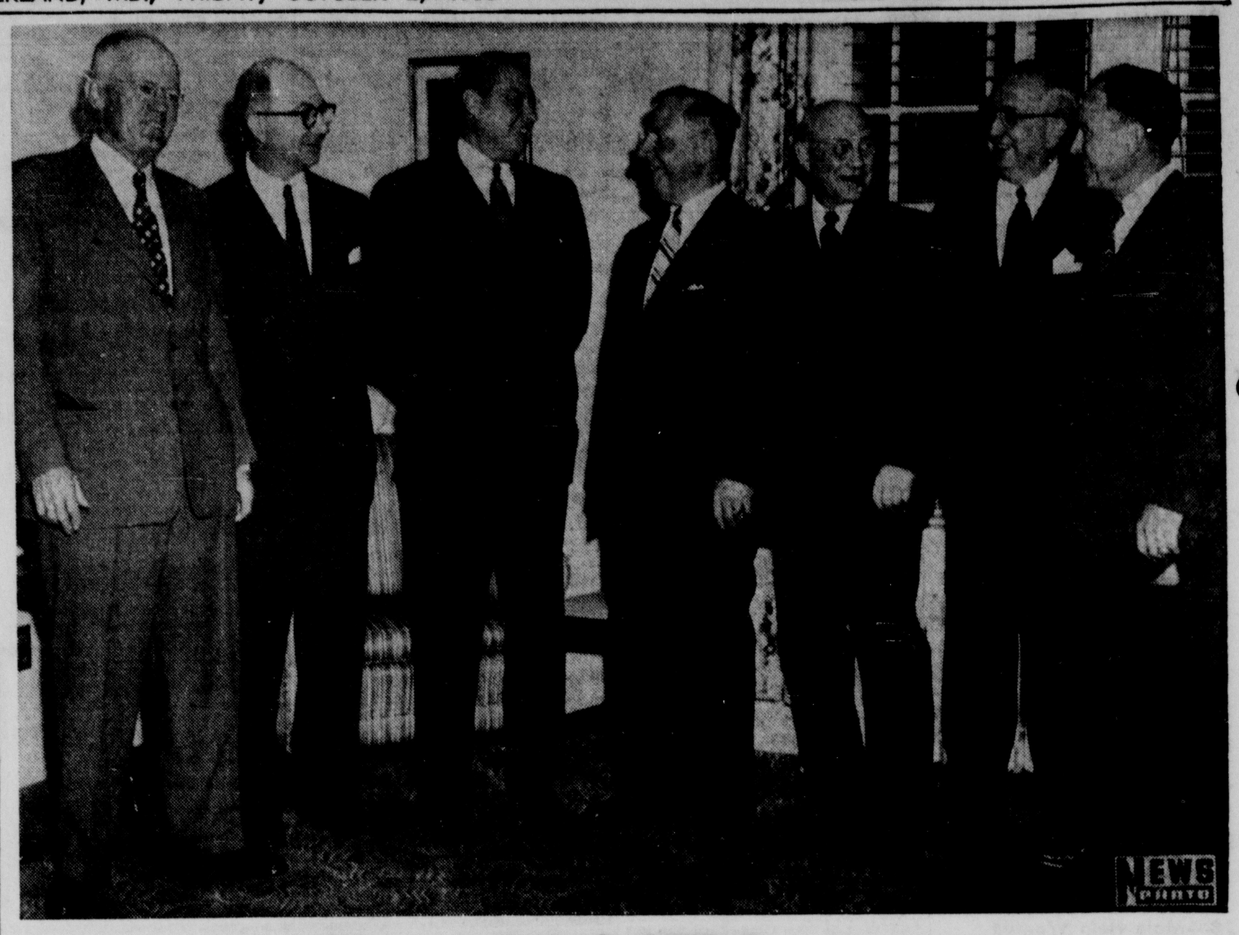
Late last night Johnson reported that the fire had been fairly well checked. He stressed that because of the danger of rock slides in the Narrows fire fighters were not taking unnecessary chances. Most of the trees burned are only scrubs and of little value. When daylight arrives a crew was planning to put the finishing touches to the fire.

Another Thursday fire started on Negro Mountain about one mile south of Bear Creek Road in Garrett County. Elmer Upole, forest supervisor in that county, said that about one acre was burned. He said the fire was started by a careless smoker or else was deliberately set.

Wednesday, another blaze in Garrett County, one of the hottest in years, burned two acres along Blue Lick Run, south of Avilton. A careless smoker was thought responsible for that fire.

A power saw exploded Wednesday near Cresaptown and set fire to a nearby woods, burning about one-fourth of an acre. Bodkin and the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department were on the scene there.

Meanwhile, Robert R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park, cautioned visitors to the park to be careful in the use of matches because of the bone-dry condition. Those planning to use fires for their picnics have been requested to use Groves Nos. 1 and 2.



Discuss B & O CTP Program

West Virginia Takes Precautions Against Outbreak Of Forest Fire

Early Season On Small Game Is Closed As Guards Man Towers Around The Clock

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 1 (AP) — Conservation authorities marshalled fire-fighting forces today to prevent another autumn catastrophe in West Virginia' woodlands.

The haze of many smouldering fires already lay heavy over the hills as fire watchers mounted their towers to keep lonely vigil for the next two months.

Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson, armed with new legal powers given him by the 1953 Legislature, already had moved to prevent a recurrence of the fires of last fall which ravaged a half-million acres of timberland.

He was not in time, however, to prevent at least two hunting accidents.

Hunting Is Suspended

Johnson earlier had suspended the hunting season on squirrel, turkey and grouse. The statewide order was made effective at 1 p.m. today, giving hunters legal right to pursue game only from the start of the season at sunup until the hour the suspension order became effective this afternoon.

During that brief dispensation period, Herschell Wendell of London, Kanawha County, 23, was accidentally shot in the face and head by another hunter who mistook his movements for game.

Doctors at a hospital in Montgomery described the man's condition as critical.

School Boy Shot

Don Gray, 17, a Sophia High School senior, was shot in the shoulder as he and two companions were leaving the woods about noon. One of the three hunters, all high school students, said they were unloading their shot guns when one dropped to the ground and discharged.

Gray was admitted to Beckley Hospital but was not considered in serious condition.

Smoke Control Unit To Request Action On Queen City Boilers

One of the first requests the Smoke Abatement Department will make at the October Cumberland Terminal Meeting is that the boilers at the Queen City Station be replaced or renovated.

Charles F. Owens, deputy smoke inspector, said other top problems to be discussed at the meeting October 6 or 13 will be falls of "black snow" in South Cumberland and the cranes at the B & O Bolt and Forge plant.

The smoke records of motive power on the B & O and Western Maryland railroads during the past four months will also be discussed.

Owens said the department will ask that the railroad either replace or place in top condition obsolete boilers in the Queen City Station heating plant in connection with the modernization of the railroad station.

Extension of the stack of the boiler house will also be asked, he added, if the plant is to be renovated. He explained that the present stack is about on a level with the second story of Park Street homes and that winds often blow ash from the boilers to adjoining homes. The dust would be scattered over a larger area if the stack were raised.

The B & O keeps the boilers, installed some 30 years ago, in repair, but firing is in charge of the firm which operates the hotel, Owens explained.

Early this year, local railroad crews did an extensive repair job on the boilers, which have been the cause of numerous smoke complaints, the inspector concluded.

Parker Cites Toll Of Dead And Injured In Home Fires

"More people are killed by fire in their own homes than in all other types of occupancies combined," Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said today.

The chief made the statement in connection with Fire Prevention Week which will be observed beginning Sunday.

Declaring "the U. S. dollar loss from fire in 1953 promises to exceed the record high of $896,000,000 in 1952," Chief Parker said this means we are burning our property at a rate of about $2,500,000 a day.

"The dollar loss is tremendous, but the toll of dead and injured is even worse. Before the year is over, fire will have killed over 12,000 Americans and burned or disfigured more than twice that number.

Chief Parker specified seven principal hazards that he said account for most home fires:

Misuse of electricity, faulty wiring—follow operating directions for appliances and know the "safe load" limits of your electric circuits.

Defective and overheated heating equipment, stoves and lanterns—inspect and clean periodically, always keep these items in good working order.

Careless handling of kerosene, gasoline and other flammable liquids—never kindle stove or furnace fires with kerosene, use only approved metal containers if flammable liquids must be stored in the house and dry cleaning with gasoline and the like is not only old-fashioned, it's deathly.

The Weather

Temperature dropped into the low 80's yesterday from Wednesday's 99-degree record breaker. Maximum yesterday was 81 degrees according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 59, and at 7:30 p. m., mercury stood at 63 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m., also a little higher, was measured as 34.5 per cent. The Weather Bureau said today will be fair with high between 76 and 82 degrees.

RC Seeking Women For Clubmobiles

Allegany County Chapter officials said yesterday the Red Cross is seeking young women to man Red Cross clubmobile units similar to those operated during World War II.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, local chapter chairman, said that according to James T. Nicholson, executive vice president of the American Red Cross, the clubmobiles are being reactivated for service to U. S. Security Forces in Korea.

The Red Cross will provide up to 45 clubmobiles, each to be staffed by two or three young women. These mobile units will visit military posts to lead programs of group activities such as music, group singing, handicrafts and dramatics. They will also provide simple snacks without charge.

Mrs. Beneman said the Red Cross now has a staff of 477 in the Far East, including 110 who are serving in Korea. This number includes field directors with military units and trained welfare and recreation workers in hospitals. The welfare staffs in Korea and Japan also need to be increased, she added.

Mrs. Beneman explained that interested young women should have a college background and be between 23 and 30 years of age with work experience in the recreation field and one or more skills, such as music, crafts or dramatics.

Additional information concerning salaries, travel and maintenance while overseas may be obtained at the Allegany County Chapter, Red Cross, Post Office Building, or by calling 4181.

Water Company Files 74 Suits

The LaVale Water Company yesterday filed 74 civil suits in Trial Magistrate Court against LaVale residents who refused to pay their water bills.

The suits were filed on the civil docket of Magistrate J. Milton Dick at a cost to the company of $148.

Several months ago the water firm filed suits against 17 other consumers who failed to pay their bills. At a hearing before Magistrate Donald W. Mason, a decision in favor of the water users was given.

Mason contended in his decision that since the relationship between the company and the water users was contractual, in which the firm promises year-round service, the customers were not liable for payment because of low water during dry periods.

At the hearing several customers testified that during some months in summer, hardly any water was available at their homes.

The suits have no connection with the LaVale Sanitary Commission which purchased physical equipment of the LaVale Water Company.

The commission did not, however, purchase the firm's "accounts receivable". The LaVale Water Company, through its suits, is attempting to collect payment due before purchase by the Sanitary Commission, which now supplies the area with water.

Man Reported Missing

Police have been asked to look for Charles Owens, 34, of Oldtown Road, who has been missing from his home. He is five feet, six inches tall, weighs about 185 pounds and was last seen wearing a gray shirt and dungarees.

Clergyman Falls From Cliff On Wills Mountain

Brother Louis, O.F.M. Cap., 24, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital with a compound fracture of the right leg and possible head and internal injuries.

State Police Lt. W. E. O'Hara said Brother Louis, who is stationed at SS. Peter and Paul Monastery here, had been hiking on the mountain yesterday afternoon with another Capuchin brother.

Employes at the Deal Oil Company, just across Wills Creek from the point where the clergyman fell, called State Police. Lt. O'Hara and Troopers John F. Browning and C. H. DeWitt took Brother Louis to the hospital, where he will undergo X-ray examination today.

Five Area Men Join Local Guard Units

Enlisting in Company C were Robert F. Ogilvie, Bowling Green, an Army veteran; Elmer P. Metz Jr., 219 Carroll Street, a veteran of three years in the Marine Corps, and James E. Barrett, 137 Mary Street, a student at Fort Hill High School.

Ogilvie and Metz were sworn in as corporals and Barrett was enlisted as a private.

Two men joined Company D in Frostburg. They are Ronald L. Baker, Williams Road, a freshman at Frostburg State Teachers College, and Michael V. Larkin, Morantown, a student at LaSalle High School.

Officers also announced that Sgt. First Class Junior O. Watson, 47 Blackstone Avenue, has reenlisted in Company C for three years. He is a veteran of World War II with combat service in the European Theatre.

Public Welfare Asks Increase In Its Budget

Wants 18.3 Per Cent More In State Money

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—Maryland's public welfare department has asked for an 18.3 per cent increase in its budget for next year.

If it should get the money, it would increase the monthly grants it pays out to dependent children, the disabled, and the destitute.

It also would greatly expand its staff charged with the control of juvenile delinquency.

The department asked $7,569,733 in state funds for the fiscal year which starts next July 1, compared with $6,400,205 in its current budget. The higher figure, coupled with federal funds, would give it $22,098,000 to spend in fiscal 1955.

The various departments of the state government now are in the process of submitting their annual requests to James G. Rennie, director of budget and procurement. After he screens them, they go on to Gov. McKeldin. The governor approves or trims them as he sees fit and will pass them on to the General Assembly for final action next February.

The addition of 97 employes, proposed by the welfare department, would take up a big slice of the 18 per cent increase it is asking. It would like, for example, to double the staff at the state's four state schools for juvenile delinquents.

The department proposes increasing the average monthly grant for dependent children from $23.82 to $24.12. The disabled would get $52.03 instead of $50.96, on the average. The average payment for those getting public assistance would go to $54.04 from $53.02.

The department said these increases are attributed to higher living costs and an unexpected increases in the number of needy.

The department asked $2,177,257 for operation of the four institutions for delinquents, not counting salaries. This is an increase of almost $200,000.

12 Musicians Record Test For Pupils

Twelve selected public school musicians played the music which is included in the music adaptability test administered to all fourth, fifth and sixth grade children in Allegany County public schools this week.

W. Valgene Routch, new supervisor of music education, said that the music examples for various parts of the test were played by boys and girls whose lives are daily enriched by musical experiences gained in the schools.

The school musicians took part in four different tests. For the rhythm test, the participants were two drummers, William Andrews of Beall Junior-Senior High School, and Ronald Chicchitto, a seventh grader at Bruce High School. The pitch test was the work of Sandra Myers, a bell lyre player in the seventh grade at Cresaptown School, and Eric Fable, who plays the trumpet at Mt. Royal School.

The melody test was illustrated musically by India Seagrave, flutist in the Allegany Junior High School orchestra, and Lucretia Ross, saxophonist at LaVale School.

Six students played the chord test. Included were Herman Washington and Tonya Darr, violinists, and Norwood Edmondson, cellist, all of Carver School, and Donna Lewis, William Barclay and James Powers, all clarinetists at Valley High School.

The test was recorded in the studio of WCUM.

Revenue Bureau Moves Offices

Office equipment of the local Internal Revenue Bureau office was moved to its new offices on the second floor of the Post Office Building yesterday.

The new offices will be located in Rooms 203, 205 and 207 on the second floor of the federal building where the Federal Court was formerly located.

Remodeling of the interior of the new rooms was completed last week with new facilities for the cashier's office in Room 203. The new offices will be in operation today.

At the same time, the Geological Survey office on the second floor was moved to the third floor of the building in one of the rooms formerly occupied by the revenue bureau. It will be located in Room 305.

The local Marine Corps recruiting office, which moved from the Naval and Marine Corps Training Center on McKaig's Hill to the second floor of the Post Office Building, will again be moved to Room 303 on the third floor.

Lost Ring Is Found, Returned To Owner

Assistant Chief B. Frank Gaffney said Charles H. Wickard, this city, lost the gold and diamond ring late Monday night as he was on his way home on an intracity bus.

Yesterday, Ernest V. Wolford, Bedford Street, reported he had found the ring on a bus, presumably the one Wickard had ridden. Wolford, learning that Wickard had lost his ring, immediately returned it to the owner.

Gaffney said no theft had taken place and that no arrests had been made.

B&O President Urges Employe Salesmanship

Simpson Addresses CTP Dinner

In his first address to employes since his election, Howard E. Simpson, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, last night urged all members of the B & O family to redouble their efforts to keep the railroad moving ahead.

Simpson, who became president of the B & O September 1, was the principal speaker at a 20th anniversary dinner-dance held last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club under the sponsorship of the Men's Division of the B & O Cooperative Traffic Program here.

He recalled that the first CTP meeting was held in Cumberland in December, 1933, introducing the program which spread over the entire 12,000 miles of the B & O system.

Thanks Local Workers

The depression-born program, started after employment on the B & O dropped from 70,000 to 32,000, was an effort by employes to serve as salesmen, securing more freight and passenger business for the road.

Citing the importance of the program, Simpson thanked all Cumberland CTP members for their contributions to the work.

In Cumberland alone, Simpson said, the B & O employs some 2,700 people, with a 1952 payroll of over $9,500,000. This means, he added, that more than 8,000 persons in the community depend upon the B & O for their livelihood, and that this covers only direct employment.

The B & O, he continued, has spent more than $1,000,000 in the last two years upon improvements to its properties in Cumberland.

The B & O, he continued, has contributed even more than that, adding, "we have lent you your present mayor, Roy W. Eves, superintendent of the Bolt and Forge shop."

Dance Follows Dinner

Simpson was introduced by W. C. Baker, vice president of operations, who has been a frequent visitor to Cumberland.

Toastmaster was A. W. Conley, who recently became superintendent of the Cumberland Division. He was introduced by Mayor Eves, who gave the invocation.

Richard McGinnis, Baltimore, sang several songs, accompanied by Joseph H. Dowling.

Leo C. Boyd was general chairman of the event, attended by about 300 CTP members and guests.

A dance, with music by the Midnighters, followed the dinner.

Local Druggists To Observe National Pharmacy Week

"Your Pharmicist Works For Better Community Health" is the slogan for the week-long observance.

Proclamations have been issued calling attention to the part pharmacists play in safeguarding the health of the citizens as they give unselfishly of their time and talents in specialized service to the public.

Residents are urged during Pharmacy Week to visit their neighborhood drug store to observe the vital role of the pharmacist upon whose skill and training the health and well being of the community so largely depends.

In holding its observance of the special week, the Allegany County Pharmaceutical Association will meet next Wednesday night at Shaw's Restaurant on Oldtown Road. At that time the association also will map plans for the state regional meeting of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association, to be held Thursday, November 5, at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Several special talks during National Pharmacy Week are being arranged by local druggists.

Grader Utilized In Conservation Work On Farms

A power grader used for terracing and opening ditches has been rented by the Allegany County Soil Conservation District Supervisors from the Garrett County supervisors and will be used in this county until cold weather arrives.

Since then the grader has been moved to Mexico Farms, where a 2,000 foot long drainage ditch has been dug across the farms of D. C. Gainer, George A. Stafford and J. J. Johnson.

Vandals Damage City Park Area

Damage to a city park area near the Keating Day Nursery was reported yesterday by Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, member of the City Park Board.

Mrs. Findlay said the vandalism resulted in the trampling of a number of large cannas and hedge Wednesday night.

She said the size of footprints show the damage resulted from youths and cannot be blamed on small children.

Auxiliary Fire Fighters Wanted

The Cumberland Fire Department will call a meeting late next week to recruit additional members for the Cumberland Auxiliary Fire Department.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said he hopes to set a definite date soon for the opening of a training course for auxiliary firemen.

In response to appeals, 12 citizens of this city have enrolled in the auxiliary department.

Chief Parker said the department hopes to get enough additional men to bring the strength of the company to 20 men.

He added, however, that if more men are not immediately available, the training will be started, and recruiting continued until the unit reaches full strength.

Cellar Blaze Quelled

Frostburg firemen extinguished a fire in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKenzie, 74 Bowery Street, at 7:15 p. m. yesterday. Firemen said the blaze, caused by a short-circuit in the wiring, did no damage.

Firemen also were called earlier at 1:15 p. m., to a lot on Uhl Street to put out a brush fire.

Forester Terms Fire Danger In Area Serious

Wills Mountain Blaze Is Worst

Illustrating his warning that the forest fire danger in Western Maryland is serious and with high winds would become critical, District Forester William H. Johnson noted that four woods and forest fires have occurred in Allegany and Garrett counties in the past two days.

Nearest and worst of the four started yesterday afternoon on the west side of Wills Mountain near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad right-of-way. Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin and about 12 volunteers from LaVale Volunteer Fire Department hurried to the scene.

The volunteers stayed on the job about two hours and poured large volumes of water on the fire from their pumper. The blaze, which was believed to have started from sparks from a railroad locomotive, burned to the top of the mountain. One observer estimated that over 12 acres were burned.

Smoke from that blaze covered much of the North End of Cumberland.

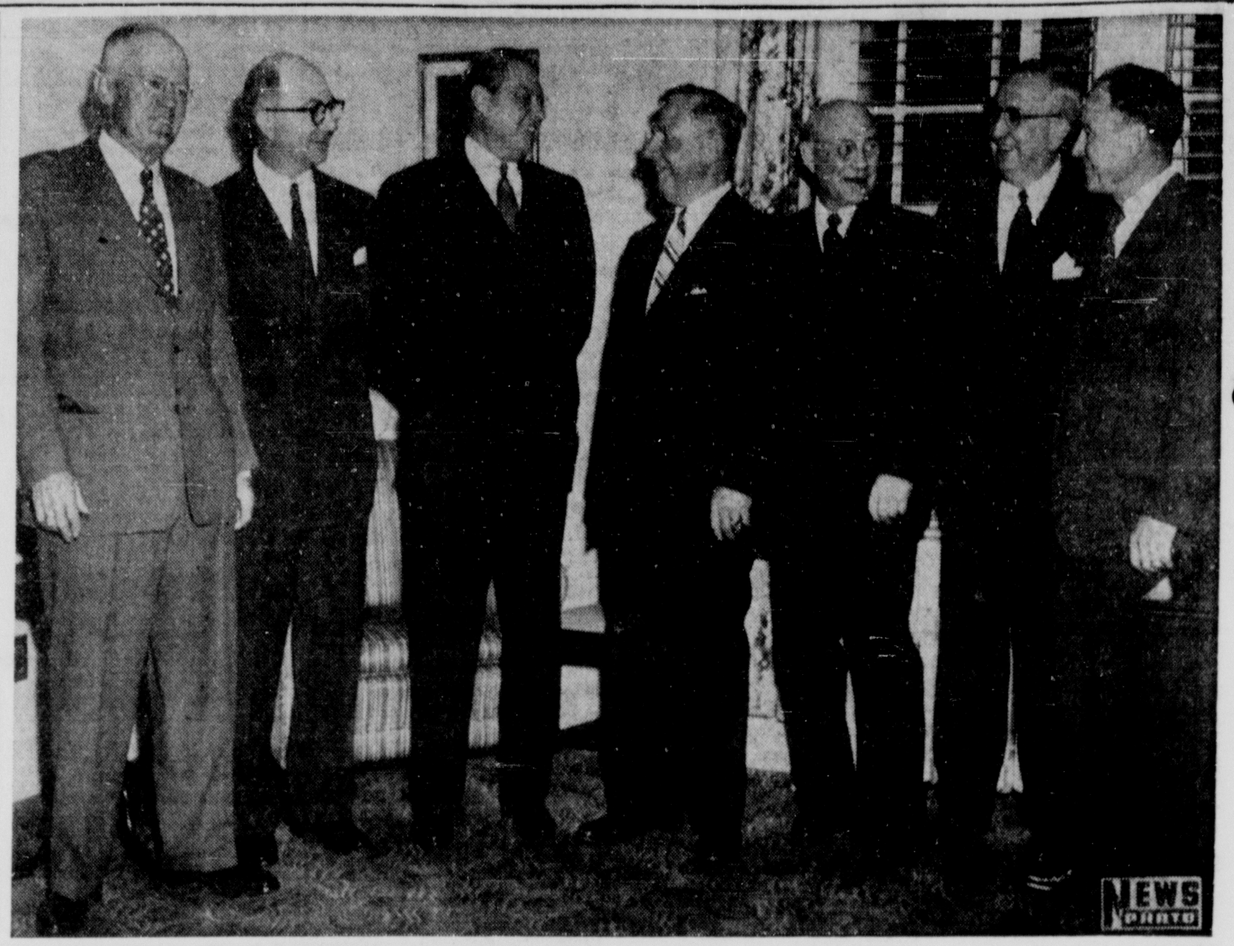
Late last night Johnson reported that the fire had been fairly well checked. He stressed that because of the danger of rock slides in the Narrows fire fighters were not taking unnecessary chances. Most of the trees burned are only scrubs and of little value. When daylight arrives a crew was planning to put the finishing touches to the fire.

Another Thursday fire started on Negro Mountain about one mile south of Bear Creek Road in Garrett County. Elmer Upole, forest supervisor in that county, said that about one acre was burned. He said the fire was started by a careless smoker or else was deliberately set.

Wednesday, another blaze in Garrett County, one of the hottest in years, burned two acres along Blue Lick Run, south of Avilton. A careless smoker was thought responsible for that fire.

A power saw exploded Wednesday near Cresaptown and set fire to a nearby woods, burning about one-fourth of an acre. Bodkin and the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department were on the scene there.

Meanwhile, Robert R. Golden, superintendent of Constitution Park, cautioned visitors to the park to be careful in the use of matches because of the bone-dry condition. Those planning to use fires for their picnics have been requested to use Groves Nos. 1 and 2.



Discuss B & O CTP Program

West Virginia Takes Precautions Against Outbreak Of Forest Fire

Early Season On Small Game Is Closed As Guards Man Towers Around The Clock

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 1 (AP) — Conservation authorities marshalled fire-fighting forces today to prevent another autumn catastrophe in West Virginia' woodlands.

The haze of many smouldering fires already lay heavy over the hills as fire watchers mounted their towers to keep lonely vigil for the next two months.

Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson, armed with new legal powers given him by the 1953 Legislature, already had moved to prevent a recurrence of the fires of last fall which ravaged a half-million acres of timberland.

He was not in time, however, to prevent at least two hunting accidents.

Hunting Is Suspended

Johnson earlier had suspended the hunting season on squirrel, turkey and grouse. The statewide order was made effective at 1 p.m. today, giving hunters legal right to pursue game only from the start of the season at sunup until the hour the suspension order became effective this afternoon.

During that brief dispensation period, Herschell Wendell of London, Kanawha County, 23, was accidentally shot in the face and head by another hunter who mistook his movements for game.

Doctors at a hospital in Montgomery described the man's condition as critical.

School Boy Shot

A second accident occurred near Sophia in Raleigh County just before the brief season closed.

Don Gray, 17, a Sophia High School senior, was shot in the shoulder as he and two companions were leaving the woods about noon. One of the three hunters, all high school students, said they were unloading their shot guns when one dropped to the ground and discharged.

Gray was admitted to Beckley Hospital but was not considered in serious condition.

RC Seeking Women For Clubmobiles

Allegany County Chapter officials said yesterday the Red Cross is seeking young women to man Red Cross clubmobile units similar to those operated during World War II.

Mrs. Harry Beneman, local chapter chairman, said that according to James T. Nicholson, executive vice president of the American Red Cross, the clubmobiles are being reactivated for service to U. S. Security Forces in Korea.

The new service is being established at the urgent request of Gen. Mark Clark and other military leaders in the Far East.

The Red Cross will provide up to 45 clubmobiles, each to be staffed by two or three young women. These mobile units will visit military posts to lead programs of group activities such as music, group singing, handicrafts and dramatics. They will also provide simple snacks without charge.

Mrs. Beneman said the Red Cross now has a staff of 477 in the Far East, including 110 who are serving in Korea. This number includes field directors with military units and trained welfare and recreation workers in hospitals. The welfare staffs in Korea and Japan also need to be increased, she added.

Mrs. Beneman explained that interested young women should have a college background and be between 23 and 30 years of age with work experience in the recreation field and one or more skills, such as music, crafts or dramatics.

Additional information concerning salaries, travel and maintenance while overseas may be obtained at the Allegany County Chapter, Red Cross, Post Office Building, or by calling 4181.

Clergyman Falls From Cliff On Wills Mountain

A Capuchin friar narrowly escaped death late yesterday in a 40-foot plunge down a steep rocky cliff at the foot of Wills Mountain on the outskirts of Cumberland.

Brother Louis, O.F.M. Cap., 24, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital with a compound fracture of the right leg and possible head and internal injuries.

State Police Lt. W. E. O'Hara said Brother Louis, who is stationed at SS. Peter and Paul Monastery here, had been hiking on the mountain yesterday afternoon with another Capuchin brother.

The two friars were descending the nearly perpendicular rock face of the mountain at the base of its eastern slope.

The dead sapling gave way, and Brother Louis plunged down the cliff to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks below.

His companion hurried to the bottom of the descent and carefully pulled Brother Louis from the railroad tracks. Brother Louis remained conscious throughout the ordeal.

Employes at the Deal Oil Company, just across Wills Creek from the point where the clergyman fell, called State Police. Lt. O'Hara and Troopers John F. Browning and C. H. DeWitt took Brother Louis to the hospital, where he will undergo X-ray examination today.

Public Welfare Asks Increase In Its Budget

Wants 18.3 Per Cent More In State Money

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—Maryland's public welfare department has asked for an 18.3 per cent increase in its budget for next year.

If it should get the money, it would increase the monthly grants it pays out to dependent children, the disabled, and the destitute.

It also would greatly expand its staff charged with the control of juvenile delinquency.

The department asked $7,569,733 in state funds for the fiscal year which starts next July 1, compared with $6,400,205 in its current budget. The higher figure, coupled with federal funds, would give it $22,098,000 to spend in fiscal 1955.

The various departments of the state government now are in the process of submitting their annual requests to James G. Rennie, director of budget and procurement. After he screens them, they go on to Gov. McKeldin. The governor approves or trims them as he sees fit and will pass them on to the General Assembly for final action next February.

The addition of 97 employes, proposed by the welfare department, would take up a big slice of the 18 per cent increase it is asking. It would like, for example, to double the staff at the state's four state schools for juvenile delinquents.

The department proposes increasing the average monthly grant for dependent children from $23.82 to $24.12. The disabled would get $52.03 instead of $50.96, on the average. The average payment for those getting public assistance would go to $54.04 from $53.02.

The department said these increases are attributed to higher living costs and an unexpected increases in the number of needy.

The department asked $2,177,257 for operation of the four institutions for delinquents, not counting salaries. This is an increase of almost $200,000.

12 Musicians Record Test For Pupils

Twelve selected public school musicians played the music which is included in the music adaptability test administered to all fourth, fifth and sixth grade children in Allegany County public schools this week.

W. Valgene Routch, new supervisor of music education, said that the music examples for various parts of the test were played by boys and girls whose lives are daily enriched by musical experiences gained in the schools.

The school musicians took part in four different tests. For the rhythm test, the participants were two drummers, William Andrews of Beall Junior-Senior High School, and Ronald Chicchitto, a seventh grader at Bruce High School. The pitch test was the work of Sandra Myers, a bell lyre player in the seventh grade at Cresaptown School, and Eric Fable, who plays the trumpet at Mt. Royal School.

The melody test was illustrated musically by India Seagrave, flutist in the Allegany Junior High School orchestra, and Lucretia Ross, saxophonist at LaVale School.

Six students played the chord test. Included were Herman Washington and Tonya Darr, violinists, and Norwood Edmondson, cellist, all of Carver School, and Donna Lewis, William Barclay and James Powers, all clarinetists at Valley High School.

The test was recorded in the studio of WCUM.

Simpson Addresses CTP Dinner

In his first address to employes since his election, Howard E. Simpson, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, last night urged all members of the B & O family to redouble their efforts to keep the railroad moving ahead.

Simpson, who became president of the B & O September 1, was the principal speaker at a 20th anniversary dinner-dance held last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club under the sponsorship of the Men's Division of the B & O Cooperative Traffic Program here.

He recalled that the first CTP meeting was held in Cumberland in December, 1933, introducing the program which spread over the entire 12,000 miles of the B & O system.

Thanks Local Workers

The depression-born program, started after employment on the B & O dropped from 70,000 to 32,000, was an effort by employes to serve as salesmen, securing more freight and passenger business for the road.

Citing the importance of the program, Simpson thanked all Cumberland CTP members for their contributions to the work.

In Cumberland alone, Simpson said, the B & O employs some 2,700 people, with a 1952 payroll of over $9,500,000. This means, he added, that more than 8,000 persons in the community depend upon the B & O for their livelihood, and that this covers only direct employment.

The B & O, he continued, has spent more than $1,000,000 in the last two years upon improvements to its properties in Cumberland.

The B & O, he continued, has contributed even more than that, adding, "we have lent you your present mayor, Roy W. Eves, superintendent of the Bolt and Forge shop."

Dance Follows Dinner

Simpson was introduced by W. C. Baker, vice president of operations, who has been a frequent visitor to Cumberland.

Toastmaster was A. W. Conley, who recently became superintendent of the Cumberland Division. He was introduced by Mayor Eves, who gave the invocation.

Richard McGinnis, Baltimore, sang several songs, accompanied by Joseph H. Dowling.

Leo C. Boyd was general chairman of the event, attended by about 300 CTP members and guests.

Smoke Control Unit To Request Action On Queen City Boilers

One of the first requests the Smoke Abatement Department will make at the October Cumberland Terminal Meeting is that the boilers at the Queen City Station be replaced or renovated.

Charles F. Owens, deputy smoke inspector, said other top problems to be discussed at the meeting October 6 or 13 will be falls of "black snow" in South Cumberland and the cranes at the B & O Bolt and Forge plant.

The smoke records of motive power on the B & O and Western Maryland railroads during the past four months will also be discussed.

Owens said the department will ask that the railroad either replace or place in top condition obsolete boilers in the Queen City Station heating plant in connection with the modernization of the railroad station.

Extension of the stack of the boiler house will also be asked, he added, if the plant is to be renovated. He explained that the present stack is about on a level with the second story of Park Street homes and that winds often blow ash from the boilers to adjoining homes. The dust would be scattered over a larger area if the stack were raised.

The B & O keeps the boilers, installed some 30 years ago, in repair, but firing is in charge of the firm which operates the hotel, Owens explained.

Early this year, local railroad crews did an extensive repair job on the boilers, which have been the cause of numerous smoke complaints, the inspector concluded.

Water Company Files 74 Suits

The LaVale Water Company yesterday filed 74 civil suits in Trial Magistrate Court against LaVale residents who refused to pay their water bills.

The suits were filed on the civil docket of Magistrate J. Milton Dick at a cost to the company of $148.

Several months ago the water firm filed suits against 17 other consumers who failed to pay their bills. At a hearing before Magistrate Donald W. Mason, a decision in favor of the water users was given.

Mason contended in his decision that since the relationship between the company and the water users was contractual, in which the firm promises year-round service, the customers were not liable for payment because of low water during dry periods.

At the hearing several customers testified that during some months in summer, hardly any water was available at their homes.

Later, the water firm appealed Mason's decision to the Circuit Court, and a hearing is scheduled soon.

The suits have no connection with the LaVale Sanitary Commission which purchased physical equipment of the LaVale Water Company.

The commission did not, however, purchase the firm's "accounts receivable". The LaVale Water Company, through its suits, is attempting to collect payment due before purchase by the Sanitary Commission, which now supplies the area with water.

Man Reported Missing

Police have been asked to look for Charles Owens, 34, of Oldtown Road, who has been missing from his home. He is five feet, six inches tall, weighs about 185 pounds and was last seen wearing a gray shirt and dungarees.

Five Area Men Join Local Guard Units

Enlisting in Company C were Robert F. Ogilvie, Bowling Green, an Army veteran; Elmer P. Metz Jr., 219 Carroll Street, a veteran of three years in the Marine Corps, and James E. Barrett, 137 Mary Street, a student at Fort Hill High School.

Ogilvie and Metz were sworn in as corporals and Barrett was enlisted as a private.

Two men joined Company D in Frostburg. They are Ronald L. Baker, Williams Road, a freshman at Frostburg State Teachers College, and Michael V. Larkin, Morantown, a student at LaSalle High School.

Officers also announced that Sgt. First Class Junior O. Watson, 47 Blackstone Avenue, has reenlisted in Company C for three years. He is a veteran of World War II with combat service in the European Theatre.

Parker Cites Toll Of Dead And Injured In Home Fires

"More people are killed by fire in their own homes than in all other types of occupancies combined," Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said today.

The chief made the statement in connection with Fire Prevention Week which will be observed beginning Sunday.

Declaring "the U. S. dollar loss from fire in 1953 promises to exceed the record high of $896,000,000 in 1952," Chief Parker said this means we are burning our property at a rate of about $2,500,000 a day.

"The dollar loss is tremendous, but the toll of dead and injured is even worse. Before the year is over, fire will have killed over 12,000 Americans and burned or disfigured more than twice that number.

Chief Parker specified seven principal hazards that he said account for most home fires:

Careless smoking and handling of matches—make sure cigarettes and matches are out before throwing them away—and never smoke in bed!

Misuse of electricity, faulty wiring—follow operating directions for appliances and know the "safe load" limits of your electric circuits.

Defective and overheated heating equipment, stoves and lanterns—inspect and clean periodically, always keep these items in good working order.

Careless handling of kerosene, gasoline and other flammable liquids—never kindle stove or furnace fires with kerosene, use only approved metal containers if flammable liquids must be stored in the house and dry cleaning with gasoline and the like is not only old-fashioned, it's deathly.

Bad housekeeping habits—clear attics, closets, basements of papers, rags, old furniture because rubbish is fuel that fire loves.

Defective or overheated chimneys and flues—check, clean and repair regularly . . . get rid of flammable wood shingle roofs, too.

The Weather

Temperature dropped into the low 80's yesterday from Wednesday's 99-degree record breaker. Maximum yesterday was 81 degrees according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 59, and at 7:30 p. m., mercury stood at 63 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m., also a little higher, was measured as 34.5 per cent. The Weather Bureau said today will be fair with high between 76 and 82 degrees.

Revenue Bureau Moves Offices

Office equipment of the local Internal Revenue Bureau office was moved to its new offices on the second floor of the Post Office Building yesterday.

The new offices will be located in Rooms 203, 205 and 207 on the second floor of the federal building where the Federal Court was formerly located.

Remodeling of the interior of the new rooms was completed last week with new facilities for the cashier's office in Room 203. The new offices will be in operation today.

At the same time, the Geological Survey office on the second floor was moved to the third floor of the building in one of the rooms formerly occupied by the revenue bureau. It will be located in Room 305.

The local Marine Corps recruiting office, which moved from the Naval and Marine Corps Training Center on McKaig's Hill to the second floor of the Post Office Building, will again be moved to Room 303 on the third floor.

Lost Ring Is Found, Returned To Owner

City Police last night denied a report that they were holding a man in connection with the alleged theft of a ring worth $1,400.

Assistant Chief B. Frank Gaffney said Charles H. Wickard, this city, lost the gold and diamond ring late Monday night as he was on his way home on an intracity bus.

Yesterday, Ernest V. Wolford, Bedford Street, reported he had found the ring on a bus, presumably the one Wickard had ridden. Wolford, learning that Wickard had lost his ring, immediately returned it to the owner.

Gaffney said no theft had taken place and that no arrests had been made.

Local Druggists To Observe National Pharmacy Week

Pharmacists in and around Cumberland are participating in the observance of National Pharmacy Week commencing Sunday.

"Your Pharmicist Works For Better Community Health" is the slogan for the week-long observance.

Proclamations have been issued calling attention to the part pharmacists play in safeguarding the health of the citizens as they give unselfishly of their time and talents in specialized service to the public.

Residents are urged during Pharmacy Week to visit their neighborhood drug store to observe the vital role of the pharmacist upon whose skill and training the health and well being of the community so largely depends.

In holding its observance of the special week, the Allegany County Pharmaceutical Association will meet next Wednesday night at Shaw's Restaurant on Oldtown Road. At that time the association also will map plans for the state regional meeting of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association, to be held Thursday, November 5, at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Grader Utilized In Conservation Work On Farms

A power grader used for terracing and opening ditches has been rented by the Allegany County Soil Conservation District Supervisors from the Garrett County supervisors and will be used in this county until cold weather arrives.

The equipment was first utilized early this week in the building of a diversion terrace on the farm of James H. Weimer at Mt. Savage.

Since then the grader has been moved to Mexico Farms, where a 2,000 foot long drainage ditch has been dug across the farms of D. C. Gainer, George A. Stafford and J. J. Johnson.

Vandals Damage City Park Area

Damage to a city park area near the Keating Day Nursery was reported yesterday by Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, member of the City Park Board.

Mrs. Findlay said the vandalism resulted in the trampling of a number of large cannas and hedge Wednesday night.

Auxiliary Fire Fighters Wanted

The Cumberland Fire Department will call a meeting late next week to recruit additional members for the Cumberland Auxiliary Fire Department.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said he hopes to set a definite date soon for the opening of a training course for auxiliary firemen.

In response to appeals, 12 citizens of this city have enrolled in the auxiliary department.

Chief Parker said the department hopes to get enough additional men to bring the strength of the company to 20 men.

He added, however, that if more men are not immediately available, the training will be started, and recruiting continued until the unit reaches full strength.

Cellar Blaze Quelled

Frostburg firemen extinguished a fire in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKenzie, 74 Bowery Street, at 7:15 p. m. yesterday. Firemen said the blaze, caused by a short-circuit in the wiring, did no damage.

Firemen also were called earlier at 1:15 p. m., to a lot on Uhl Street to put out a brush fire.
